FINAL BALLOT ON SUGAR DUTY SET FOR TODAY

Close Senate Decision on Raising Levy Conceded by Both Sides.

RAW CUBAN INCREASE IS SOUGHT BY WALSH

Late Session at Night Is Averted as He Ends Speech on Floor.

SMOOT EXPRESSES DOUBT ON OUTCOME

Denies Claim of Others He Has Four Votes to Spare in Getting Increase.

(Associated Press.)

A final vote on an attempt to increase the sugar tariff in the Senate will be taken at 3 p. m. today, with both sides conceding a close decision.

The sugar tariff came up again late yesterday as the Senate completed nearly six months of work on the Hawley-Smoot bill in what is known as "committee of the whole" and took up the measure for the final phase of revision. With the controversial sugar duty out of the way, an early decision on the whole bill is expected.

Going into another session after two futile attempts to postpone until today the contest over the American sugar bowl, the Senate agreed unanimously shortly after 7 p. m. to a motion by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, that further discussion be deferred until today with the understanding that a final vote would be taken at 3 o'clock. Each side will be given an equal amount of time for argument under the agreement.

Walsh Opposes Smoot Figure.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, acting Democratic leader, had taken up the opposition to a proposal of Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, to increase the existing levy on Cuban raws from 1.76 to 2 cents a pound and had concluded his presentation when the recess motion was put.

Previously the Senate had voted overwhelmingly to remain in session. It had defeated a motion by Senator Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, to recess until today and another proposal by Senator Swanson (Democrat), Virginia, to proceed with other rates and let sugar go over.

Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, whose proposal to retain the existing sugar duties was approved, 48 to 38, several weeks ago, originally proposed postponement of the sugar contest. He said there apparently had been "some dickering going around" on the duty and he did not propose to let such an important amendment go through without adequate debate.

Smoot Claims Four-Vote Margin.

Senator Smoot denied there had been any "dickering" and also an assertion by the Mississippian that he (Smoot) had four votes to spare on the outcome.

"I don't know whether I have the votes or not," the finance committee chairman said.

Senator Walsh, in opposing the proposed increase to 2 cents a pound, recalled testimony in recent lobby committee hearings to show that the beet sugar industry in his State had prospered under the present sugar tariff.

He said the difficulty with the beet sugar industry in Idaho and Utah was due to a parasitic fly which had attacked beet plantings in those States and not to an inadequate tariff. As grounds for voting against the proposed increase, he said he could not "see the logic of taking money out of the pockets of wheat and other farmers to swell the dividends of sugar companies."

Carter-Pratt Battle Provokes Bitter Wrangle at Senate Quiz

Gaming Law Itself Score As One Hindrance to Prosecution.

The feud between Public Printer George H. Carter and Washington's policemen and prosecutors flared into the open at the Capitol yesterday, and resulted in a bitter wrangle between that official and those with whom he is at war.

The jury in the case—Senator John M. Robsion (Republican), of Kentucky, and Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), of New York, evidently was divided at its conclusion.

Senator Robsion, chairman of the District subcommittee that is investigating Mr. Carter's charges of inefficiency against the police, expressed the opinion that the police have not been as vigorous as they should have been in dealing with gamblers.

Nor was he satisfied with the way the district attorney's office has prosecuted such cases.

Senator Copeland, on the other hand, defended the police and the prosecutors, and brought out the fact that the police, in their zealousness, have violated the constitutional rights of gamblers.

In the end, the law itself appeared to be the cause of all the trouble.

Senator Copeland promised Maj. Henry G. Pratt, chief of police, and Leo A. Rover, the United States attorney, that if they brought in the draft of a new antigambling law he would use his efforts to have it passed.

Three of the police witnesses accused Public Printer Carter of using "pressure" on his employes to make them give testimony against a handbook gambler.

The hearing was held in the office of the Senate District committee. In the crowd of 100 present were four well-known members of the Ku Klux Klan.

In the meantime, the man who precipitated the controversy, Louis Herwitz, an alleged gambler, was idling on the sands of a Florida winter resort. It was the raid on his place at 25 H street, just opposite the Government Printing Office, that led Mr. Carter to go into action.

Mr. Carter and Maj. Pratt sat almost opposite each other during the hearing, and frequently glared at each other across the green table.

Early in the hearing Maj. Pratt asked that he be allowed to put a question to Carter. The latter flared up at this.

"Do I understand," he said, "that I am to be put on the witness stand and quizzed by the chief of police?"

NINE ARE INDICTED IN $550,000 FRAUD

BANK SWINDLE CHARGED

San Francisco, Calif., March 4 (A. P.).—George N. Keyston, president of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, was indicted with eight others by the Federal grand jury here late today on a charge of conspiracy to embezzle approximately $550,000 from a San Francisco branch of the Bank of Italy.

Those indicted, in addition to Keyston, were:

Ray S. Rossiter, of the same firm.

Charles H. Clay, Claude Galmarino, and Elmer J. Griffin, all employes of the brokerage firm.

Robert G. Haddow, assistant cashier of the bank.

Daniel P. Burke, teller of the bank.

Five indictments were returned by the jury. The first of 16 counts

U. S., JAPANESE RIFT AT LONDON PERSISTS

Delegates Unable to Reach Agreement in Attempted Ratio Compromise.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, March 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The London naval conference machine started chugging today on two cylinders in anticipation of the return of the French delegation Thursday night.

The most important development of the day was the first authoritative statement from an American source that the conversations between Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira and Senator David A. Reed have got nowhere, and that the position of the United States and Japan is as far apart as ever.

These talks were tentative only. They had for their aim exploration of grounds for a possible compromise following the firm stand on ratios taken in each camp, and the Americans hoped that Reed's hints that the United States could not possibly have in service even as much as 70 per cent of Japanese big cruisers by the time for the next conference in five years would open the way for agreement.

These hopes have so far proved ill founded. The Japanese want their 70 per cent recognized here and now and show no interest in suggestions that they might receive higher allotments than already proposed in light cruisers.

The meeting of the chief delegates at St. James' Palace today, with Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson batting for Secretary of State Stimson, who is confined to Stanmore, his country place, with a cold, did little beyond to over plans for organizing, or reorganizing, the conference.

This was because the French Ambassador, Joseph Aime de Fleuriau, to the surprise and regret of the other delegates, declined to talk about the six reserved points of controversy too important for the experts to settle which it was hoped he would at least deal with tentatively. These are:

1. Whether categories shall be calculated by gun caliber and tonnage combined or only by tonnage.
2. Limitation of the size of ships mounting 6-inch guns.
3. Whether transfer of tonnage is to be allowed between 6-inch and 8-inch-gun ships.
4. Limitation of the size of submarines.
5. Whether exempt ships should be replaced, and if so, whether they are

Citizens Advisory Council Raps Bingham Airport Bill

Washington Headed for Economic Disaster Unless Sounder Methods Are Found to Provide Improvement Moneys, Is Warning.

Unless sounder, more conservative and just methods of providing moneys for improvements of the National Capital are adopted by Congress, Washington is headed for economic disaster, the Citizens Advisory Council warned in an adverse report on the pending Bingham airport bill adopted last night.

Submitted by Charles I. Stengle, the report was adopted unanimously, and, although no specific mention was made in the report of the so-called Cramton Park bill, that, too, came in for inferential criticism in the informal discussion which preceded and followed the adoption of the declaration against the Bingham airport bill.

The citizens' council, the report declares, can not be forgetful of the burden of "excessive taxation" and believes that increased taxation will be an added load which will bring about economic disaster, which will come soon, unless more conservative methods are employed in the improvement of Washington. The council, the resolution declares, "hesitates" to join with any other group that might desire to rejoice over the Bingham airport report and recommendations.

"We believe," the council declared, "in progress and stand ready at all times to further any movement for the benefit of our citizens, if based upon justice and equity, but we do not feel that the entire airport cost should be saddled upon the taxpayers of the District of Columbia.

"We have practically no say as to whether we should have an airport,

Landslide Kills 14 Enjoying Carnival

Several Children Included in Catastrophe at Madeira.

Funchal, Madeira, March 4 (A.P.).—Sweeping down from a high rock hanging over the sea, a great landslide today killed at least fourteen persons, including several children. Directly underneath the cliff a carnival was in progress.

Scores of children were playing on the beach when tons of rock slid down the cliff with a terrific roar and crashed upon the beach and in the sea. The violence and heaviness of the landslide caused such huge back waves along the beach that fishermen and washerwomen at Riberra, Vigario and Camara Lobos were carried away into the water.

The scenes of gayety quickly gave place to the cries of mothers, who fainted as the bodies were brought out of the earth and rocks. It was feared tonight all bodies had not been recovered.

DAVIS DEFENDS HOOVER'S PLAN TO HELP LABOR

President's Critics Hit as Cabinet Studies Unemployment.

TOTAL OF JOBLESS IS SET AT 3,000,000

MITCHELL DISAVOWS RED SCARE REPORTS

National Conference Looms to Consider Alleviation of Conditions.

Following a meeting of the full cabinet on the unemployment situation throughout the country, President Hoover struck back at his Senate criticis through a statement issued, at the President's direction, by Secretary of Labor Davis.

Mr. Davis, who, incidentally, singled out Senator Robert F. Wagner (Democrat), New York, in the administration's counterattack — admitted that there are some 3,000,000 men and women out of work today, and then placed the burden squarely on the shoulders of the senators.

"The delays in passage of the tariff legislation," said Secretary Davis, reading his statement to newspapermen, pounding his desk the while, "are more responsible today for creating unemployment than any other factor.

Need of Tariff Passage Told.

"Above all else, the workers of this country need the passage of the tariff act to remove uncertainty and allow the workers to make in our own factories the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of goods now coming in by import."

Mr. Davis chided the Senate for talking about unemployment while adopting a do-nothing policy toward the administration's public buildings bill, which would make available $50,000,000 a year for public buildings, with the ultimate sum to be so spent totaling $500,000,000.

"Push the building program, pass the tariff bill, and our workers will find employment," said Mr. Davis.

Brookhart Suggestion Rapped.

"The American workingman wants honest employment, and a steady job. He does not want a dole," Mr. Davis continued, making it clear that his remarks were aimed at a resolution offered by Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, that $50,000,000 be appropriated for unemployment, leaving the method of its distribution to the President.

"Let the Senate appr. that $50,000,000 to the administration's public building program and create jobs," he said, explaining that the $50,000,000, if used as a "dole," would provide only $1 a week for eighteen weeks to the 3,000,000 unemployed.

Mitchell Hits Red Scare.

While Secretary Davis was dissertating on the failures of the Senate, pointing out that the House of Representatives had done its full share, Attorney General Mitchell disposed of the charge made by Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, in the Senate Monday that the Hoov administration was attempting to "solve the unemployment situation by resurrecting the 'Red scare.'"

The Department of Justice, said Mr. Mitchell, who also had attended the Cabinet meeting, knows nothing of a "Red uprising," or of a reported $1,000,000 fund received by American Communists to push the unemployment disorders, and is taking no steps to investigate or do anything about it.

Only should the Communists commit an overt act against the Federal Government will the Department intervene, he said.

It was learned in White House circles that the President has under

"Tiny" Lawrence, Who Played at Tulane, Shot in Mardi Gras Altercation.

New Orleans, La., March 4 (A.P.).—"Tiny" Lawrence, former Tulane University football player from Oklahoma, was shot in the forehead and wounded fatally in the Mardi Gras festival here today as he joined the ranks of a number of sailors battling on the street with a gang of Negroes.

Mr. Lawrence and others rushed to the aid of a truckload of sailors battling with the Negroes in a general row and an unidentified person in the crowd shot him. He died almost instantly.

The fight was staged at a street intersection in the old French quarter while the day's carnival revelry was at its height.

Taft Passes Good Day, Accepts Nourishment

Physicians Still Warn Against Optimism Although Stricken Jurist Takes More Food Than at Any Time in Week.

(Associated Press.)

The remarkable recuperative powers of William Howard Taft yesterday carried him safely through another day of his serious illness.

He rested comfortably, sleeping occasionally. The physicians reported no change in his condition, which has improved steadily since the critical stages of last week.

While Drs. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Claytor continued to warn against unwarranted optimism as a result of the gains made by the former Chief Justice, their early bulletin said:

"The condition of the former Chief Justice is unaltered since yesterday. He is comfortable and continues to take a moderate amount of nourishment."

With members of the family having returned to their homes temporarily, there were fewer visitors to the residence.

Mr. Taft was said at 6:55 p. m. yesterday by his physicians to have had a "fairly good day" and to have taken more nourishment than at any time in the past week.

The official bulletin said:

"The former Chief Justice has had a fairly good day. He has taken more nourishment than at any time during the past week."

Dr. Francis R. Hagner said Mr. Taft's diet consisted of only liquids and ice cream and today his appetite was better.

The patient was able to recognize Mrs. Taft and others as they went in and out of the room.

REPUBLICAN CHIEFS MAP DEFENSE DRIVE

REAL IDEAS ARE SCARCE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Senate Republican leaders met yesterday with National Chairman Claudius Huston in an effort to arrive at some means of making their party articulate in the face of the heavy bombardment it has undergone for the last several months.

Word of the meeting was not generally bandied about the Capitol, where it was held, and in the noisy consideration of the tariff, it did not attract the attention that its importance jusified. All indications, however, are that there has not been a more serious conclave in many a day.

In attendance, besides Mr. Huston, were the party's new high-priced publicity man, James L. West, and Senators Watson, Moses, Capper, Allen and Vandenberg, all of the senators except Watson being newspaper publishers and called to the meeting for their knowledge of mass psychology.

The stated situation was that the Democrats have so prolonged the tariff discussion that the Republicans now face the congressional campaigns without the tariff having been in effect long enough to disprove the Democratic charges. No fear of the tariff bill itself is felt, it was insisted, but the Democrats have labeled it a monstrosity and it will not have time to disprove this charge before the congressional elections occur.

Smething should have been done months ago, but nothing was done, and that is so much water over the dam. The question is what should be done now. There is Mr. West engaged to do the business as soon as it can be decided what should be done.

In order that there should be no lack of appreciation of the problem the party is faced with, the experience

STRIKING STUDENTS THREATEN LYNCHING

10,000 in Manila Imperil Lives of School Officials; Policemen Beaten.

PLOT LAID TO "INSULT"

Manila, March 4 (A.P.).—All police reserves of Manila were called out tonight to deal with the strike of 10,000 high school students. Several students and two policemen were beaten, two school officials were threatened with lynching and announcement was made that all strikers might be expelled from schools.

Columbus E. Piatt, chief of police, said he was taking precautions against general rioting in Manila, although he believed there was no serious danger.

The situation developed from a recent strike of high school students in protest against what they considered insults directed against the Filipino race by Miss Mabel Brummitt, a teacher. She denied insulting the race, but said she had reprimanded students for misbehavior in class, telling one student that he acted like an imbecile and others that they behaved like rig drivers.

Miss Brummitt was dismissed, but the strike was continued to force the reinstatement of four ringleaders who were suspended.

Demands were made by strikers today for the dismissal of Alejandro Albert, acting secretary of public instruction; Luther B. Bewley, director of education, and the principal of the North High School.

Threats that Albert and Bewley would be lynched were heard as students crowded the grounds of the North High School all day, but refused to attend classes. Several students were beaten for refusing to join the strikers. Several strikers were arrested after a clash with policemen in which two officers were beaten. In the milling of the mob a young girl was stripped of her clothing and was beaten. Student suffered a knife wound.

As the strike spread from the North High School to the West, South and

U. S. Hope in Air Speed Tests Transferred to Sea Duty

Lieut. Alford J. Williams, Navy Flier Who Promoted Building of Mercury Racer for Schneider Meet, Will Again Lose His Opportunity.

(Associated Press.)

Lieut. Alford J. Williams, the Navy flier upon whom many Americans rested the hope for recovery by this country of the world's speed records, has been transferred to sea duty.

Effective next Saturday, he will report on board the aircraft carrier Saratoga for three years of service with the fleet at sea.

Lieut. Williams, widely known for his work in high-speed flight research, single-handed promoted the building last year o the Mercury racer, which he intended to enter in the Schneider trophy race.

The plane was withdrawn as the United States entry because of lack of time to make design changes after preliminary tests.

There will be no Schneider competition again until 1931, but Williams' duty extends beyond the time when nations will contend to keep Great Britain, twice winner of the classic, from gaining permanent possession of the speed trophy.

Lieut. Williams, after playing professional baseball with the New York Giants for two seasons, entered the naval service in 1917 and in 1919 made the first inverted flight tests in an N-9 seaplane.

In 1921 he started an exhaustive series of tests on the HS-2 seaplane, ascertaining for the first time that a tail spin in this type of craft need not result in a crash.

Measure Ready for Joint Conference Between Two Groups.

TONTINE PROVISION SLIGHTLY MODIFIED

OPPONENTS WAGE LAST-MINUTE FIGHT

Representative of Alabama Decries Act as "Gag" Legislation.

The new Dale-Lehlbach retirement bill was passed by the House late yesterday, 235 to 17. It now goes to a Senate and House conference.

In its present form the bill is a modification of the bill as it was originally introduced by Chairman Lehlbach, of the civil service committee.

The tontine provision, that is the provision under which $1 a month is deducted from the employe's retirement contribution and placed in a separate fund, still is in the bill, but the provisions under which much of this tontine money would have been forfeited have been amended.

Goes Direct to Conference.

The new bill bears the title of the old Dale-Lehlbach bill, which was passed by the Senate. Hence it will not have to be passed again by the Senate, but will go direct to conference.

A large number of Federal workers were in the gallery when the bill passed, and so were the principal advocates of it among the employes' representatives—Luther C. Steward and Gertrude McNally, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the National Federation of Federal Employes.

Major features of the bill, as explained to the House by Representative Lehlbach, provide for optional retirement two years before the time allowed in existing law, and for substantial annuity increases to all persons on the retirement roll.

Jeffers Leads Opposition.

Opponents of the bill were small in numbers, but loud in their claims that the measure would benefit only members of high-salaried groups. Representative Jeffers, (Democrat), of Alabama, led the opposition with the charge that the bill was a "complicated, mysterious measure which is solidly opposed by the joint conference of Federal employes."

"The joint conference representatives," he continued, "do not favor this bill, but they are laying down because they feel that if this bill is not passed they will get no bill at all."

Characterizing the bill as the most odious example of "gag legislation," the Alabaman urged the House to vote against a suspension of the rules in favor of "orderly consideration." Under House rules when suspension is asked debate is limited to 20 minutes on each side, after which the measure is to be voted either for or against without amendments, except such committee amendments as may be covered by the chairman in calling up the bill.

Held "Steamroller" Legislation.

Replying to Representative Jeffers' claim that the bill was not popular, Representative Lehlbach challenged him to find "a single reputable spokesman of Federal employes who was opposed to it."

Representatives Fuller (Democrat), of Arkansas, and Ramspeck (Democrat), of Georgia, joined Jeffers in urging that the House be given an opportunity for studying the bill before voting on it.

"Proponents of this steamroller legislation," Ramspeck said, "are afraid to have the bill exposed to the light. They know that Federal employes don't want this measure, so they are trying to railroad it without proper discussion. Just because the President has cracked his whip over your heads," he continued, "are you going to rush this bill through in this unfair manner?"

When debate was terminated by the Speaker, Representative Jeffers asked for a viva voce vote, but his request was voted down. Apparently determined to exhaust every possible means of defeating the bill, he then made a point of no quorum. Jeers from the crowded Republican side, however, led him to withdraw his point, and the bill was passed.

Quartet Pleads Guilty To Counterfeit Charge

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—Four alleged ringleaders of a counterfeiting gang pleaded guilty to making spurious money when arraigned today in Federal Court. The four, Abe Goldberg, Dante Cacici, Angelo Lasala and Lorenzo Petrosino, were remanded for sentencing Monday.

The Government alleged that the four men had erected two printing plants, with plates, mechanical apparatus, paper and ink and were preparing to issue counterfeit $10 notes.

how much it would cost, where it should be located, or how it is run after being established. But we have been told that we are to pay the entire cost of its establishment. In the name of common justice we urge upon Congress to deal with us more fairly."

Dr. George H. Richardson, Negro member of the council from the Civic Federation, was signaled out for especial honor at the meeting, the council formally adopting a resolution congratulating the venerable Negro civic leader on the fifty-sixth anniversary of his wedding.

"We hope," said Dr. George H. Havenner, president of the council, following adoption of the formal resolution, "that we will have Dr. Richardson with us for 56 more years."

The "crudity and incoherence" of the pending bill which would force barber shops to close on Sundays was such that the council could only recommend that it be not passed, it was declared on motion of Dr. George H. Richardson. On recommendation of Dr. Richardson the council also disapproved another bill providing that the superintendent of schools should do "everything" to safeguard the health of school children where parents are unable to do so. The council said the bill was entirely too loosely drawn. The council approved the pending bill authorizing the District Commissioners to waive certain defenses and settle claims against the District.

Action on the proposal of Senator Bingham that the District invest $2,500,000 in an airport south of Highway Bridge was referred to the executive committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce by the board of directors of the organization at a meeting last night.

The board reached this decision after Lieut. Walter Hinton, chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber, failed to appear at the meeting with a detailed explanation of the terms proposed by Senator Bingham. The board of directors recommended that the executive committee be given power to act on the proposal after Lieut. Hinton has given a full explanation of the details of the proposition. President Charles W. Darr will call a meeting of the executive committee today.

The chief reason why the board did not take action itself was that it was not certain what portion of the $2,500,000 is to be used for purchase of the property for the airport, it was revealed. Senator Bingham has proposed that the Federal Government donate half of the property to be developed and that the $2,500,000 to be spent by the District be loaned without interest by the Government. Mr. Darr voiced opposition to the plan to develop the Virginia property rather than immediate development of Gravelly Point.

WETS END APPEALS AT HOUSE HEARING

SIX TO TESTIFY TODAY

(Associated Press.)

A dozen antiprohibitionists, including four aristocratic and energetic women, yesterday occupied the seventh and last day of appeal before the House judiciary committee for repeal of the eighteenth amendment with accounts of conspiracy, racketeering, "drinking drys," drunken young girls and crowded courts in arguing that the dry laws have failed.

Chairman Graham, of the committee, a Philadelphia lawyer, aged 80, climaxed the day by denouncing prohibition as an inhumanity which has never been and would never be enforced. His stand, an amplification of that he took on the opening of the hearings, evoked cheers from the crowded committee room, which were silenced by the pounding of his gavel.

Thus ended the presentation of testimony by opponents attacking the ten-year-old amendment, on the first anniversary of the inauguration of President Hoover, whose platform carried a strict law enforcement plank. Today friends of the prohibitory laws will commence their defense of them, and they also will be allowed seven days.

Federal Supervision Favored.

Representative Linthicum (Democrat), Maryland, chief of the unofficial House wet committee, yesterday reviewed the testimony of the numerous previous witnesses who demanded repeal of Federal liquor laws and restoration of State control. He cited the testimony of such men as Pierre S. duPont, multimillionaire industrialist of Wilmington, Del., and W. W. Atterbury, of Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in addition to that by educators, lawyers, mothers, physicians, former Government officials and members of Congress—and emphasized that none stood for the return of "the old-time saloon."

Linthicum said he favored the Sabath resolution which would permit State control under Federal supervision, the liquor to be dispensed in Federal dispensaries only. He appealed to the Antisaloon League, which he credited with driving out the old saloon, to come to the front in the effort to drive out speak-easies.

From time to time the audience, consisting largely of women, many of whom stood for hours to hear the testimony, applauded the witnesses. Chairman Graham had to rap for order and Representative Moore, (Republican), Ohio, protested that the applause continued so long that members of the committee did not have an opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses before they left the stand.

Doctor Makes Protest.

Chairman Graham presented a protest from his personal physician, Dr. S. Solis Cohen, of Philadelphia, against the limitation of medicinal liquor prescriptions to one pint every 10 days, even though the patient's life may depend upon a greater amount. Graham said the Volstead law provisions constituted a reflection upon the medical profession.

At the outset of the hearing, Graham had read into the record a letter from Walter W. Liggett in which the magazine writer replied to Attorney General Smith of Kansas, as to liquor enforcement conditions in that State. Liggett had charged before the committee that liquor could be bought by a stranger within fifteen minutes in any town in Kansas.

The Kansas Attorney General said in a statement to Graham that the writer's remarks were "false, libelous and untrue." Liggett reiterated his charges yesterday and said his investigation had resulted in the dismissal of the Kansas snooping squad, which he said was composed of ex-convicts and bootleggers.

"Drinking Dry" Scored.

Dr. Stewart Paton, of Baltimore, a Johns Hopkins University lecturer on psychiatry, testified that prohibition was not a sound method of preventing liquor consumption, and for that reason was having a disastrous effect on the young people of the country. He said under questioning that the moderate drinker has a greater expectancy of life than the teetotaler.

Mrs. Courtlandt Nicoll, of New York, secretary of the National Association for prohibition reform, said her organization was determined to get rid of "that arch hypocrite—the drinking dry."

She said she had seen legislators of New York State cast a dry vote and later in the day "drink whatever they could obtain," adding that the legislatures of other States were no different.

Finest Stills in U. S.

Mrs. Nicoll challenged an argument which, she said, was advanced by drys that Middle Western States did not have the conditions she had found in the East. "The women of the West tell a different story," she said. "One of them told me—'We have the finest stills in the United States in Kansas Garages back of the high school in my city are used by boys and girls for storing liquor and beer.'"

At the request of Representative Moore (Republican), Ohio, she said the city in question was Hutchinson, Kans., but declined to name her informant, saying she was a prominent woman, 60 years old.

The other women witnesses were Mrs. Carrol Miller, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. W. W. Montgomery, jr., of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Robert W. Lovett, of Boston.

Drys Announce Witnesses.

The names of the six witnesses who will go before the House judiciary committee today to present arguments in favor of prohibition were announced last night after a meeting of officials of the national conference of organizations supporting the eighteenth amendment.

The witnesses will be:

Samuel Crowther, a New York economist; Henry M. Johnson, a Louisville lawyer and real estate man; C. P. Connolly, attorney, of East Orange, N. J.; Dr. Daniel A. Poling, president of the International Christian Endeavor; Edward Keating, editor of Labor and former representative from Colorado, and Patrick Callahan, Louisville, Ky., business man.

The names were announced by Mrs. Laura D. Yost, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, after a meeting of the legislative committee of the affiliated group of dry organizations.

SEAPLANE HEIGHT MARK MADE

U. S. REGAINS HEIGHT MARK FOR SEAPLANE

CARRIES 4,409 POUNDS

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—Driving his twin motored Sikorsky amphibian to an apparent altitude of 19,500 feet, Capt. Boris Sergievsky, formerly of the Imperial Russian air corps, brought back to his adopted country today the altitude record for seaplanes carrying a useful load of ,000 kilograms (4,409.24 pounds).

Dressed only in ordinary winter flying clothes, but in an inclosed heated cabin, Capt. Sergievsky drove his ship up through a hole in the clouds shortly after 1:30 p. m. above North Beach, Queens, and an hour and a half later dropped back down over Oyster Bay an apparent new record registered on his barograph.

Although it will be several days before the barograph can be calibrated at Washington, the National Aeronautic Association observer present said he thought there was little doubt but what the record had been broken by several thousand feet. The old record, held in France, was 15,837 feet.

Today's record brings the United States one step nearer to the head of the procession in the peace-time race for air supremacy, the score now standing: Germany 43, United States, 35.

The ship in which Capt. Sergievsky set today's record is a Sikorsky amphibian S-38, from which the wheels were removed before the altitude attempt was made. Five hundred pounds of its load were placed in the bow, the rest being distributed behind the pilot's seat in the place customarily occupied by passengers. The plane was powered with two Pratt and Whitney radial hornets of 575 horsepower each.

He carried about 120 gallons of gasoline, the plane and load together weighing somewhere around 11,000 pounds.

Capt. Sergievsky, a swarthy complexioned, dark-eyed representative of the old days of Russia, is 42 years old, a veteran of the World War, where he served with the imperial Russian and British Royal Air Force, and of the White Russians' campaign against the revolutionaries in 1919 and 1920. He now is an American citizen. He is chief test pilot for the Sikorsky Aviation Corporation.

NINE ARE INDICTED IN FAKE VISA PLOT

Two Women Are Included in True Bills Found by Federal Jury.

FORMER OFFICIAL NAMED

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—Nine persons, including two women, were indicted by a Federal grand jury in furnishing allegedly fraudulent visas and incidental papers to Polish citizens who thereby gained admission to the United States.

Among those indicted was Harry M. Hall, former vice consul at Warsaw, Poland, who was dismissed on February 12 last as a result of the visa investigations. Federal Attorney Howard W. Ameli refused to reveal the present whereabouts of Hall lest some harm befall him.

The two women named in the indictments are Miss Heinie Fabrikanc, alias Horowitz, who is being sought by Federal authorities, and Mrs. Masza Sznifer, who was arrested several days ago and released in bail.

The others indicted were Louis Horowitz, Morris and Louis Baskin, Moszek Faszyniek and Leo Shapiro, under arrest in Brooklyn, and Moszek Iglicki, who was said in dispatches from Warsaw to be under arrest there. Shapiro is from Patterson, N. J., the others, except for Iglicki and Hall, are from Brooklyn. Hall is from Pennsylvania.

Assistant United States Attorney Lindsay R. Henry announced several days ago that Hall had told the United States State Department that once while intoxicated he had given several visas signed in blank to Baskin. Subsequently, Mr. Henry quoted Hall as saying, he was forced to give Baskin others under threats of exposure.

Hall also was quoted as saying Baskin introduced him to Shapiro and that he sold more visas to Shapiro for $1,200, only to have another member of the alleged ring get the money back by threats.

Morris Baskin was arrested first in Warsaw, but was released and returned to the United States. The Polish judge of instruction was reported on February 27 to have requested Hall's extradition to Poland, but the United States State Department denied any such request had been received.

Jewish Brotherhood Has Jamboree Sunday

The Brotherhood of the Washington Hebrew Congregation will stage its first annual jamboree Sunday night in the large ballroom of the Willard Hotel. Alvin Neumeyer will be master of ceremonies. Five entertainment acts are scheduled, with dancing to follow.

The Kiddies Kabaret, composed of sons and daughters of members, is on the program. Proceeds will go to charity work of the brotherhood.

Air Terminals Company To Buy 3 New Planes

Purchase of three new airplanes, including both cabin and open cockpit types, was authorized yesterday at a meeting of the directors of the Washington Air Terminals Corporation, which operates the Washington Airport.

The corporation has announced plans for the expenditure of $600,000 in improvement of the airport. All used and obsolete planes will be replaced by new models, it is said.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 31

Several salient facts are to be remembered by the taxpayer in claiming deductions for taxes. Taxes on personal property or real estate, whether business or residential, are deductible. So-called taxes which are assessed against local benefits, such as streets, sidewalks, drainage, and other like improvements, which tend to increase the value of the property assessed, are not deductible, since they are considered as constituting the cost of a permanent improvement.

The Federal income tax may not be deducted. However, income taxes paid upon the incomes of individuals to States may be deducted by an individual on his Federal income-tax return.

The deduction of estate and inheritance taxes is confined to the estate. Retroactive provisions pertaining to deductions of estate and inheritance taxes are found in the revenue act.

Postage is not a tax. Automobile license fees are ordinarily deductible. Customs duties paid by a person on articles for his own use are deductible. Import or tariff duties paid in the operation of a business are deductible as taxes, provided they are not added to or made a part of the expenses of the business or the cost of the merchandise with respect to which they are paid.

Admission taxes are deductible, but the taxpayer must show that account has been kept of the amount paid. Guesswork will not be accepted.

COOLIDGE DEDICATES DAM NAMED FOR HIM

INDIANS WITNESS RITES

Coolidge Dam, Ariz., March 4 (A.P.).—Calvin Coolidge, former President of the United States, today formally dedicated a great dam named in his honor and in the same breath called upon the people of the Southwest to dedicate themselves to the task of completing another great project—Boulder Canyon Dam.

Speaking from the parapet of Coolidge Dam, Mr. Coolidge plunged into a plea for unity in the Southwest. He spoke for twenty minutes and climaxed the dedication ceremonies by breaking over the parapet a bottle filled with the waters of the Gila River.

"This dam and its waters do not need dedicating," the former President asserted. "It is the people gathered here who need to be dedicated."

Thousands of persons from Arizona and many from neighboring States heard Mr. Coolidge advise them to read a passage in the Bible, "Agree with thy adversaries quickly."

Old men and women in the Pima Indian tribe were guests of honor at the ceremonies. Many of the aged Indians traveled all of last night to be on hand for the dedication of the dam, which is to reclaim the arid lands on which they live.

A public address system installed for the occasion permitted persons half a mile from the speaker's platform to hear clearly every word spoken. The age-old stillness was upon the canyon during the addresses.

An undercurrent of sadness ran through the Apache band. Shortly before the dedication ceremonies began they had been informed that Chief Talakalai, their 113-year-old tribal leader had died at his home in Globe. He had ridden as scout for Gen. John Pershing when the general was a lieutenant at old San Carlos, where Coolidge dam now stands.

10 Are Held on Charges Of Thefts at Hospital

Charged with larceny of property belonging to the Government, ten Negroes, formerly employed at St. Elizabeths Hospital, were indicted yesterday by the grand jury. The men are alleged to have stolen clothing and bedding for a number of months.

Those indicted are Joseph P. Shott, Frank Green, John A. Savoy, William H. Speed, Jessie Richardson, David Congers, George F. Ellis, Allen West, Albert B. Butler and Philip G. Parker.

Burglar-Proof Safe Resists Thugs' Blows

Safe crackers have been successful when they entered the Consolidation Coal Co. office, First and M streets southwest, on two occasions, in breaking open the office safe and escaping with funds.

Early yesterday, however, when a band of cracksmen invaded the office, they found a new burglar-proof safe to work on. After assaulting the safe with sledge hammer and crowbars, the thieves gave up in disgust. Evidence of their visit was found when Charles E. Lingstrum opened the office yesterday morning.

Haynes Reindicted In Bank Fraud Case

Peculations Which Total $100,000 Are Charged in True Bill.

Harry V. Haynes, former president of the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank, was reindicted yesterday by the District of Columbia grand jury on charges of embezzlement, making false entries in the books of the bank, misapplying funds and abstracting securities.

The indictment was returned as a result of the attack made on a previous indictment returned by the grand jury that sat during the July term of the court. Haynes is now under $10,000 bond, having posted that security immediately after the first indictment.

The new indictment is practically the same as the first one, although the ninth and tenth counts of the true bill are said to represent newly discovered transactions. Overdrafts on his personal account are charged in the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth counts of the indictment. The new indictment charges peculations totaling approximately $100,000.

ARRESTS IN STRIKE CLASH THREATENED

Warrants Loom for Six Who Aided Pickets in Textile Plant Outburst.

GAS DISPERSES CROWD

Elizabethton, Tenn., March 4 (A.P.).—Sheriff J. M. Moreland late today said warrants would be issued for five or six persons who aided in releasing two pickets arrested for disorderly conduct during an attempt by officers to disperse crowds near the American Bemberg and Glanzstoff plants in violation of an injunction granted last night.

The injunction restraining officials and members of the local of the United Textile Workers of America from interference with employes of the plant.

First public word of the injunction which was made returnable March 17 came this afternoon as Deputy Sheriff Phil Fair and other deputies served it on two crowds of pickets congregated in the highway near the big rayon mills to stop cars bringing operatives to work on the 3 o'clock shift.

Tear Bomb Released.

The first crowd dispersed, but the second refused to move and engaged the deputies in a struggle until Fair released a tear-gas bomb. Fair arrested two of the group on charges of creating a disturbance. Sheriff Moreland said the crowd followed the deputy and his prisoners to the office of Magistrate R. T. Johnston, where the crowd demanded that the prisoners be released "or fight." The sheriff said the prisoners were released, but that he would serve warrants on five or six of the leaders, charging them with interference with an officer in the discharge of his duty.

The injunction granted the mills enjoins officers and members of the union from entering company property; congregating on the highways leading into company property; congregating on any highway "used for the purpose of transporting employes to their work in Carter or any other county," and from molesting or interfering with taxi drivers engaged in transporting operatives to and from the mills.

The order also enjoins union officials and members from "unlawfully procuring employes to breach their contracts with their employers."

Strike Not Recognized.

Paul Fuller, Southern educational director for the American Federation of Labor, said tonight that the walkout called for yesterday was about 85 per cent effective. Fuller said approximately 1,000 operatives in the mills had been dismissed either for inefficiency or due to installation of machinery that displaced them.

Officials of the mills reiterated their statement of yesterday that there was no strike and they were operating with a full force.

In calling a walkout, the union charged that union sympathizers had been discharged and cited other grievances.

Two strikes marked by disturbances were called last spring in the two plants, the first called on March 20, 1929, lasted about two weeks and on April 20, a second strike was called, but after a settlement conditions were quiet at the mills until the strike called for yesterday.

Child's Character Group Drafts Two Resolutions

The citizens' advisory committee on character education, recently appointed by the Board of Education, met yesterday afternoon behind closed doors and drew up the drafts of two tentative resolutions containing recommendations to the Board of Education.

The exact nature of these resolutions will not be revealed until they are completed and approved by the committee. This is expected to be done at a meeting next Tuesday. The meeting yesterday was the second held by the committee and the first at which actual business was discussed. Dr. William Allen Wilbur, chairman of the committee, presided.

Man Is Cut in Attempt To Leap From Taxicab

Garnett M. Frye, cab driver who figured in the inquiry into the death of Virginia McPherson last fall, was driving a "fare" along Pennsylvania avenue northwest, near Tenth street, early yesterday, when the man attempted to leap through the cab window, police reported.

The man, Ted V. Godsey, 29, of Seventh and G streets southeast, was driven to Emergency Hospital by Frye and treated for minor lacerations of the head.

Schoolgirl Shoots Woman Named in Mother's Divorce

"She Took My Father Away From Me," Sheriff Says Prisoner Declared Before Inflicting Wounds Expected to Prove Fatal.

Alamo, Ga., March 4 (A.P.).—Miss Marian Bullard, 18-year-old high school senior, today was arrested for the shooting of Miss Grace McDaniel, 26, late yesterday. The girl was immediately released on $2,000 bond, signed by her mother, Mrs. Mary Bullard, and a friend.

The girl had been permitted to go to her home on her own recognizance yesterday by Sheriff R. N. Sears, who served a warrant on her today. The girl was arrested on an open charge pending the outcome of Miss McDaniel's wounds, which physicians at a Dublin hospital said would prove fatal. Miss Bullard has declined to discuss the shooting or the motive, but Sheriff Sears said it was because of a pending divorce action between the girl's parents.

After shooting Miss McDaniel yesterday, the girl was said to have remarked that Miss McDaniel "took my father away from me." She also is alleged to have said to the wounded woman, "You'll never get an opportunity to wreck another home."

Miss Bullard shot Miss McDaniel as the latter drove up to a filling station operated by her father. The bullet penetrated the elder woman's abdomen.

Physicians said she had scant chance to recover.

PLAN TO HELP HAITI GIVEN COMMISSION

U. S. RULE IS ATTACKED

Port-au-Prince, March 4 (A.P.).—The Hoover investigating commission today received its first concrete plan from the Haitian people for remedying the political ills Haiti has complained of, and blamed on American intervention in the republic's affairs.

George N. Leger, a native lawyer of high reputation, recommended that a provisional government be established at the earliest possible moment to rule the country until the election of deputies and senators to the National Assembly. Later the Assembly would choose a president.

Mr. Leger's recommendation was backed by a warning from Justin Sam, leader of the League of Haitian Youth, that 10,000 young Haitians would join their elders in revolution on April 14 unless legislative elections were held. Mr. Sam also demanded that President Hoover issue a proclamation ordering the end of the Borno regime.

Favorable Impression Made.

Mr. Leger, speaking in English, made a distinct impression on W. Cameron Forbes and the other commissioners. His statement was considered fair and concise.

Accusing the American authorities of having aroused race prejudice in Haiti for the first time in its history, he admitted that much material good had come out of the marines' occupation of the island republic. Roads had been built, sanitary conditions were admirable, and the Nacional Garde was well organized.

But, Mr. Leger insisted, the price paid for the material progress realized was beyond its value. He maintained that the United States was dominating, instead of helping, Haiti, and termed the choice of Brig. Gen. John H. Russell as American high commissioner "most unfortunate."

Specifically, he accused Gen. Russell of having made a report stating that the Haitian people had "the mentality of a 7-year-old child."

Plebiscite Held Hopeless.

Seeing no possibility of electing a president by a plebiscite, because the people were not used to this method, he recommended that the Assembly be chosen first.

"Even if a large part of the electorate is illiterate, the voters are capable of electing deputies because they know the men in their districts. Once a provisional government has been established, and the return of legislative elections guaranteed, the people will go back to business and forget politics."

As to the high commissionership, he frankly asked for its abolition and for the substitution of a regular American diplomatic representative.

He urged that the marines be kept at the head of the garde for the present, with the understanding that as soon as Haitians had been trained the direction of the garde should be turned over to them.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

HIST! Conspiracy, dark and devious, traffics in the corridors of the Capitol! Political treachery drags its slimy trail across the elegantly carpeted floor of the Senate!

Furthermore, the men who are up to their ears in this nefarious plot to put the bee of defeat on the wrist of the Republican party will have to take all responsibility for their ugly and destructive work.

Senator Goff has given them the sad news. Rising in his place in the Senate, he pointed them out with accusing and denunciatory finger and, in language that a little child might have understood, set down in the Record an outline, analysis and exposure of their wielding of the dagger of disloyalty.

Thirteen insurgents "or so-called Republican members," he said, had formed a "coalition" with the Democrats to wreck the original Smoot-Hawley tariff bill; and they had so maneuvered as to insure its final passage and make it a law at a time when it would have a bad effect on the business of the country, thus resulting in the defeat of the Republican party in the Congressional elections next autumn.

* * * *

"LET the bill," he declared, "become a law any time during July or August, and, like Marc Antony, the coalition can sit back and say to itself: 'Mischief, thou art afoot, take thou what course thou wilt!'"

Three months ago, continued Mr. Goff, Mr. Borah "spoke about the coalition assuming certain responsibilities. Well, that is just what they are going to do if it is within my power to bring it about."

That is to say, if and when the pierced and bleeding remnant of Republicanism hangs helpless and half-dead on the sharp and killing point of the losers' end of the election next fall, the men who drove the poisoned blade into their party's vitals will be held up to public view as the plotters of the dastard deed!

* * * *

BUT the speech of Mr. Goff may be taken more as a warning than as a prophecy. Before ever the bill goes to the President, it will be submitted to the magic of the conference committee, and when it emerges from that necromancy the coalition will have the job of driving home the dagger all over again.

Who knows but by that time the Goff exposure may have put the fear of God into the "thirteen so-called Republican members?" Who can say that the coalition, shuddering at the recollection of the castigation administered by the senator from West Virginia, will not timidly sheathe its envenomed snickersnee instead of administering the coup de grace, the final stab, the mortal thrust?

This, of course, may seem to Mr. Goff a vain, empty and altogether barren hope, considering the coalition's stubborn readiness in the past to hew, cut and trim. Nevertheless, he warns, everybody is on to them; and, to prove it, he named them in his speech, thus: Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Cutting, Frazier, Howell, LaFollette, McMaster, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Pine and Schall.

REPUBLICAN CHIEFS MEET TO PLAN BIG DEFENSE DRIVE

of Mr. McKinley, seeking reelection to the House in 1890, was told. Every time the Republicans had a rally Democratic peddlers would stand outside and offer tin pans at $4 apiece. The housewives would take one look at the price and go away uttering imprecations at the Republicans for putting a tariff on tin. Mr. McKinley was defeated but was subsequently elected President, justifying the belief of those who attended yesterday's meeting that if they can just get over the congressional elections Republican justice will prevail and everything will come out all right in the wash.

But the question of how the publicity bureau should proceed could get no further than the discussion stage. Had the Republicans denied the Democratic charges when they were made, the sense of the meeting was, the situation would be different now.

Democrats Have Edge.

The question was raised as to whether at this late date the people would pay any attention to defensive publicity at all. The Democrats admittedly have gotten the headlines with their attack, the strongest they have ever made. Now there is considerable doubt as to whether the Republicans can grab them back by simply saying that what the Democrats said was not true.

There was no tendency to blame the newspapers themselves, probably in deference to the senatorial newspaper publishers who were present. Instead, there was a direct tracing of the problem to the people.

How can Mr. West so fashion the Republican cause that it will achieve headlines equally as prominent as those given to the Democratic charges of iniquity and plots? Should a lot of human interest stuff be sent out, little items telling of little cute things the Republicans do, and, if so, how many of thees little items would be necessary to offset one big headline of the Democrats charging a plot?

Real Ideas Scarce.

These questions and others were put to Senator Moses, to Senator Vandenberg, to Senator Capper and to Senator Allen, who were presumed to know what the reading public wants. But, strangely enough, not one of them is understood to have had a real idea.

Two of these men at least—Senator Capper and Senator Moses—have the knack of hitting the headlines any time they want to, and Moses has the knack of hitting them sometimes when he does not want to, but they could not exactly impart their gift to the others. It is one of those indefinable things that your best friend will not tell you about.

The meeting did decide, however, to give widespread distribution to the speeches of Senators Fess and Goff, the one entitled "One Year of Mr. Hoover," and the other "The Perfidy of the Coalition," both looked upon as Republican masterpieces.

MAN IN GREEN HAT UNDER INDICTMENT

Cassidy and Father-in-Law Charged Under Jones Law in True Bill.

24 OTHERS ARE FOUND

George L. Cassidy, "the man in the green hat," who is held to be a congressional bootlegger, was indicted yesterday by the District of Columbia grand jury on a charge of violating the Jones-Stalker act. John T. Gately, said to be Cassidy's father-in-law, was jointly indicted with him.

Cassidy and Gately were among 24 persons indicted by the grand jury for alleged liquor violations.

The indictment of Cassidy and Gately follows their arrests several days ago near the Senate Office Building. Prohibition agents who figured in the case declared that they had a tip and were on the lookout for Cassidy when he drove up in his automobile.

At the same time the grand jury ignored liquor charges against six individuals. Those against whom charges were ignored are Robert Gokley, James O'Connell, Robert Eugene Rucker, William Joseph Arrington, Robert B. Storey and Antonio DeGenero.

Alleged Smuggler Chief Held.

Havana, March 4 (A.P.).—Octavius Pistoles, alleged to be head of a gang smuggling liquor and narcotics from Cuba into the United States, was arrested here last night upon his arrival aboard the steamer Amapa from New York.

THREE POINTS CITED IN HOOVER'S POLICY

Fess Says President Is Firm on Parity, Reduction and Shunning Alliances.

HEAVY CRUISERS URGED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Parity, reduction and no involvment in European political affairs represent President Hoover's unflinching policy at the London naval conference, according to Senator Fess, who discussed the administration's foreign policy in some detail on the floor of the Senate yesterday. The senator's references to the American policy at London are understood to be based upon the most authoritative information from the White House and the State Department.

The senator from Ohio sought first to allay the fear that the American delegation might be inveigled into some sort of apparently harmless political agreement as a result of persistent efforts of European master-diplomats.

"There has been a good deal of concern about how far the conference might go, especially with reference to our involution in European affairs," said Senator Fess.

Senator Robinson Lauded.

"I think we need have no fear so long as two distinguished United States senators are present, and present to speak the language of this body, and no one on either side of this chamber would question the political integrity or the sound thinking of the Democratic leader, who, although he was in favor of the United States entering the League of Nations, would certainly guard the rights of the country without reference to any predilection on any preceding issue."

Discussing the President's aim to obtain parity and reduction, Senator Fess continued:

"The President of the United States would never yield to anything less than parity."

Senator Fess then pointed out that the United States can not accept the light cruisers which Great Britain needs as a substitute for 10,000-ton cruisers. America must demand the large cruisers, he insisted, because the United States has only five or six naval stations while Great Britain has more than 50, "located everywhere over the civilized sea."

Small Cruiser Not Suitable.

"A small cruiser would not serve America," the senator added, "because of our geographical situation. While Great Britain demands the 6,000-tonnage with a 6-inch gun, because that is all that is necessary between her and near stations, we demand the 10,000-ton cruiser and the 10 or 8 inch gun, because the smaller cruiser would not serve our purpose, as any one must see. * * *

"I am hopeful that the conference may be able to see the way open not to break. I do not think that the overthrow of the French government necessarily means that the conference is going to be broken."

The senator from Ohio urged patience on the part of the American people and the Senate and asked that President Hoover be not subjected to embarrassment and interference in his efforts to find parity and reduction at the conference.

LABOR DEPARTMENT JUBILEE OBSERVED

17th Anniversary of Founding Celebrated by Officers and Personnel.

DAVIS UNABLE TO ATTEND

The seventeenth anniversary of the Department of Labor was celebrated at the Mayflower Hotel last night with a reception and dance. Secretary James J. Davis, who was to have attended, was called fro mthe city as he was dressing for the affair.

The department's creation was the last official act of former President Taft in 1912. Since then, it was explained, it has been the custom of the personnel to gather the first week of March in commemoration of the event.

Dancing, card games, vocal selections by Mrs. Starr Sprinkle and exhibition dancing by little Miss Williett Sprinkle were features of the entertainment, held in the main ballroom of the hotel. Refreshments were served shortly after midnight.

Among those present were Robe Carl White, Assistant Secretary of of Labor, W. W. Husband, Second Assistant Secretary; Representative M. W. Shreve, of Pennsylvania, and several members of the House Imigration committee.

PLAYGROUND SOUGHT BY CITIZENS' GROUP

Columbia Heights' Unit Will Ask Congress for Funds for Project.

CITY PLANNER SPEAKS

The Columbia Heights Citizens Association adopted a resolution last night requesting Congress to appropriate sufficient money for the purchase of a tract for the creation of a childrens' playground in the section bounded by Euclid street, Park road, Thirteenth street and Sherman avenue.

The association also went on record as favoring half street car fare for school children, matrons in elementary schools, six-day pay for employes of the District Water Department, the establishment of one of the two proposed incinerators at the foot of Second street southeast, and the enforcement of strict regulations prohibiting parking of bicycles, push-carts and the like near fire plugs.

A motion to indorse the recommendation of the Congressional commission for the purchase of land for the establishment of a municipal airport was referred to the executive committee with authority to act. A proposal that the organization reaffirm its stand opposing the nomination of Maj. Herbert Crosby for District Commissioner resulted in a tie with a number of members not voting.

Charles W. Eliot, city planner of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, gave an illustrated talk on plans for the development of some of the major thoroughfares in the District. He made particular reference to the "bottle neck" conditions in Columbia Heights, calling the congestion there "the worst in the city."

Maj. A. M. Holcombe, chairman of a special committee of the Federation of Citizens Association, made a brief talk in behalf of the plan to raise approximately $50,000 by donation and appropriation by Congress to cast in bronze the celebrated buffalo statue by H. K. Bush-Brown. His talk was also illustrated.

Four new members were admitted.

CRITICS OF HOOVER ANSWERED BY DAVIS

consideration a suggestion of the advisability of calling a national unemployment conference, along the lines of the 1921 unemployment conference initiated by President Harding. At that time Mr. Hoover, as Secretary of Commerce, headed the conference, which worked in close harmony with the labor department.

At the Cabinet meeting, it is understood, the President called for a general discussion of the unemployment situation. He asked Secretary Davis to produce the figures of present unemployment.

Mr. Davis, later in his statement, said that a fair estimate of the new census would be that something like 46,000,000 individuals are earning a living in the United States.

3,000,000 Out of Jobs.

"Certainly 43,000,000 of them are at work today," he said, leaving the 3,000,000 difference in the jobless column.

Taking up the remarks in the Senate, Senator Wagner, who had accused President Hoover of juggling unemployment figures and with not encouraging legislation proposed by New York's senator to provide facilities for a proper index of unemployment, Secretary Davis said:

"Senator Wagner makes a great show of indignation that the administration has not been able to overcome the whole of the terrific dislocation of business and consequent unemployment from the stock crash in New York, the senator's home city.

Present Needs Are Stressed.

"Senator Wagner's own proposals are for more Federal agencies and more statistics, and as I see it, hopedfor cures of the result of future crashes. I am in accord with them. However, none of these things creates jobs right now. For what they are worth the present administration recommended necessary expansion in employment agencies and statistics through the Department of Labor budget, not yet passed by the Senate.

"But of far more importance, as I see it, is the urgent necessity for the public buildings bill which passed the House, the appropriations for public works in the deficiency bill now awaiting Senate action."

Then Mr. Hoover's Secretary of Labor launched into a defense of the administration, and chronicled again what it has done to remedy unemployment.

What Administration Has Done.

"I admit that there is distressing unemployment," he said, "but for the first time in the history of these events, by its actions and policies, the administration has held unemployment to less than one-half of that in previous crashes, and by stabilization of wages and cooperation of the business world, work is being provided in a way that should relieve most of this within the very near future.

"While employment for the week of February 17, as compared with February 10, showed a decrease of three-tenths of 1 per cent, the situation today is greatly improved over the low point of last December.

"The construction program worked out by President Hoover exceeds 1929 and is having its effect and Secretary of Commerce has announced a $7,000,000,000 program for the Government and other civic agencies."

6. A dispute about inclusion of Japanese training ships in categories.

The experts committee, after twelve sittings, has at last reached agreement on special or exempt vessels, a sort of naval museum of antiquities including almost every kind of freak vessels owned by the various governments, except royal yachts, and not including, said one conference wag, the Mayflower or the ark.

Bombing of Merchantmen.

The experts are reported to have agreed that ships employed by the United States Coast Guard to combat rumrunners, with one exception, will not be included with the vessels subject to any naval limitation treaty that may be negotiated here. This exemption will not apply, however, to destroyers loaned to the Coast Guard by the Navy, of which there are at present some 25.

The subcommittee on submarines will begin tomorrow discussion of the size of undersea craft; but not of their use or limitation.

Another complexity of the war on merchantmen was touched upon in the House of Commons today when Sir Herbert Samuel asked the prime minister whether bombing of merchantmen from the air would be dealt with. Premier MacDonald at first said he did not know, but pressed as to whether under the Root convention prohibition of such practices is not implied, he said he thought the subject might be dealt with under the conference resolution dealing with humanizing of the submarine.

French, Americans Cited.

When the "Big Five" take up the first committee's report on the compromise table of categories, on Friday if the French delegates arrive in time for a session then, an important controversy will at once come up. The Americans stand absolutely firm for no limitation on the size of 6-inch-gun cruisers, in their anxiety to build 9,500-ton ships of this class which will have a cruising range of 15,000 miles. The British, supported by the Japanese, still hold out for a no-man's zone between 7,500 tons and 10,000 tons within which no cruisers can be built at all. Betting on this issue should show heavy odds on the Americans, who are clearly determined not to budge; but much argument and many days will elapse before settlement can be reached.

Behind the scenes in the Labor party there is much activity on the part of Labor M. P.'s who believe that the British delegation is in the hands of the admiralty and that MacDonald is too much afraid of Winston Churchill and the big navy school to deal with issues in the radical manner many of his supporters expect. Meetings have ish delegation severely heckled. The been held and members of the Britlatter assured the alarmed M. P.'s that all difficulties are the fault of the French and the Americans, the former because of their building program, the latter because they won't discuss limitation of the size of battleships.

Last of $350,000,000 Merger Stock in Hand

Cleveland, March 4 (A.P.).—Deposits of stock sufficient to complete the $350,000,000 merger of the Republic Steel Corporation were announced today by the special committee handling details of the merger.

The committee said it expected boards of directors of the constituent companies to meet within ten days and stockholders to meet shortly afterward to give final approval to the project.

Approval of a 50-per cent reduction in the number of outstanding no-par capital shares of the Transcontinental Oil Co. was voted by stockholders meeting in Tulsa today. They will receive one new share for each two old shares held. They also approved an increase in the authorized capital stock from 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 shares to provide for future expansion.

Suitor Kills Woman And Self After Quarrel

Plant City, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—A young woman estranged from her husband and a youth who paid her attention were dead here today after a quarrel. Three weeks ago Mrs. Mary Lee Gagne, 18, was separated from her husbatnd. Ben Graves, 23, immediately began paying her court.

Last night he called at her home and the quarrel ensued. Members of her family said they heard two shots and entered the room to investigate. Both were lying on the floor with bullet wounds in their head. Graves was dead and Mrs. Gagne died a few hours later.

Gen. Weyler Sinking; Is Visited by Premier

Madrid, March 4 (A.P.).—Premier Berenguer today visited Gen. Valeriano Weyler, 92-year-old veteran of the colonial wars, who had gradually been sinking from a grave illness. King Alfonso and the royal family sent personal messages of solicitude.

The former captain-general of the Spanish forces in Cuba and the Philippines had several sinking spells during the afternoon. There were times when the spark of life seemed barely flickering, but the aged general's remarkable vitality each time prevailed. His family has virtually given up hope.

GRAND JURY TO GET NAPOLEON GEM CASE

ARCHDUKE TELLS STORY

New York, March 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The name of Charles F. Townsend, who sold the Archduchess Marie Therese's Napoleonic diamond necklace for $60,000 cash, sent her a check for $7,270 as her share, and departed for parts unknown, will be presented to the grand jury as soon as certain details are cleared up in the investigation of the sale, Assistant District Attorney Harold Hastings announced today.

Mr. Hastings made this announcement after the young Archduke Leopold, who witnessed the sale and who admitted receiving compensation, had told him about the transaction.

D. M. Michel, jeweler, who on February 11 bought the necklace, which the archduchess valued at $350,000, will be asked to visit the district attorney's office Thursday. Michel, who bought the necklace with the intention of removing the stones and recutting them, is preserving it intact pending solution of the case.

unt

The archduke said Townsend had solicited his aid in selling the necklace as soon as it arrived in this country, and that he considered his participation in the sale a strictly business matter. He said he did not know that a cablegram had been sent to Townsend January 23 revoking his power of attorney, or that he had acknowledged a letter which turned down an offer of $175,000.

Mr. Hastings would not tell how much compensation Leopold admitted receiving. Leopold admitted he had made a "gentleman's agreement" with Micheel that he was to have the setting, which Michel valued anywhere between $10 and $50.

Meanwhile the whereabouts of Townsend and his wife, who has lived much in the Far East and written under the name Princess Baronet, remain unknown.

charged Joseph C. Bray, the bank manager, and Haddow, with misapplication of bank funds and making false entries. The same two were named on two counts of misapplication in the second indictment. Claude Galmarino was listed as an aider and abettor.

The third indictment listed Rossiter as an aider and abettor in the misapplications and false entries by Bray and Haddow.

Bray and Haddow were charged with three counts of conspiracy to embezzle in the fourth indictment which named Keyston and Rossiter as aiders and abettors.

The fifth indictment charged conspiracy on the part of all nine men.

United States Attorney George J. Hatfield said that Bray and Haddow operated five "dummy accounts" under the names of two persons and by these accounts purchased and sold stock through the firm Lieb Keyston.

Specifically the indictments charged the members of the firm and the employes named with having known that the money the bank officials used in operating the dummy accounts was embezzled from the Bank of Italy. The rule of the San Francisco Stock Exchange prohibits member houses from carrying margin accounts for bank officers or employes without the consent of the directors of the bank.

The conspiracy, Mr. Hatfield said, operated over a period of four years, beginning in 1925, and was discovered last April. At that time Bray and Haddow were arrested by Federal authorities following their indictment on embezzlement charges. Prosecution of the two was held up, however, while national bank examiners investigated the books of the Bank of Italy branch. Today's indictments were the outgrowth of this continued investigation by the examiners.

The grand jury set bail for Haddow and Bray at $25,000, each; Rossiter, $15,000, and Keyston and Galmarino at $10,000 each. Bail for the other was fixed at $5,000.

Pedestrian Struck by Auto.

He was knocked down at Twenty-first and L streets northwest. Police are seeking the driver, who fled the scene.

NECKLACE SALE IS QUESTIONED

Archduke Leopold of Austria was questioned by New York authorities regarding the sale to a New York dealer of a diamond necklace originally made for Napoleon's Empress Marie Louisa. The necklace which sold for $60,000 was valued at $400,000 by its owner, the Archduchess Marie Theresa of Austria, who received but $7,270 of the sale price. Investigation was brought about by Mrs. Anna Eisenmenger (left), who claims to be the legal representative of the archduchess.

$6,000 IN CLOTHING STOLEN FROM STORE

PLACE ENTERED BEFORE

Smashing the lock of a front door, a band of thieves invaded Brealau's, Inc., women's apparel shop at 1309 G street northwest, early yesterday morning and raided the racks of 400 dresses, 125 coats and several hundred pieces of lingerie. Store officials, after taking an inventory, estimated the loss at between $5,000 and $8,000.

The robbery was the fourth in the last three years at the establishment. When John Lyles, colored porter, opened the shop shortly after 8 o'clock yesterday morning he found the display dummies void of exhibition dresses, the racks looted of dresses and lingerie and the place in complete disorder.

A. Sachs, manager of the establishment, was notified and Detectives C. P. Cox, John Foley and Thomas Sullivan, of headquarters, were sent to investigate. The detectives reported that the thieves apparently used a hammer in smashing the lock.

The thieves were shielded by shades on the doors and windows of the shop as they looted the street floor salesroom. In the three other robberies the thieves entered through a transom of the building.

POLICE LACK MOTIVE IN DOCTOR'S SLAYING

CASE DEVOID OF CLEWS

Cleveland, March 4 (A.P.).—Investigation of the slaying of Dr. Alfred Scully in his downtown office here last night, seemed to have reached an impasse tonight. Detectives said it was one of the most mysterious cases they ever encountered.

All the ordinarily probable motives for a murder—narcotics, robbery, revenge, love—were considered as the detectives endeavored to build up a theory of the case, but no evidence was found to substantiate any of them. The crime apparently was devoid of any worthwhile clews.

The doctor's quiet, somewhat reclusive life, itself added to the mystery. Although he had a large practice here for 30 years, none of his patients seemed to have been intimate enough to know anything important concerning the doctor's life or to offer any tangible ideas why he was killed or by whom.

Dr. F. Wood, who had adjoining offices, found Dr. Scully's body when he rushed in after hearing a call for help. Dr. Scully had been shot near the heart and his skull had been crushed, but Dr. Wood had not heard the shot nor any struggle. He found no one in Dr. Scully's office. There was $41 left in Dr. Scully's pockets.

Miss Marion Ursic, former secretary, and Miss Mary O'Brady, present secretary in the doctor's office, said they had not seen the doctor for several hours previous to his death.

Dr. Scully came from a well-known family of Lindsey, Ontario, and had been educated at McGill University, Montreal.

He leaves a sister, Edith, who is mother superior in a Toronto convent, and a brother, Jerry, who made a fortune in oil in California. The brother was en route to Cleveland tonight, making at least part of the trip by airplane.

Dancers Pay $50 in Costs As Marathon Is Stopped

Five Couples, Apparently None the Worse for Having Tripped Fantastic Since November 16, Joke in Court Near Detroit.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., March 4 (A.P.).—Collection of $50, as court costs, from ten marathon dancers, in justice court here this afternoon brought to an end the proceedings by which Macomb County authorities broke up an endurance contest at Eastwood Park, East Detroit, after several abortive attempts.

The five young men and five young women who shortly after midnight today were taken from the floor where they had danced since November 16, were arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct. The charges were dismissed with payment by each defendant of $5 costs. The charge of disorderly conduct was based on the allegation that the young couples received alms in public, the alms being money thrown to them by spectators. This step was taken after a long wrangle in court here over whether the State labor commissioner might stop the dancers and hold a hearing to determine whether they were employed in violation of the statute which makes 54 hours a week and ten hours a day the maximum time a woman may be employed for wages.

C. A. Pressey, promoter of the dance, said that approximately $2,600, representing prizes and a percentage of the gate would be divided among the ten dancers. It also was stated on his behalf that the contributions from spectators had been so large that each of the dancers has from $700 to $1,000.

The ten dancers laughed and joked as they were brought into court here. They had been put to bed after the dance was stopped, but were aroused at intervals in order to let them get accustomed to long periods of sleep gradually. The announced rest period during the dance period varied from two to eight minutes to the hour.

German Officer Forgives Host, Pajamaed Governor

Commander of Cruiser Emden Offended When Louisiana Executive Greets Him in Lounging Robe, But Fires Salvo When Apology Is Made.

New Orleans, La., March 4 (A.P.).—Gov. Huey P. Long, who scoffs at conventions and boasts of being a "Hill-Billy," today had succeeded in smoothing the ruffled feelings of Commander Lothar von Arnauld de la Periere, of the German cruiser Emden, who took offense at being received by the governor in green silk pajamas and a lounging robe.

The German commander threatened to weigh anchor and steam out of New Orleans harbor unless the governor formally apologized for the slight to German dignity. At first Gov. Long refused, saying:

"Apologize! For what? Why I treated them like home folks."

But his friends finally convinced him that serious international complications might develop from the incident and Gov. Long agreed to go aboard the Emden and present his apologies. Then it was discovered the governor did not possess formal morning wear necessary for the occasion. His friends dressed him up. The governor balked at the high silk hat and went aboard with a snappy gray felt tucked under his arm.

"I was hoping that this morning I might have the opportunity here to apologize for the indecorous raiment in which I was attired when you called to see me yesterday morning," said the governor. "I am really very much hurt over the incident. There is a great deal I might say. I undertook to explain to the consul."

The commander assured the governor that his apology was accepted and they chatted together for a few minutes. As the governor left, the Emden fired a seventeen-gun salute and the incident was closed.

The embarrassment arose when the German commander, in full dress uniform, went with the German consul, Rolf L. Jaeger, to the governor's apartment in the Roosevelt Hotel to pay his formal respects. They were escorted to the governor's quarters by Seymour Weiss, lieutenant colonel on the governor's staff.

They caught the governor in repose.

He donned a blue silk lounging robe and blue morocco bedroom slippers and stepped out to greet his guests. Aghast and dumbfounded, the Germans greeted the governor, exchanged courtesies and then quickly withdrew.

A cold does 3 things
"Pape's" stops them all

A cold always affects you in at least three ways. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are clogged with acid wastes from the mucous discharge. So doctors say you must do three things to be rid of a cold.

Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal discharge stops; head clears; breathing becomes easy. See how that achy, feverish, weak feeling disappears. And "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It activates bowels and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores — 35c. Just remember "Pape's."

Taxi Man Reutrns $45,000 in Jewels

Woman Left Gems in Cab on Way From Capital to New York.

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—A purse containing jewelry valued at $45,060, left in a taxicab Monday by Mrs. John E. Parsons, was turned over to police today by Clodomiro Ruiz, 30, cab driver. He found the jewelry in his cab Monday night.

A reward of $5,000 had been published by an insurance company for the return of the jewels.

Mrs. Parsons, the former Fanny Wickes, daughter of Forsyth Wickes, of Tuxedo, N. Y., left the purse in the taxicab yesterday as she and her husband were returning home from a visit in Washington, D. C.

The jewelry consisted of two necklaces, two rings, two diamond bracelets, a pearl ring and a pair of pearl and diamond earrings.

Youth Seized on Roof After Braving Gun Fire

Seized on the roof of a back porch at 1217 Euclid street northwest, after two shots had been fired into the air to induce his surrender, a 14-year-old colored youth, Frank Julius Parker, of Harvard street near Seventh street northwest, was arrested by Tenth Precinct police last night on charges of housebreaking. He was transferred to the Receiving Home.

George I. Martin, occupant of the Euclid street residence, told police he saw the boy in the back yard and attempted to grab him. He said the youth clambered onto the porch roof and that he was finally caught when Mr. Martin ran to a second story window. Police said they found $24 on the boy.

No Mere Man Can Ever Know the Pains and the Misery a Woman Often Endures

WHEN a woman—young or older—is afflicted with dizzy spells or periodic pains or other annoying symptoms, she should write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., for free and confidential medical advice. Many women have been saved from a life of misery by so doing.

One who has used the R which Dr. Pierce prescribed most frequently when in active practice said:

"When I was nursing one of my babies I had a breakdown in health, I was so weak and nervous I was not able to do my work—could hardly stand on my feet. I grew thin and pale, was nothing but a physical wreck. I finally decided to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it relieved me of my weakened and rundown state and restored me to good health. I don't think there is any tonic so good for weak women as the 'Prescription.'"—Mrs. Mary E. Young, Rural Route 3, Hagerstown, Md.

For 10c Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., will send you a trial package of Favorite Prescription tablets. Your druggist can supply you with this medicine in liquid or tablets.

COUNTY ANNEXATION MEASURE IS PASSED

SATURDAY ENDS SESSION

Richmond, Va., March 4.—Arlington County, under a House bill advanced by the Senate to third reading today, would protect itself against further annexation, the measure providing that no part of a county with an area of less than 30 square miles may be annexed by any city, and the provision, while general in form, applies only to Arlington. That county was cut down to 30 miles by the recent annexation by which Alexandria received a large slice of one of the more populous corners of the county.

The House and Senate worked along at top speed on uncontested measures which already had been passed by the opposite branch, and the only out-of-the-ordinary act was the killing by the Senate committee of the House bill establishing the teachers retirement fund. It did, however, pass out favorably a bill that provides a commission to study the matter to report back in 1932.

The House adopted a resolution offered by Delegate C. W. Crowder, of Richmond, calling for a study by the State Corporation Commission of the small-loan business in Virginia with a view to curtailing the 42 per cent charge now made by the companies. The Senate committee on insurance and banking reported it favorably later in the day, and it will be before the upper house today for concurrence. Another commission-naming resolution offered by Delegate Hugh Reid, of Arlington, to determine the policy of the State as to State insurance in lieu of workmen's compensation threatens to be a fighting point in the Senate tomorrow. Senator Hill Montague, of Richmond, having today warned Senator Frank I. Ball, of Arlington, that he will protest the proposal.

The Senate roads committee this afternoon approved the House bill that would raise the speed limit on Virginia roads from 35 to 45 miles an hour. Under the construction of the Virginia speed law by several courts, there is at present no limit, a speed above the official limit being held as prima facie evidence of recklessness in case of accident.

The last of the seafood legislation will come up in the House tomorrow and will pass, it is believed, in spite of a fight that will be made on it on the grounds that it will raise taxes, whereas the campaign pledge of Gov. Pollard was lower taxes. Tax reduction to the extent of $300,000 already has been provided in an income tax bill.

The House, with only six dissenting votes, today passed the garden club bill, introduced by Senator Waller Holladay, of Richmond, which provides for a landscape architect, to be paid $3,600, for the State highway commission, which official would cooperate with women's clubs and other organizations in beautifying the highways of the State through the planting of flowers, trees, and shrubs along the rights-of-way. Another measure, passed Saturday, would make it unlawful for any motorist to break or carry away flowers or shrubs from the right-of-way or to leave picnic rubbish beside the roads.

Several contested matters will come up today and the conferees may report on the salary tangle which is holding the appropriation bill dangerously long. Unless some agreement can be reached, it is possible that adjournment may have to be delayed past Saturday, the official end of the regular session, when the salaries of all legislators end.

Two Firemen Hurt Combatting Blaze

Falling Timbers of Burning House Cut Both Men on Head.

Two Washington firemen were injured yesterday while fighting a fire which destroyed the roof of the home of J. M. Cummings, 209 East Thornapple street, Chevy Chase, Md. The firemen were struck by falling timbers.

G. D. Meese, of No. 12 truck company, was hit on the head, causing a three-inch laceration. He was treated by Dr. Thomas K. Conrad, of Chevy Chase. C. E. McFarland, also of No. 12 truck, was cut on the head. He was treated by members of the Chevy Chase Rescue Squad.

The fire was discovered shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Bethesda, Chevy Chase and Kensington Volunteer Fire Departments responded to the alarm, with Engine Companies No. 20 and 28. The entire roof of the house was burned off. The damage, amounting to several thousand dollars, is covered by insurance.

Center Market Hearing Scheduled for Friday

Hearings on the bill for a new Center Market will begin before the Senate District committee at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, Chairman Capper announced yesterday.

The bill authorizes $1,300,000 for the new market, which would take the place of the structure which soon is to be torn down to make way for the Department of Justice Building.

Maryland Slayers' Plea For New Trial Is Denied

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., March 4.—Charles Lewis and Leslie Clark must serve a life sentence and 15 years in prison, respectively, for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Clyde L. Hauver, motion for a new trial having been denied by a full bench in circuit court late today. Chief Judge D. Lindlay Sloan handed down the opinion, which was concurred in by Associate Judges Albert A. Doub and Frank G. Wagaman.

Lewis was found guilty last December of first degree murder by the three judges, while Clark was adjudged guilty of second degree murder, growing out of the fatal shooting of Hauver, while the officer, accompanied by a number of other deputies, was raiding a moonshine camp in the mountains near Thurmont on the afternoon of July 31, 1929.

Capital Preacher Fined As Reckless Car Driver

The Rev. George Washington Brent, colored, 106 Corcoran street northeast, yesterday was fined $11.50 on charges of reckless driving by Justice of the Peace Howard U. Gosnell, of Savage, Md. The preacher was arrested by Maryland State Policeman C. C. Serman, of the Laurel Substation.

According to the testimony, the preacher was driving his car in such a zig-zag manner that other motorists complained. The evolutions of his car finally ended when it crashed through the hedge fence of Judge Gosnell and collieded with a tree. He indignantly denied that he had been driving recklessly.

BOARD BEGINS WORK ON SCHOOL BUDGET

Prince Georges Commission Holds Conference on Transportation.

NO AGREEMENT REACHED

Following a conference with the Prince Georges County Commissioners yesterday, members of the county board of education began preparation of their annual school budget for 1930-1931. The conference developed no definite agreement on the subject of free transportation for high school children.

The conference touched upon transportation as a whole and upon the new school buildings which have been asked for the new year. The commissioners did not commit themselves, but suggested that the board proceed with its budget preparation and then hold another conference.

The board then returned to the board of education offices and prepared a part of the budget. The following resolutions were adopted:

"First, that the annual budget carry the sum of $24,000 for transportation of pupils over existing bus lines; second, that additional bus lines be provided as follows: The pupils to be charged $20 a year, the charge to be payable quarterly, in advance—Mitchellville and vicinity to Marlboro High School, Accokeek to Oxon Hill High School, Young's Store to Marlboro Colored High School; third, that high school pupils being transported on bus lines to the Oxon Hill High School be charged $20 a year and that this fund be used to establish a bus line from Fort Foote to Oxon Hill High School, and, fourth, that the capital outlay item in the budget include $8,000 for the erection of an addition to the Beltsville School. The board will meet again next Tuesday.

Two petitions for zoning amendments were approved by the county commissioners yesterday. Reclassification of lots 34 and 35 Daniels Park was ordered reclassified from residential "A" to commercial "D," as petitioned by Mrs. Sophie Colbert. The property is to be converted into a tourist camp.

The property of Horace J. Trotter, lots 1 and 2, block O, Fairmont Heights, was ordered changed from residential "A" to commercial "D" in order that a grocery store can be opened on that site.

The commissioners adopted a resolution of regret at the death of County Supervisor of Assessments Shreve, who died suddenly Monday.

Warren Countian, 101, Will Be Interred Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., March 4.—Bushrod Gore, Warren County's oldest citizen, died Monday night at the home of his son, C. R. Gore at Wapping, this county. Mr. Gore was born June 29, 1828, and had he lived until June of this year he would have celebrated his 102d birthday. He was born in Warren County and has resided here all of his life.

He is survived by seven children, as follows: Mrs. O. M. Roy, of Martinsburg, W. Va.; Mrs. Emanuel Strickley, Mrs. William Hoskins, Mrs. A. R. Johns, Miss Alice Gore, Messrs. L. O. and C. R. Gore, all of this county; 26 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home of his son C. R. Gore, conducted by the Rev. H. J. Parker, pastor of the Front Royal Baptist Church. Interment will be made in Prospect Hill Cemetery.

Bride Sues for Support After Secret Wedding

Alleging that the man she married insisted on keeping their marriage a secret for more than two months and that he then told her he could not "assume the responsibility of the marital state," because of his mother's objections, Evelyn E. Powers, of Riverdale, Md., yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to force J. Leo Powers, of 518 Newton street northwest, to support her.

The woman tells the court that she and the man were married on November 6, 1929, and that they agreed to keep the ceremony secret until the man had the opportunity to tell his mother that he had been married. She states that she repeatedly sought to have him announce the marriage, but that he refused to do so, finally telling her on January 7 last that he would not live with her. Attorney G. Lyle Hughes appears for the wife.

Danville Man, 33, Dies Of Car-Crash Injuries

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 4.—James Alexander, 33 years old, proprietor of the Danville Pool Room here, died in a Greensboro, N. C., hospital yesterday from injuries sustained when the automobile in which he was riding plunged down an embankment near the North Carolina city. Miles Karitianos, another occupant of the car is in the hospital suffering from a broken collarbone. His condition is not regarded as serious.

According to witnesses, Mr. Alexander, who was driving, apparently turned to speak to his companion, his attention being attracted momentarily, causing him to lose control of the car, which ran down the 12-foot embankment. The men were on their way to attend a supper in Greensboro. Mr. Alexander was unmarried and was a native of Greece.

Mrs. Alice Sirbaugh, 57, Is Dead at Cumberland

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., March 4.—Mrs. Alice Sirbaugh, 57, died yesterday at her home, 37 Virginia avenue, after an illness of three months. She was the wife of the late James H. Sirbaugh and was a native of West Virginia. Her residence in Cumberland covered 35 years.

Mrs. Sirbaugh is survived by three daughters, Mrs. V. W. Hull, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Miss Hilda Sirbaugh, a teacher in Allegany High School, Cumberland, and Miss Erma Sirbaugh, who teaches at Dixie, W. Va., opposite Cumberland. Two sisters, Mrs. Elmus Bowers and Mrs. Sallie Hinds, both of near Paw Paw, W. Va., also survive. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon with burial in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Pratt Is Indorsed By Costello Post

Legionnaires Also Request Amendment to House Veterans' Bill.

Voicing confidence in Maj. Henry Pratt, superintendent of police, Vincent Costello Post, No. 15, of the American Legion, unanimously adopted a resolution, in regular session last night, indorsing his administration of affairs of the Metropolitan Police Department. The resolution was introduced by Past Commander William F. Franklin.

Another resolution unanimously adopted by the post asked an amendment to House resolution No. 9792, a proposed bill fostered by Representative Clarence J. McLeod, of Michigan, the provisions of which would give dependent widows and children of deceased veterans a flat sum of $5,000. Costello Post is asking that the bill be amended so as to include mothers and other dependents.

Last Sunday members of the post visited disabled veterans at St. Elizabeths Hospital and distributed over 200 packages of cigarettes. A week from next Sunday they plan a trip to Walter Reed for the same purpose, and each Sunday followinig they will visit a different hospital. Last night's meeting was presided over by Commander Richard A. O'Brien.

TARIFF DELAY AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

Senator Robinson, of Indiana, made the pertinent remark in Monday's unemployment debate. If positive action is necessary at this time, he observed, the duty to act falls on Congress and not on the President.

Monday's debate was precipitated by Senator Wagner who rose to speak in behalf of his measure to provide for the permanent collection and compilation of statistics with regard to the employment situation and the long-range planning of public construction. The administration has attempted to divert attention from the serious situation that exists, said the senator from New York. Democratic-insurgent forces rallied bitterly at the administration, but made no constructive suggestions.

The unemployment problem is serious. The full effect of the prosperity-sustaining program as adopted can not be felt at once. A great deal of outdoor construction is contemplated in that program, but it can not be inaugurated until the weather breaks. From now on it is logical to expect a general quickening of activity.

Senator Wagner's bill to provide for the regular collection and compilation of statistical data with respect to employment and the long-range planning of public works should be passed. No one is opposed to the measure in principle. The bill has not been deliberately held up. But like other important measures, its consideration has been obstructed by the tariff fight. The coalition attack on the tariff is largely responsible for the fact that the Wagner bill has not been brought out of committee. The bill is scheduled to come before the commerce committee tomorrow and, once the tariff is disposed of, it will be given early consideration. If the coalition believes that the present emergency is serious enough to warrant congressional action, it should speed the enactment of the tariff bill. Disposition of the tariff bill not only will enable the Senate to tackle other important measures but it will enable industry to take stock of the situation and lay definite plans to go forward. Some of the blame for industrial depression lies at the door of the very senators who are trying to make political capital for themselves by falsely charging the Republican party with responsibility for slack times. The tariff delay and coalition threats have frightened many industries and kept men in idleness.

Pass the tariff bill, senators, and get rid of the incubus that is sapping American prosperity!

UTILITY VALUATIONS.

Because of the widespread uncertainty and confusion in existing methods of fixing valuation on which to base rates charged by public utilities, the report of the New York commission on public utility regulation is unusually interesting. Members of the commission split into majority and minority groups, and a political fight is in sight.

Two definite plans were submitted to the Legislature. The minority plan is important because the majority plan is built upon it. Prof. James C. Bonbright proposed that base value for rate-making purposes be determined for all utilities, except railways, by a legislative mandate. An initial valuation would be made on the basis of actual cost, reproduction cost, general expenditures, depreciation and all other relevant factors. Once determined, this valuation would remain unchanged, without regard to price fluctuations, costs of construction, &c. Additional investments would be added to the value fixed by law, and the public service commission would always know the exact legal value of each utility.

The majority members of the commission rejected this plan on the ground that it is unconstitutional, in that it might amount to confiscation of utility properties. Instead they propose that basic valuations be agreed upon by contract. The public service commission would make an appraisal of each utility's property, and on that basis would fix the valuation of each by means of a ten-year contract with the companies concerned. New investments would be taken into consideration and provision would be made for depreciation within that period. Otherwise the valuations agreed upon would remain unchanged for ten years. At the end of each decade new contracts would be entered into in the same manner.

In case any companies refused to enter into contract with the commission the original appraisal would be available as a rate base. The commission would be expected to keep such valuations up to date through an efficient accounting system.

This study strikes at the heart of the public utility problem. Supervision and control of utilities turns and will continue to turn on valuation. At present there is no accepted method of fixing values, and public utilities commissions in all the States flounder about in complicated litigation and uncertainty. It is imperative that a scientific method of valuation be adopted if regulation is to become effective. The so-called breakdown of the public utility commissions can be traced to their inability to establish definite valuations.

The New York plan offers a definite method of fixing values, which, if once established beyond question, would put an end to a large proportion of the public utility controversies. It would provide exact accounting control. On the whole it seems to be the most comprehensive plan that has been offered to correct existing conditions.

TURNING MEN INTO CATTLE.

Russia's communist leaders are becoming unusually candid. Stalin has confessed that his remorseless scheme to force the Russian people into collectivism is not a 100 per cent success. Now comes Michael Kalinin, president of the central executive committee, and divulges the Soviet's bold plot to "remake man."

The peasants are now told that they are to be metamorphosed into a new kind of being which might be called a "collectivite." They are no longer to be men with individual personality, with the right to live in their own way and according to their own ambitions. The proletariat dictatorship has decided that to allow peasants to work their own farms is a waste of time and energy which can not be tolerated. Man must therefor be converted into something else—an animal in a great herd, driven by unseen masters.

The supergovernment directed by a clique of bolshevists, who constitute but a small percentage of the population of Russia, has decided "that this move toward socialization is best for the masses." "Therefore," says Kalinin, "we can not allow individual suffering to influence us. However harsh and painful the extermination of the kulaks may seem, it is absolutely necessary, because it insures the healthy development of the collective farm organism." Human life counts for little more than that of the cattle which the kulaks are slaughtering to keep them from falling into the hands of the Soviet.

"We have begun to remake man," Kalinin says, "and have just begun." When the process is complete each peasant and workman will work according to his capacity and be rewarded according to his needs—just as does the horse in civilized countries. If the peasants work faithfully each will receive his quarter of a pound of meat daily, says the executive committee chief, "but if they fail in this, then God help them to get their bread." Under the Soviet regime the peasant is doomed to the status of a beast of burden, with nothing more to look forward to than meager fare and toil under pain of death.

It would be interesting to know how many of the peasants who have joined the communist movement realize their destiny. Seldom if ever have they been told so brutally what their fate is to be. It does not seem possible that 100,000,000 peasants can be transformed into dumb driven cattle.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Publication of J. Reuben Clark's treatise on the Monroe Doctrine is timely. A popular misunderstanding of the principles underlying this fundamental American policy may be cleared up by Mr. Clark's memorandum. Since the treatise was prepared by Mr. Clark as Undersecretary of State and has been held in confidence by the Senate foreign relations committee since 1928, it may be assumed to represent the views of the administration.

The essence of this document is that "the doctrine states a case of the United States vs. Europe, and not of the United States vs. Latin America." Mr. Clark shows that the steps taken in recent years to preserve order in certain Latin-American republics do not fall under the Monroe Doctrine as it was originally proclaimed. These proceedings, he says, "may be accounted for as the expression of a national policy which, like the doctrine itself, originates in the necessity of security or self-preservation." Latin America is the beneficiary and not the victim of the policy proclaimed by President Monroe.

"Furthermore," writes Mr. Clark, "the fact should never be lost to view that in applying this doctrine during the period of 100 years since it was announced our Government has over and over again driven it in as a shield between Europe and the Americas to protect Latin America from the political and territorial thrusts of Europe; and this was done at times when the American nations were weak and struggling for the establishment of stable, permanent governments; when the political morality of Europe sanctioned, indeed encouraged, the acquisition of territory by force, and when many of the great powers of Europe looked with eager covetous eyes to the rich, undeveloped areas of the American hemisphere. * * * So far as Latin America is concerned, the doctrine is now, and always has been, not an instrument of violence and oppression, but an unbought, freely bestowed and wholly effective guaranty of their freedom, independence and territorial integrity against the imperialistic designs of Europe."

The real scope of the Monroe Doctrine is too frequently misunderstood in the South American republics. It is too often made a source of antagonism toward the United States when there is nothing in it to justify that reaction.

FRANCIS T. HOMER.

The death of Francis T. Homer, of Baltimore, is deplored by many friends in Washington. For many years Mr. Homer was in close touch with various business interests here, and his counsel was highly prized. An able lawyer, a thorough student of economics, and a delightful associate is gone.

In the larger field of New York and Philadelphia Mr. Homer took rank with the most capable organizers and executives. His career was marked by devotion to the fundamentals of integrity and truth, upon which all enduring enterprises must rest. He was unwearied in his search for true principles in law, business and sociology, and his restless intellect ranged over wide fields of human interest. Although severely handicapped by ill health in recent years, Mr. Homer never ceased his studies, and his advice and counsel bore the stamp of careful thought. Like other modest but gifted citizens, Mr. Homer was best appreciated by those who knew him best. He sought to do good, not merely to gain public notice. When he accomplished good he was satisfied with his work and did not advertise his virtues or achievements.

The Washington Post, of which Mr. Homer was a director for many years, joins his other friends in grateful remembrance of his faithful friendship and in mourning his death.

SPEEDING UP PUBLIC WORK.

Secretary Davis does not think much of Senator Brookhart's proposal to pauperize jobless men by putting them on the dole. The $50,000,000 which Senator Brookhart would dole out from the Treasury would not be a drop in the bucket if given to workless individuals, but if concentrated upon public works it would furnish jobs for many men, besides producing something valuable in return for the outlay.

Now is the time for the administration to push its public works program. During his campaign Mr. Hoover suggested the preparation of plans for public works, which could be taken up during periods of slack employment and thus keep the wheels going. No one at that time expected to see a large increase of idleness, but here it is, and everything practical should be done to check it and its evil consequences.

Among other items, the administration can put some pep into the public building operations in Washington. A lot of wrecking of old structures must be done. The money is on hand, and nothing is to be gained by delaying this clearing of the ground for new buildings and parking. Why not expedite this work? The tumbledown buildings between the new Commerce building and Pennsylvania avenue await demolition. They were condemned years ago. This area is to be parked eventually; why not now? The wrecking operations would give work to a lot of unskilled men with families.

Wherever money has already been appropriated for public works the Government should speed up operations. Lessees holding condemned buildings should help by getting out as quickly as possible.

When Dr. Estes, the advocate of raw foods, can't keep his wife from suing for divorce, what chance is there for the average husband?

Dr. Cherrington urges true prohibitionists to boycott the Literary Digest dry poll. Now let the wets sidestep, too, and each side can claim a glorious victory.

Secretary Adams promises that the naval parley delegates will "sit 'til they settle." The sensible thing to do when settling is not to sit, but to get out the lifeboats.

SHOP TALK ABOARD SHIP

By Lieut. JOHN F. MADDEN, U. S. N.,
In the Naval Institute.

Who is not familiar with the ever-present group of watch-standers who, after the movies, congregate in the wardroom and there with their heels up higher than their heads, hand down decisions on such matters as may come under discussion? This group is generally either tolerated or denounced, but seldom praised. They should, however, receive recognition for their contributions to what we may broadly term experience.

Draw up a chair as the toreadors unfurl their red capes and, lubricating their vocal organs with one or two shots of Java, burst into full cry. Lend an attentive ear and you will hear and learn of many things: what Bill Jones did when the turret caught on fire, and what "Red" Smith didn't do when his submarine expended a starboard "wheel" and his stern "skags" coming alongside something or other in San Francisco Bay; of "Pay" Carruthers who made Title "B" custodies a joy to all concerned, and how "Doc" Brown soothes the heebie-jeebies; of "Al" Anderson, student naval aviator, who made a dead-stick landing in the Bayou Saragossa; and of how Jim Green, judge advocate, utterly confounded the legal talent of the defense by a cagey display of legal dodges.

Then you will hear discussed the latest mooring boards; fire-control installations and problems; the latest misbehavior of Mr. Sumner's lines; what chicanery was practiced to enable the U. S. S. Strawbottom to stand first in the destroyer engineering competition; why the British spotting system is all wet; what makes the Lexington and Saratoga faster than the old Emma Giles; and why light bombing planes should, by surface ships, be viewed with alarm.

In most cases, unless some master mind has the deck, for each theory advanced will be found some individual, or group of individuals, who will rise up and state, in no uncertain terms, that the advancers are full of oats. Then indeed will the flood gates of previous experience be thrown open and the battle rage with fury.

Finally you will be asked to shed a tear for Capt. Brown who tried to take the U. S. S. Ark to Boston by the overland route via Cape Cod; to remember Jack White who filed no complaint when his parachute failed to open; and to consider the case of "Bat" Smith who temporarily confused red and green. The tragedies of each will be thoroughly discussed and the various preventions and remedies paraded for your information and approval.

It is hard to believe that battleship people talk, amongst themselves, only of the pay bill and prohibition. Perhaps the closer association of people on smaller ships makes the discussion of greater interest to all, but even on a battle wagon you should be able to find a group of congenial souls who will either accept your verbal information or else tell you it is all wet.

This applies also to contact with officers of foreign navies. The British, in Hongkong, told our submarine people of a method of turning a boat in a short distance that defied all the rules on the subject. They did not know who originated it, or why it worked; they only knew that it did work. On trial our people also found that it worked. So now if you see our submarines in San Diego or elsewhere slipping around the sterns of ships in a most unorthodox manner, you are observing the fruits of a wardroom meeting, ably assisted by the excellent soda found in Hongkong.

JUST FOLKS

THE ARTIST.

Once you get the name of artist, you're the outcast of the clan,
You may sing or paint a picture, but you're not a business man.
You may be a violinist, but they'll look for nothing more,
They won't believe you understand that two and two are four,
And people will suspect you and be sure your work is bad
If ever they discover that you've also learned to add.

Strangers seem to have the notion that artistic souls must be
A freakish type of creatures which have eyes but can not see;
That their stock of worldly wisdom must be limited to art
So in ordinary matters they can't possibly be smart.
Should an artist once correctly ten from twenty-three subtract
Men will tell it to their neighbors as a most astounding fact!

Often voice the one conclusion that an artist isn't sane,
And they laugh about his methods and they think his manners strange,
As if they hadn't noticed that he always counts his change.
In his line he may be clever, but upon him there's a ban,
He can have no useful knowledge for he's not a business man!

Asks to look his records over I believe he'll find them straight.
There may be some details missing which he carelessly forgot
And perhaps some glaring errors he'll correct upon the spot,
But I'll bet St. Peter greets him in the friendliest way he can,
And passes him to glory, though he's not a business man.

The Blue Ribbon Is Won by the Best Dog, Not by His Owner.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE important man—the man who makes and preserves civilization—is not the high-born aristocrat or the heir of power and fortune, but the common man of obscure ancestry.

It is the common man who produces and builds and transports, and it is the common man who consumes finished products and thus completes the transaction that makes prosperity.

But the importance of the common man does not depend wholly on the multiplication of unimportant units.

He is important as an individual, and the qualities that make him important are inspired by the environment and the handicaps that made him common.

Thus commonness becomes the foundation of great achievement, for it engenders the discontent without which there is no progress.

Those born to high place, wealth or power may be able men, but they are content to mark time and enjoy their advantages.

There is no inspiration in contentment.

Common men have been leaders in every fight to assert and preserve the rights of man.

The world's great teachers have come from the ranks of the common people.

The great inventors have been common men.

The leaders in great crusades for virtue and righteousness have been common men.

These truths are known to every schoolboy.

But the man called common receives no praise for his greatest contribution to civilization, and the laurels that should be his are given to the high born, the wealthy and the powerful.

He is robbed of his deserts by a world that commonly compliments the owner of a house instead of the architect who designed it.

He conceives and develops the esthetic ornaments of civilization commonly called "culture," but the world gives its praise to those who possess and discuss the ornaments.

It is as though the critics should neglect the artists on the stage and give all credit to those who sit in front of the curtain and listen.

The aristocracy of birth and wealth—the so-called cultured class—does not produce our culture, but merely affords a market for the products of common men.

The culture of a land is its art—its sculpture, architecture, music, literature—and the men who conceive and create are the cultured men.

Those who purchase and observe and discuss the work of artists are "cultured" only in the sense that one who pays the piper is a musician.

If a lily sprouts in muck and grows tall to reach the sunlight, you may justly praise it or as justly praise the muck that gave it life; but why praise the passer-by who plucks it?

THE 13 DIAMONDS DIVORCE HEARING.

"A Chicago woman is suing her husband for a divorce because he hit her with a cut glass fruit bowl when she bid six no trumps and failed to take a single trick although she had thirteen diamonds in her hand."—News Item.

* * * *

Judge—Now, then, who was your wife's partner on the occasion when she held these thirteen diamonds and failed to take a trick?

Husband (sadly)—I was.

Judge—You are positive she failed to take one trick?

Husband—I am.

Judge—And her bid had been six no trumps, as I understand it?

Husband—Yes, yerroner.

Judge—Your wife charges you struck her as she played her last card. Is that true?

Husband—It certainly is.

Judge—With what did you strike her?

Husband—With a cut glass fruit bowl.

Judge—Would you mind showing us exactly how you did it? I will have your wife take a chair in front of you and I want you to hit her again with a fruit bowl just as you did on the night of the bridge game.

Husband—Gladly, yerroner.

Judge—The plaintiff will please come here and take a chair where her husband can reach her.

Wife (nervously)—Must I do this, yerroner?

Judge (whose own wife is a bad bridge player, too)—You must.

Wife—But I don't see why it is necessary.

Judge—I'm a bridge player myself and I want to see the technique employed in such a case.

Husband (anxiously, as he lifts a fruit bowl over his head)—Make her come here, judge, make her come here!

Judge—Don't get impatient. And put that bowl down.

Husband—Why?

Judge—I'm getting you a larger one.

(The court then reproduces the bridge game. The wife, with all diamonds in her hand, bids six no trumps. Her opponent, of course, leads another suit and she never takes a trick.)

Judge (to the husband)—Now go ahead and sock her.

Husband—Just as I did at the game?

Judge—A little harder, if anything.

Judge (very disappointedly)—No! No! No!

Husband—What's the matter, yerroner?

Judge—You can hit her harder than that. Here's another bowl. Now, then, remember, her bid was six no trumps. Ready? Let her have it again, now * * * with everything you have.

Husband (breaking the second bowl over her head)—Like that?

Judge—That's better, but far from satisfactory under the circumstances. I think I'll refuse the lady's petition for a divorce.

Wife (raising herself on one elbow) And why?

Judge (sternly)—A husband who can't hit a pardner any harder than that for bidding six no trumps on a thirteen diamond hand is comparatively gentle.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Certain Specially Qualified Federal Officials Should Be Exempted From Compulsory Retirement.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The most important feature of retirement legislation from the standpoint of the Government's interests has been entirely overlooked by the committees dealing with this subject.

There is a very earnest desire among the scientific departments and bureaus and by many other offices that provision be made for the retention after August 20 next of certain officials and employes who by reason of expert knowledge and special qualifications are invaluable to the Government.

The heads of the departments and bureaus concerned state that the situation is a most serious one, and that their work will be greatly handicapped and impeded if the proposed amendment granting further extensions of time in these special cases is not enacted before August 20 next. Their arguments in favor of this legislation are given at length in the annual report of the Civil Service Commission, pages 65 to 70, and in the report of the public printer, and are not advanced in the interest of the employes but solely for the efficiency of the Federal service.

The economic element in this proposed legislation must not be lost sight of. The retention of these expert officials, about 20 in number, would result in a saving of $24,000 in annuities, plus the deductions that would continue, averaging $200 per year, $4,000, making a saving in four years of over $100,000, besides the greater efficiency in the service by retaining the experienced officials.

Among these may be mentioned the editor of the U. S. Statutes, the editor of the Federal Budget, "Andy" Smith, the Congressional Record clerk; the chief of the Accident Bureau of the Interstate Commerce Commission; the chairman of the Geographic Board, the information officer of the District of Columbia, and many legal and scientific officials in the Department of Justice, the Library of Congress, Smithsonian Institution and other bureaus of the departments.

Can a Grizzly Whip a Tiger or a Lion? Pod Dismukes Quotes T. R. and Asks for Parity.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Relative to the assertion of one of your correspondents that a grizzly bear could whip a tiger, the opinion of Theodore Roosevelt as to the bear's fighting quality ("Hunting Trips of a Ranchman") may be worth printing.

Following the observation, "How the prowess of a grizzly compares with that of the lion or tiger would be hard to say," the Hunter President concludes: "Any one of the big bears we killed on the mountains would, I should think, have been able to make short work of either a lion or a tiger; for the grizzly is greatly superior in bulk and muscular power to either of the great cats, and its teeth are as large as theirs, while its claws, though blunter, are much longer."

It's enough to make the British lion roar. Too bad the grizzly's claws can't be clipped down to parity.

Protest Against Use of Pan-American Building to Exploit a Jazz Hero.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I want to utter a word of protest against the misuse of the Pan-American Union Building, as illustrated by the reception pulled off there by the Congressional Club. Many ingenious pretexts may be created for similar innovations in the future unless the fact is given emphasis that the structure was built and endowed by Andrew Carnegie for the interests in common of the American republics.

It is hardly in good taste for it to be employed under any guise for domestic social events, wholly unrelated to the aims and ideals of the Pan-American Association of States. Particularly is this the case when the event involves the use of a traveling jazz band.

Can it not be seen that confusion as to the ideals and practices of the Union is created when a function not in the field of inter-American relations and interests is permitted, with the newspapers featuring an individual in the moving picture realm?

Money Should Go to Foreign Missions Instead of Restoring Lee Home, Says Virginian.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Why spend the money on the restoration of Williamsburg, Va., and Stratford (R. E. Lee's home)? Collectors are now tagging the people for the purchase of Stratford. Why? Foreign and home missions are pleading so mightily for help, and there seems everywhere a new openness to the Gospel, but no money to send the messengers of peace, and the work already established in foreign lands is being retrenched and canceled for lack of funds.

If there were plenty for every cause it would be commendable to so honor the past. But how little people seem to realize that provision for missions is an everlasting asset, and that eternal matters are right upon us, and for that reason very practical!

WILLIAM FOX FACES BIGGEST TEST TODAY

Stockholders Will Consider Refinancing Plans Intended to Avert Receivership.

STUDIO TO BE SETTING

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—In an old studio a drama of the motion picture industry will be enacted tomorrow as stockholders in the $90,000,000 motion picture enterprise built up by William Fox consider refinancing plans in an effort to avoid a receivership.

The outcome of the battle tomorrow at the meetings of the stockholders of the Fox film and theaters corporations was clouded by cross-currents of developments today.

The meetings were called by directors of the two corporations, which Fox heads, to consider the refinancing plan which they have approved. An alternative plan was announced today by Halsey, Stuart & Co., with the statement it would be submitted to stockholders at the meeting tomorrow. Halsey, Stuart & Co., one of the principal creditors of the Fox companies, opposes the plan submitted by a group composed of Bancamerica-Blair, Dillon, Read & Co. and Lehman Bros.

Fox May Vote Stock.

Federal Judge Frank Coleman announced today that the stockholders could vote only on the plan approved by directors. In the event it is rejected, Judge Coleman has announced any practicable plan to extricate the companies from their financial difficulties precipitated by the stock market crash would be considered. Otherwise a receivership for the companies is the only alternative.

It was undecided tonight who could legally vote 50,000 shares of class B stock owned by Mr. Fox and placed in trust by him under an agreement with Harry L. Stuart, of Halsey, Stuart & Co., and John Otterson, president of the Electrical Research Products, Inc., creditors of the Fox companies to the extent of $27,000,000.

Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy stated tonight that the temporary restraining order granted Mr. Fox against the two other trustees would permit him legally to vote the 50,000 shares at the meeting tomorrow if a permanent order is not given.

Faces Greatest Battle.

Justice Levy said that he hoped to hand down his decision on the permanent injunction sought by Mr. Fox before the meeting tomorrow, but the briefs submitted were so voluminous that he might not be able to do so.

Asked if the trustees' plan could be voted upon at the stockholders' meeting Mr. Untermyer said, "not unless approved by the directors," and that the only consideration it could receive was in an argument against the plan favored by Mr. Fox.

The real battle, in which Mr. Fox's influence will be put to the greatest test in his 25-year development of his motion picture enterprise, is expected at the film meeting.

Curtis Takes Over Philadelphia Paper

Purchases Inquirer Stock; No Changes in Policy Are Planned.

Philadelphia, March 4 (A.P.).—Announcement was made tonight that Curtis-Martin Newspapers, Inc., has purchased the stock control of the Philadelphia Inquirer and that it will continue to be published as a separate newspaper. Curtis-Martin Newspapers, Inc., of which Cyrus H. K. Curtis is president, is the owner of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger and the New York Evening Post.

Following is the official announcement:

"Curtis-Martin Newspapers, Inc., has bought the stock control of the Philadelphia Inquirer Co. of Delaware, owner of the Daily and Sunday Philadelphia Inquirer, and has purchased all of the stock of the Philadelphia Inquirer Co. of Pennsylvania, owner of the Inquirer Building.

"The Philadelphia Inquirer will continue to be published as a separate newspaper and no changes in editorial or news policy, or in the operating staff are contemplated."

Irak May Ratify U. S. Treaty Soon

Tripartite Convention on Country's Standing Is Already Signed.

London, March 4 (A.P.).—A tripartite convention between the United States, Great Britain and Irak, which already has been signed in London by representatives of the three countries, is expected in authoritative quarters to be ratified by the Irak Parliament this session.

Under its provisions the United States would recognize Irak as an independent sovereign state, and the United States would be accorded most favored-nation treatment. The convention would provide for the non-interference of the Irak administration with American schools in Irak. The United States would recognize the special relations between Irak and Great Britain.

On termination of the arrangements for the special Anglo-Irak relations the United States and Irak will agree on a treaty regarding the relations of their respective nationals.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

IMPEACHED and removed as governor chiefly because his Legislature believed he was under the occult influence of his secretary, former Gov. Henry S. Johnston, of Oklahoma, has thrown his hat in the ring for U. S. senator. Reports from Will Rogers' State indicate that he has at least a fair chance of winning the Democratic nomination, if not the election. Alleged domination of Gov. Johnston by Mrs. Mamie Hammonds, his secretary, has been one of the picturesque phases of Southwestern politics for years now. In the campaign of 1928 it was known his enemies were trying to elect a Legislature which would impeach him, so he took the stump.

"Will you urge the election of Smith?" he was asked.

"If I get around to it," he replied.

But Oklahoma went for Hoover and elected an anti-Johnston Legislature, which proceeded last spring to oust him. Now Johnston has announced his platform, which consists of seven points. One of these is "to support the Hoover policies."

* * * *

WHICH gives another strange twist to Southwestern politics. Obviously either Johnston himself, who had always piled up the votes in the past, or the master mind of Mrs. Hammonds, figures that while this is a Democratic year in Oklahoma, the folks out there are for Mr. Hoover. The votes will tell.

The situation is made more interesting when one reflects on the kind of campaign which the sitting senator, W. B. Pine, would have to make. Ever since Mr. Hoover ignored the senator in his charges in the Indian Bureau, highly important in Oklahoma, Mr. Pine has been off the administration reservation. Whenever a vote in the Senate would lend aid or comfort to Mr. Hoover's enemies, Mr. Pine has been right there with his scalping knife.

* * * *

IT has been particularly annoying to the President for two reasons.

In the first place, he did not like the opposition, and, in the second, it gave certain old-line Republicans in the Senate a chance to tell him "I told you so."

For, when the President planned these changes in the Indian Bureau these old-line senators rushed with horror to the White House.

"If you do that Pine will be off the reservation," they told him.

Polite, if not scornful, incredulence was expressed by the President that a man's votes in the Senate would be changed by patronage difficulties.

The senators threw up their hands. The President made the changes, and Mr. Pine moved off the reservation.

Now he may be opposed by a Democrat one of whose platform points is "Support of the Hoover policies."

One wonders, if Johnston and Mrs. Hammonds win the Democratic nomination, and should then defeat Senator Pine in November, just what Jouett Shouse and Charley Michelson will say in the ensuing announcement from the Democratic executive committee.

BITTER CHARGES ARE HURLED AT SENATE POLICE INQUIRY

Senator Robsion excused Mr. Carter from answering Pratt.

The alleged gambling "joint" of Louis Herwitz was raided by Sixth Precinct police on January 4. On January 16 the case was nolle prossed because of insufficient evidence.

In the meantime Public Printer Carter obtained affidavits from four of his employes who had been caught in the raid and turned them over to the police. The case was taken before the grand jury, but the grand jury also held that there was not sufficient evidence.

It was around this case that yesterday's wrangle revolved. Mr. Carter insisting that there should have been a conviction, and District Attorney Rover arguing that the evidence was not sufficient.

When Maj. Pratt cited the long record of Herwitz's arrests, Mr. Carter said:

"I know in my experience as a police reporter in times past, it has been the common practice in some cities to make arrests just for the purpose of shaking men down.

"But I am not saying that is the case in this instance."

Senator Robsion observed, however, that that was the insinuation.

Social Poker Brought Up.

Senator Copeland evidently did not agree with Mr. Carter and Mr. Robsion that gambling was such a heinous crime. What, he wanted to know, was going to be done with gentlemen who gather around for a sociable game of poker in the evening?

Mr. Carter said that if he heard that any of his employes were indulging in poker, even though it be of the sociable variety, he would take action against them.

"I believe you would," shot back Senator Copeland. "I am glad I don't have to work for you."

Detective John Boxwell, of the Sixth Precinct, who led the raid on the Herwitz place, described an interview he had with Mr. Carter in his office. The public printer, he said, had called in some of the employes who had been caught in the raid.

One Pleads With Carter.

One of the employes, he said, pleaded with Mr. Carter.

"I owe $5,000 on my home," he quoted the man as saying, "and have three children to support. For God's sake give me some consideration."

The public printer, Boxwell said, told the man to go out in the hall and think it over. Later, he said, the employe decided to swear out the affidavit against the Herwitz place.

Mr. Carter told the senators that since he took office in 1921 he has removed 39 employes for gambling and drinking, and has suspended 41 others for the same reasons.

"A number of raids have been made on gambling and liquor establishments near the Government Printing Office," he said, "but little or nothing of value has resulted from them."

Interpretations Differ.

While Maj. Pratt regarded the records of Herewitz and Joe Fitzgerald as evidence that the police have been active, Mr. Carter pointed to them as evidence that the arrests had no effect in curbing the activities of the two men.

"Just because men drink and gamble," Senator Copeland said, "is no reason why we should jump at the conclusion that the police are at fault."

The two senators — Copeland and Robsion—reacted to the testimony as two men of such varying political philosophies might be expected to react. Senator Copeland comes from a heavily populated State and is a wet. Senator Robsion hails from a State that is largely rural, and is a dry.

Difficulty Is Described.

District Attorney Rover and Maj. Pratt took turns in describing the difficulty of convicting a gambler, and Sergt. Oscar Letterman cited some personal experiences to bear them out.

But Senator Robsion could not sympathize with them. If it is known that gambling is going on in a place, he said, he didn't see why the police couldn't break it up.

"It seems to me," he said, "that we are all obsessed with the idea that we can't reach these gamblers."

Senator Copeland observed that perhaps the best judges of the difficulty of handling the gambling evil were the men who were engaged in trying to stamp it out.

The New Yorker said that he believed that out of the hearing would grow legislation that would enable the police and the prosecutors to make real headway against the gamblers.

Two Statutes Proposed.

Two laws were proposed. Mr. Rover suggested a padlock law, similar to the one under which speakeasies are closed. Maj. Pratt suggested a law modeled after the one in New York. Under this, the fact that a place was barricaded and would not admit a policeman would be prima facie evidence that it was a gambling den.

Mr. Carter appeared yesterday prepared to make a long, detailed statement, but Senator Robsion refused to let him go on.

The Public Printer was allowed, however, to read a statement purporting to report a conversation between Mike McInerny, his chief machinist, and Wilbur Dorsey, described by Carter as a gambler.

The statement quoted Dorsey as saying that Maryland and Virginia gamblers, anxious to attract the local sportsmen, would give $25,000 to see gambling stopped in the District.

Racketeer Importation Hinted.

It also quoted Dorsey as saying that racketeers might be imported here to close up gambling places.

Mr. Carter said that Herewitz and Paul Peters, alleged "lookout" for Herewitz, had had the "effrontery" to call at the Government Printing Office and ask for an interview with him.

The hearing really developed nothing, unless it was the fact that a more drastic gambling law is wanted here by the police.

Mr. Carter said that, in his opinion, one of two things was evident—either the police are inefficient or ineffective in gathering evidence, or the district attorney is inefficient or ineffective in presenting the evidence.

Both Charges Denied.

Maj. Pratt insisted that his men were efficient and effective, and Mr. Rover said the same for his.

In addition to those mentioned, other witnesses were Capt. Martin Reilly, Sergt. John Mulloney and Elizabeth Reece. The latter, a member of the Kalorama Road Citizens Association, successfully picketed a bootleg establishment.

The hearing ended on the same sour note with which it began.

"At least," said Senator Robsion, trying to be conciliatory, "we can agree that the place that was run by Herewitz is closed."

"Yes," said Mr. Carter, sarcastically, "for the time being."

CHICAGO PAYS DEBT TO 43,000 WORKERS

LOAN SHARKS GET MUCH

Chicago, March 4 (A.P.).—Payday! Far out into the halls and all day long filed the line. Here a stenographer with an exclamation of "Swell!" There a teacher humming a little dignified ditty. Here a policeman letting a grin speak for itself. There a Negro clerk shuffling happy feet.

Chicago was meeting its long overdue obligation to 43,000 public servants.

Employes, for the first time in several moons, walked down from the city hall with heads erect and the feel of actual cash in the pocket. Many of them held it only for the distance from the city hall to the pawnshop or loan shark and almost all of them had creditors waiting, but none of this dimmed the happiness they expressed as the cash was handed to them.

For the school teachers the pay had been overdue since the day before Christmas. Other employes of the school board received their last pay December 15.

It appeared for a time early in the day that the teachers were to wait still longer. But the city comptroller loaned the school board enough from the city's rescue cash to pay them. City officials were reluctant to purchase the board's 1930 tax warrants and the Strawn rescue group, which still is $11,000,000 short of its campaign to raise $74,000,000, made no offer.

With the money raised by the Strawn group, employes of city and county will be paid regularly until June, when collection of long overdue taxes is expected to set Cook County and Chicago back on their feet.

The money paid out yesterday and today totaled nearly $10,000,000.

Tom Mix Pays $177,420 Income Tax and Penalty

Los Angeles, March 4 (A.P.).—Tom Mix, millionaire cowboy film star, appeared in Federal Court today on charges of failure to pay a proper income tax, pleaded guilty and was fined $3,000 by Judge William James.

He also paid the Government $174,420 in deficiency tax and penalties.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 7:15 to 11 today.

Agreed to take another vote on a sugar duty when the tariff is taken up in the committee of the whole.

Senator Wheeler (Democrat), Montana, renewed his attack on the Federal Power Commission.

Senator Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, appeared before the lobby committee and declared that he would make another attempt to obtain a tariff on crude oil and petroleum products.

Chairman Caraway, of the lobby committee, announced that Claudius B. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, would appear next Tuesday.

Received the nomination of John N. Willys, of Toledo, to be Ambassador to Poland, and the nomination of Edgar C. Geddie to be marshal of the Eastern District of North Carolina.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5:15 to noon today.

Passed the new Lehlbach civil service retirement bill. It now goes to conference.

Wets concluded their testimony before the judiciary committee.

Passed the Hawley bill to extend for five years the period in which war veterans may apply for adjusted compensation.

Passed the Simmons bill to extend the Gold Star Mothers act so as to permit mothers and widows of men buried at sea to attend the European pilgrimage.

Passed and sent to the White House the bill authorizing $1,600,000 to aid Alabama in reconstructing roads and bridges destroyed by floods.

Passed the Elliott bill to authorize an increase in the size of the White House police force. It now goes to the Senate.

Passed and sent to the Senate the Moor bill to provide for a survey for commemorative purposes of the Bull Run and second Manassas battlefields.

Passed and sent to the Senate the Goldsborough bill to authorize a free bridge across the Nanticoke River, Dorchester County, Md.

Huston Will Testify At Lobby Investigation

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Caraway of the Senate lobby committee announced late yesterday that Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, would testify before the committee next Tuesday.

Mr. Huston is a former president of the Tennessee River Improvement Association which has advocated the proposal of the American Cyanamid Co. to lease Muscle Shoals from the Government. He resigned as president when he became chairman of the Republican national committee. The lobby committee has called Mr. Huston as part of its investigation into the activities of persons interested in Muscle Shoals.

Upset Not Serious If Bowels Get This Help

When you're out-of-sorts, headachy, dizzy, bilious, with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy—don't worry. It's probably constipation.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how quickly your trouble clears up. No more headache; no gas on stomach or bowels. Appetite improves; digestion is encouraged. Take another tomorrow night and the next night. Get every bit of the souring waste out of your system. Then see how bowel action is regular and complete.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. Ten cents at all drug stores.

BAN ON RUM TO U.S. IS ASKED IN CANADA

SHIP'S PAPERS AFFECTED

Ottawa, March 4 (A.P.).—A bill proposing to amend the Canadian export act to make it illegal for warehouses to release liquor or for clearance papers to be issued to vessels with liquor destined for the United States was introduced in the House of Commons today by W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian prime minister.

The proposed amendment would prohibit the release of any "intoxicating liquor" as defined in the Canada temperance act "for purposes of export from any bonding warehouse, distiller, brewery or other building or place in which such liquor is stored in any case in which such liquor is destined for delivery in any country into which the importation of such liquor is prohibited by law."

It also would make it unlawful "to grant a clearance to any vessel having on board any intoxicating liquor destined for delivery in any country into which the importation of such liquor is prohibited by law."

Under the terms of the premier's amendment the governor in council shall be privileged to pass orders and regulations to make the provisions of the section effective.

"The prudent builder will make the greatest use of Copper, Brass and Bronze. He will have the knowledge that he has built for permanency. Expensive repairs will be unnecessary. The sale value of his property will be enhanced" . . .

HON. LOUIS T. McFADDEN

REPRESENTATIVE LOUIS T. McFADDEN
Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, House of Representatives of the U.S.

MR. McFADDEN, himself a prominent banker, knows investment values. Like so many other great bankers—men whose business is judging investments—he urges the use of Copper, Brass and Bronze in home construction.

When you build your home, build it to last. The same unfailing qualities that dictated the use of Copper for the roof of the Capitol in Washington make it, and its alloys, Brass and Bronze, the metals to use in home installations.

Brass or Copper pipe, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures are permanent. They cannot rust. Their use is a wise economy in any building that is designed to give long service.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

Polish Envoy Is Presented In New Office

Mr. Filipowicz Is Received as Ambassador at White House.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WHEN Mr. Tytus Filipowicz presented his credentials as Poland's first Ambassador to the United States to President Hoover yesterday, it was the third time he had been received at the White House for a similar ceremony. On April 1, 1929, he presented his credentials as Polish Minister and last autumn he was received again to present letters of credence as special Ambassador of Poland for the period of the Pulaski sesquicentennial anniversary, which was celebrated with ceremonial observance in various sections of the United States.

Taking place on the first anniversary of President Hoover's inauguration, the ceremony also marked anniversaries for two members of the Polish staff, who were received with Mr. Filipowicz. It was held ten months to a day after the arrival in Washington of Mr. Victor Podoski, the first secretary, and five months after Mr. Stanislaw Massalski, the second secretary, assumed his duties at the legation, now officially an embassy.

The new ambassador and his staff were escorted to the White House by Mr. Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State, and Capt. Allen Buchanan, aid to the President. The counselor, Mr. Stanislaw Lepkowski, is abroad, and, as arrangements for the ceremony were made on short notice, other members of the staff were absentees. The financial counselor, Mr. Alexander Woytkiewicz, is at present making his headquarters in New York, and the commercial counselor, Mr. Witold Wankowicz, had gone to New York for a short visit.

As usual at such ceremonies, the President responded to the ambassador's brief address, and this was followed by formal presentation of credentials.

Mr. John N. Willys, of Ohio, who has been appointed first Ambassador of the United States to Poland, and Mrs. Willys, are at present spending a brief holiday at Palm Beach, Fla. It will be remembered that Mr. Willys was appointed by President Hoover to succeed the late Mr. Alexander P. Moore, who had been named Ambassador at Warsaw but who died before he could assume his new duties.

The President and Mrs. Hoover having withdrawn from all social engagements because of the critical illness of former President Taft, the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Robert Patterson Lamont recalled invitations for the dinner they were to have given last night in honor of the President and the First Lady.

Senator Smith's Son Is Capital Visitor.

Senator and Mrs. Ellison D. Emith, of South Carolina, have with them at their residence, 1750 Euclid street, their son, Mr. Ellison D. Smith, jr., who is a student at Staunton Military Academy. He will remain several days.

Mrs. S. Wallace Dempsey has returned to her apartment at the Mayflower after passing a week in Atlantic City.

Col. and Mrs. Arthur O'Brien and Miss Caroline Roebling are at the Ambassador Hotel in New York for a few days after returning from a West Indies cruise.

Mme. Slavko Grouitch, wife of a former Minister of Serbia to the United States, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacVeagh, will go to Baltimore in a few days for a short stay and expects to visit at her old home in West Virginia before returning to Washington in April. At that time she will be the guest of Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins.

Cuban Ambassador Cancels Engagements.

The Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara have canceled their social engagements for three weeks, because of the death of the latter's brother-in-law, Dr. Julio de la Torre. Dr. de la Torre was counselor to the President of Cuba.

The Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Arthur M. Hyde, has returned to Washington after a trip in the West including a short stay in Chicago. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hyde, who will return shortly, after a few days' visit in Trenton, Mo.

The Secretary of Labor and Mrs. James J. Davis are at home from a fortnight's stay in Florida.

Representative and Mrs. Leonidas C. Dyer entertained at dinner last evening in honor of the Chinese Minister to the Court of St. James, Mr. Sao-ke Alfred Sze. The other guests were Representative Hatton Sumners, Judge and Mrs. Oscar Bland, Col. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Bride, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Martin, Dr. Clemens, national Republican committeeman from Missouri, and Mrs. E. S. Hyer.

Following the dinner the company was augmented by a group of guests invited for music at 10 o'clock. The program was presented by Miss Zenaida Hanenfeldt on the theremin, the new ether wave musical instrument, through which melodies are plucked from the air. Mrs. B. F. Place accompanied her at the piano.

Mrs. Henry Martin Alexander, of New York, who is a member of the committee for the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, came to Washington to attend the orchestra concert yesterday and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Townsend for a few days.

Among the arrivals on the Berengaria yesterday were Rear Admiral and Mrs. Hilary P. Jones, who shortened their stay in London because of the illness of the rear admiral, who was a member of the naval delegation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bowie Chipman gave a dinner last night.

Mrs. George Huntington Williams entertained a group of Baltimore friends yesterday at the National Woman's Country Club, the party motoring with her from her home in Baltimore.

Also entertaining at the club was Mrs. George A. Randolph, who arranged bridge for her guests during the afternoon. The company included Mrs. Everard Todd, Mrs. Augustin Todd, Mrs. R. H. A. Carter, Mrs. Edward Puller, Mrs. Henry Hyde, Mrs. Mark Reid Yates, Mrs. A. L. Colwell, Mrs. Lynn Rutter, Miss Frances Allen and Miss Anna Grice.

Mrs. Franklin Fort Is Luncheon Guest.

Mrs. Franklin W. Fort, wife of Representative Fort, of New Jersey, was the honor guest at a luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. George Oakley Totten, jr.

Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe will continue her days at home during March, on Thursdays, from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Bittinger will be with Mrs. Radcliffe tomorrow.

Mrs. Wurts' Gift To Rome Is Lauded.

The munificent gift to the City of Rome of an ancient villa on Janiculum Hill by Mrs. Henrietta Wurts, widow of the former Secretary of the United States Embassy at Rome, is of wide interest to friends of the donor in Washington and Philadelphia. Mrs. Wurts is a sister of Mr. Charlemagne Tower, of Philadelphia, former Ambassador to Germany.

The villa, which overlooks the entire panorama of Rome, is known as the Villa Sciarra and was purchased years ago by Mr. Wurts, who remodelled it into one of the beauty spots of Rome. It is near the American Academy and will be dedicated as a public park with a sustaining endowment of $50,000, also the gift of Mrs Wurts.

Miss Bell Gurnee will not receive tomorrow afternoon, but will be at home on March 13.

Mrs. Henri de Sibour, with Miss Peggy Dunne and Mr. Philip Dunne, of New York, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, in Aiken, S. C.

Col. Percy Ashburn will give a men's luncheon next Wednesday in honor of Brig. Gen. John A. Hull, who will leave shortly for the Philippines, where he will assume his duties as legal adviser to the governor general.

Miss Alice Lalor Haines has returned from London on the George Washington after a stay in England with her uncle and aunt, Capt. and Mrs. A. H. Van Keuren.

Capital Couple on Honeymoon

Underwood & Underwood.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE A. COONEY were married on Monday, with a wedding breakfast, following the ceremony, at the Carlton Hotel. Mrs. Cooney was formerly Miss Helen Lee Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Garrett.

Italian Envoy Is Dinner Host On Mardi Gras

Belgian Ambassador and Mr. Longworth are Honor Guests.

The Italian Ambassador and Nobil Donna Antonietta de Martino entertained at dinner last evening at the embassy, with the Belgian Ambassador, Prince Albert de Ligne, and the Speaker of the House, Mr. Nicholas Longworth, as the ranking guests. Signor and Signora Arturo Toscanini, who are always entertained at the embassy when they come a-visiting to Washington, were present with their daughters, Signora Wally Toscanini and Signora Wanda Toscanini. The famous Italian composer-conductor had appeared in the role of conductor at the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra concert yesterday afternoon, which brought a brilliant and enthusiastic audience to Constitution Hall. Signor Ferizetti, another distinguished Italian musician, who is to appear in the chamber music concert at the Library of Congress today, was also a guest at the dinner.

The others present were the Minister of Norway and Mme. Bachke, Senator and Mrs. Frederic C. Walcott, Senator Bronson Cutting, Representative and Mrs. James S. Gordon Halls Are Feted by Service Folk Marine Officer and Miss Ladue are Wed at Cathedral.

A distinguished company from official and resident society, with the Army and the Marine Corps generously represented, attended the reception following the marriage of Miss Louise Ladue, daughter of Engineer Commissioner and Mrs. William B. Ladue, and Lieut. Gordon Hall, U. S. M. C., which was held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Officers Club at the Army War College.

Only members of the two families witnessed the ceremony, which was solemnized in Bethlehem Chapel of the Washington Cathedral immediately preceding the reception, with the Rev. John A. Wade, of New York, officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Col. Ladue, was attended by Miss Anne Pendleton as maid of honor, and the best man was Capt. Frank Goettge, U. S. M. C., who is aid to President Hoover.

Easter lilies in the altar vases were the only decoration in the picturesque Gothic chapel. The bride wore a gown of heavy ivory satin, its circular train cut in one with the skirt. The sleeves were long and close fitting, and the decolletage was cut on becoming lines. Her veil of tulle fell from a coronet of rose point lace, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of blue lace, with a blue tulle hat, and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. The men of the wedding party were all in uniform.

At the reception Col. and Mrs. Ladue stood with the bride and bridegroom to greet the guests, Mrs. Ladue wearing a graceful gown of beige chiffon with a brown hat and a corsage bouquet of violets.

Mrs. Hurley, wife of the Secretary of War, was in the group of ladies who presided at the tea table, others being Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Mrs. Richard Leigh, Mrs. Proctor Dougherty, Mrs. Sidney Taliaferro, Mrs. Briant H. Wells, Mrs. William D. Connor and Mrs. John McA. Palmer. The hostess was also assisted by Mrs. Stanley Embick, Mrs. R. R. Ralston, Mrs. Creswell Garlington, Mrs. Brehon Sommervell, Mrs. Donald A. Davidson, Mrs. Lyman Miller and Mrs. Leonard Gerow.

ATTENTION!

It's going to make a whale of a difference whether your fountain pen is for you or against you. It's the point that counts, for a point that precisely suits your hand will tire you less, work more smoothly and accurately.

So go to the nearest dealer and ask for Waterman's No. 7. Try each one of the seven readily identified famous points (97% of all pen users find that one of these points exactly suits their own hand) and find the one that belongs to you. Then remember that all Waterman's pens are famous for their sturdy, dependable mechanism—the special spoon feed that makes the ink flow so easily—and you can be confident you'll have a pen that, under all conditions, will behave like a gentleman. $7.00.

The new Patrician at $10.00—a new model, styled decidedly for 1930. Choice of five lovely jewel colors—Emerald, Turquoise, Jet, Nacre and Onyx. As beautifully crafted as a fine watch . . . An unusually distinctive gift.

Waterman's No. 5 at $5.00—Five points for choice—ranging from fine to stub. An unusually good pen for a moderate price—built to meet Waterman's standard of fine craftsmanship—always dependable.

Good dealers everywhere carry wide stocks of Waterman's famous fountain pens, mechanical pencils, and Waterman's inks which make any fountain pen write better. ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing or distribution, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, Rustless Steel, five steel-spoke wheels, and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. The large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

THE new mode favors silks and novelty cottons for lingerie. The cottons are especially smart for home wear and for sports.

The tailored shorts and fitted bandeaux sketched is extremely popular with the younger folk. The shorts are comfortably full without adding even a fraction of an inch to the silhouette. For they follow the lines of the figure with the fulness concentrated at lower sides. The hips are very snugly fitted with yoke at front that dips at center. The back is shaped to keep line slim with an elastic nserted at top which holds it snugly to the figure. The legs are gathered into knee bands with sides left free.

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify.

1. He was an American.
2. He was three times a candidate for the Presidency, was elected once, was defeated the second time, and also defeated when he ran again as the candidate of a different party from that which he had represented in the first two campaigns.
3. He also served as a senator, as Secretary of State and as Vice President.
4. His election to the Presidency was due largely to the support given by Andrew Jackson.

On the Rules of Traffic
By WILLIAM ULLMAN

One may "get by" with moving another motorist's car by, for instance, pushing it with one's bumper, but it is a violation of the regulations of the District of Columbia.

The law provides that no unauthorized persons shall sound the horn, handle the levers, or set in motion, or in any other way tamper with any motor vehicle standing upon any public highway." Obviously, the provisions of the regulation are fairly inclusive, prohibiting a number of practices that many are constantly tempted to indulge.

Example: A motorist returns to his parked car to find it tightly wedged in between two others. He releases the brake of the car in front and moves it forward by pushing it with the bumper of his own machine. He has violated the regulation.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE
By JOHN J. DALY

AS the second presentation in their Stratford-on-Potomac repertoire, the Stratford-Upon-Avon Festival Company last night made another favorable impression with "Romeo and Juliet."

The players, by this time, have established the fact that they know how to make a masterful job of any Shakespearean drama. In this, the perfect tragedy, the dual roles of importance were played by George Hayes, whose Claudio in "Much Ado," paved the way for his reception last night as "Romeo," and by Miss Joyce Bland, as fair a Juliet as the Bard himself might select. She had only a small part in the first performance, on Monday night, which is in keeping with the alternating system of stardom.

Wilfred Walter, whose excellent performance at the opening Monday stamped him a sterling actor, came to the fore again last night as Mercutio. William Calvert and Gordon Bailey played the heads of the two houses—the Montagues and the Capulets—at variance with each other, and Roy Byford, the perfect Dogberry in "Much Ado" was entrusted with the role of Friar Lawrence.

The versatility of the players, the remarkably clear diction, the fine stage direction, the scenic designs and the fast moving action of the plays are what make these presentations a rare treat in the theater.

It would seem strange nowadays unless a Victor Herbert operetta were playing at Poli's Theater, where "Babes in Toyland" is doing remarkably fine business. Barry Lupino is featured in this production. He is a comedian not unknown in this parish, through his appearances here have been few and far apart. His present role is one that calls for fast and furious capers, something that the Lupino technique fits into like a hand into a glove. Then, too, an extra added attraction for Washington theatergoers is Frank Gallagher, a sweet-voiced singer who tripped around the Belasco stage when the late lamented company, chaperoned by Charles Emerson Cook, held forth there. As those who remember Frank Gallagher's work will attest, it's about time the Broadway producers recognized his talent.

Just so Washington will not forget its own, Mr. Earle Dorsey rushes in to advise that the second of three concerts to be given by the National Symphony Orchestra is set for the afternoon of Friday, March 14, with Sol. Minster having some instrument to play; probably the violin. Besides the beloved Sol, who has fiddled in this city since long before the Harrison administration, there will be eighty local musicians, all tuned up and playing under two guest directors. The concert will be held in Constitution Hall.

Mrs. B's Devil's Food Cake

No church supper in a certain little Indiana town is complete without one of Mrs. B's devil's food cakes. So when the appetizing odor is wafted out of her kitchen, the children all gather 'round to learn if it's a cake for them, or only a cake for the church grown-ups.

Mrs. B uses Crisco in all her cakes because (she says) "it blends so quickly and thoroughly with the other ingredients. Crisco tastes for all the world like unsalted butter and it keeps my cakes moist and fresh as long as I can keep the children away from the cake box."

⅓ cup Crisco	3 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sugar	1½ cups flour
2 eggs	2½ teaspoons baking powder
⅔ cup milk	1 teaspoon salt
	1½ teaspoons vanilla

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Cook the milk and chocolate, cut in pieces, over a slow fire, stirring until thick. Cool. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the chocolate to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Bake in 2 layer cake pans in moderate oven (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool. Spread Marshmallow Frosting between layers and on top. Sprinkle with chopped nuts.

The Gems of Early America
Reproduced in Cherry & Maple Furniture

FROM New England and New York has come the Cherry and Maple Furniture of Early America. Characteristic of the hardy folk who fashioned them, there is quaint charm in the simplicity of design and unmistakable vigor in the construction of the various pieces of that period. The village cabinet maker or the layman on the farm who made his own furniture, used the woods at hand: Cherry for the level surfaces because of its beautiful grain: Maple for the upright parts where strength was needed. Often one of these alone was used in making an entire piece. This same charm, this sturdiness of workmanship is found embodied in the reproductions of these early examples, many of them by our own cabinet makers. A variety of these is given here and all are marked below their normal price levels.

Concord Arm chair, Cherry and Maple, covered in chintz . . . $65.00

Early American end table in Cherry and Maple $18.00

Ladder Back Chair, Cherry and Maple with seat of rush . . . $19.00

Thomas Jefferson Desk in Maple with flat top $190.00

A Secretary in Cherry and Maple $185.00

A Lowboy of Cherry and Maple $79.00

Corner Cabinet in Cherry and Maple $104.00

A Quaint Butterfly table in Cherry and Maple $30.00

The Lexington Dining room suite in Cherry and Maple consisting of table, dresser, server, buffet, 5 side chairs and arm chair is . . $590.00

The Ashley Bedroom suite in Cherry and Maple comprises twin beds, bureau, dressing table and mirror, high chest, chair and dressing table bench and is. $371.00

Bridge Play Over Radio Is Analyzed

ixteenth Exhibition Game by National Experts, Two of Them Champions, Is Explained Hand by Hand.

The exhibition players who took art in the sixteenth of Milton C. ork's radio bridge games, broadst yesterday afternoon from station RC, included Miss Rosamond Vahey, Boston, Mass., as noted for her lf as she is for her bridge; Mrs. dward Goldsmith, of Danville, Ill., ayer, writer and lecturer on the me; John T. Slade, of Hingham enter, Mass., and C. Drummond nes, of St. Louis, Mo., both of them ampionship players.

The hands were: Miss Vahey, aler, South: Spades, A, J, 9; Hearts, 6, 6, 4; Diamonds, A, Q, 2; Clubs, J, 4. Mr. Slade, West: Spades, 8, Hearts, K, Diamonds, K, 10, 8, 7, Clubs, Q, 9, 8, 7, 2. Mr. Jones, rth: Spades, K, Q, 10; Hearts, 9, 3; Diamonds, J, 5, 4; Clubs, K, 6, 3. Mrs. Goldsmith, East: Spades, 6, 4, 3, 2; Hearts, Q, J, 10, 5, 2; iamonds, 9, 6; Clubs, 10.

The only bid was one No Trump by iss Vahey, South, which all passed. Mr. Slade, West, opened the play leading the 7 of Diamonds, the ronger of his two five-card minor its. From the North hand, which nt down as Dummy, Declarer played e 4; East played the 9; and the osed hand won the trick with the ueen. Declarer could then count ght sure tricks—one Heart, two Diamonds, two Clubs and three Spades. or the additional trick needed for me, there were a number of posibilities . . . the establishment of thirteenth Heart in the closed hand a thirteenth Club in Dummy; or e Club finesse in the closed hand ight produce the trick; or it might obtained if the West hand led a cond round of Diamonds.

Canvassing these four possibilities, eclarer appreciated that a Diamond ad from West could not be forced ntil the latter part of the hand at e earliest, and that if she should tempt to establish the Hearts she ust lose two Heart tricks, and there as a great probability that East ould win at least one of them and d a Diamond. Declarer desired the iamond lead, if made at all, to come om West. Furthermore, with Dearer holding seven Hearts divided 3 the odds were against establishg a thirteener; the probable diision of the adverse six cards in such se is 4-2. But the chance for havg the Club finesse succeed was eater. So Declarer determined to try e Club suit, which contained two ssibilities: the finesse came first, d whether that won or failed, she anned to try to make up a thirener in Dummy. Also, if the nesse lost, West would have the ad.

Declarer could have put Dummy in th a Spade and led a small Club om Dummy at trick three for the nesse. But to have done so would ve betrayed the Spade situation, d also would have required a nesse of the Clubs on the first und of the suit. When a finesse n be postponed until a second und it is advisable to do so consetently to trick two Declarer led the of Clubs from the closed hand; est played the 7; Dummy the King; ist the 10. East's play of the 10 as somewhat disconcerting to Dearer, as it indicated that East was ort of Clubs and that consequently thirteener could not be established. was encouraging, however, in that also suggested the probability that ast held the Queen, and if so game as assured to Declarer. To trick hree Dummy led the Trey of Clubs. ast discarded the Deuce of pades; Declarer played the Ace of lubs; West the Deuce of Clubs.

Declarer's effort to get an extra ick in Clubs had failed, but she ad learned something of great value. he could place five Clubs with West riginally, and inasmuch as West had arted by leading Diamonds instead Clubs, West must also have had ve Diamonds, as he would not have pened a four-card suit headed by ing in preference to a five-card suit eaded by a Queen, both being inors. Thus West could not have ore than three cards in the two ajors.

Unless these three cards were three earts and no Spades, which was ost improbable because in that case ast would have had seven Spades, eclarer had no chance of establishg a thirteenth Heart. Therefore hree of her possibilities apparently ere barred, and her only chance for aking the game-winning trick was he possibility of forcing West to ad a Diamond. In an effort to do his, Declarer led to trick four the 9 Spades from closed hand. West layed the 5; Dummy the 10; East he Trey. Dummy returned the King Spades; East played the 4; Declarer the Ace; and West the 8.

Declarer then knew that West had nly one major card left. To see hether it was a Spade, Declarer led he Jack of Spades to trick six. West, ppreciating that he might be forced lead a Diamond, and realizing that would cost a Diamond trick, tried make Declarer miscount the Diamonds by discarding the 8 of Diamonds. Dummy played the Queen of pades; East the 6. Declarer, however, was not deceived. She was confident that West had held at least ve in each minor originally, and still ad three Clubs and either four Diamonds or three Diamonds and a eart. If West had a Heart it must e eliminated, so Declarer led the rey of Hearts from Dummy. East layed the 10, Declarer the Ace, and Vest the King. To trick eight Declarer led the Jack of Clubs. Had Vest refused to take this trick he new Declarer would have game, so e won with the Queen of Clubs, Dummy playing the 5 and East discarding the 7 of Spades.

West then took the 9 and 8 of Clubs, to which tricks Dummy played the 6 of Clubs and 7 of Hearts; East the Deuce and 5 of Hearts; Declarer the 4 and 6 of Hearts. To trick eleven West led the 10 of Diamonds, Dummy played the Jack, East the 6, and Declarer the Deuce. Dummy led the 5 of Diamonds, East discarded the Jack of Hearts, Declarer played the Ace of Diamonds, and West the Trey. Declarer lost the final trick to East's Queen of Hearts, but she already had won her nine tricks for game. She scored 30 for tricks, and 100 in honors for her four Aces in one hand.

In commenting on the play of the hand, Mr. Work called attention to the fact that Declarer made game because she was able to draw all possible inferences from the size of the card originally led. In leading "blind" against a No Trump, the leader practically always opens a suit of four or more cards, and leads his fourth-best card of that suit unless it contains some combination of sufficient strength to justify starting with the lead of an honor. Thus a small card led originally against a No Trump means that the leader has three higher cards of that suit and, unless his lead is the Deuce, may have lower ones. From the 26 cards Declarer can see in his own hand and Dummy, and the cards subsequently played by adversaries, many inferences may be drawn from the original lead, often with most advantageous results.

At Contract, Mr. Work would have South, with a No Trump count of 20, bid two No Trumps. (Count is figured on a basis of Ace 4, King 3, Queen 2, Jack 1, two Tens, 1). West would pass, and North, with a count of 9, would bid three No Trumps. But if South, yielding to the lure of four Aces and the fact that her 20 count is within 1 of the 21 minimum which Mr. Work advocates for an original bid of three No Trumps, should venture an orginal three No Trumps, North, with a count of 9, would jump to four, because his hand would suggest slam possibilities, supposing South had bid with more than a minimum. South would pass the four No Trumps, but would find that contract one more than she could fulfill.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

THREE AIMS IN MEAT COOKERY.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

In preparing several popular leaflets on meat cookery the food specialists in the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture have emphasized three definite aims. These aims have grown out of long experience in cooking meats in the laboratory in connection with a nation-wide study of the factors that influence palatability.

The first point developed is that meat must be cooked according to the cut. It is well known that the cuts of meat from different parts of a carcass vary somewhat in tenderness. Tender cuts can be cooked quickly unless they are large roasts, and are best cooked in utensils without lids and without water. Less tender cuts should be cooked slowly with a judicious amount of water to soften the connective tissue.

How to cook meat to bring out the maximum of flavor is the next point emphasized. The home economics specialists advocate browning meat on the outside to develop rich flavor. After that is done, cooking is continued in the appropriate way for the probable tenderness of the cut. The flavor of the meat may also be enhanced by savory stuffings and well-flavored gravies.

The third point emphasized in giving directions for cooking meat in the household is to eliminate guesswork as to when the meat is done. The oven thermometer and the roast-meat thermometer are recommended as a means to this end. "So many minutes to the pound" is not a sure guide. The roast meat thermometer, put directly into the meat before the cooking is begun, shows when the desired stage has been reached. Moreover, it shows when to stop cooking. Every additional minute's cooking beyond the required "rare," "medium," or "well-done," stage simply wastes the meat by shrinking it unduly.

Jane Regny INTERPRETS the MODE

Paris, March 4.

EVER so often we hear the question asked by trying-to-be-clever people—is the modern woman slipping back into the mental confines that bound her mother and grandmother, the while she slips her figure back into corsets and curves, her limbs into skirts?

To such a question the intelligent person can not but have a ready answer. The woman of 1930 is an evolution of the woman of the past, and in herself expresses the characteristics of many periods. And of any civilization that pleases her, the while she develops her modern characteristics, which have never belonged to any women of any time. The whole modern world as well as the collective life of the past lies before her.

And she has every right to enjoy for the moment the whimsical capelets, odd sleeves, fancy gloves, high waistlines, fans, furbelows and longer skirts of her great-grandmother's day, as she wishes—even as she may wish next year to sponsor the draperies, sandals and coiffures of the Golden Age of Greece.

A stamp and a few yards of material will make an Easter outfit! No, I mean a stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post! And your material cut and sewn according to the directions in the illustrated leaflet you get in return! You'll have the best-looking ensemble and suit and dress, or vice versa, however you want to wear it for whichever occasion.

• • • •

It was such a dream of loveliness! A really, truly princess' nightgown, and quite, quite all that one would wish a princess' nightgown to be! Of such rich, heavy, lustrous satin, of such beautiful lines, of such exquisite lace trimming, all put on by hand, of course, and heavily trimmed at the edge, the lace strewing itself in a scattered effect into the satin.

Princess Marie Jose—well, La Chic Secretaire has such a dreamy, far-away look in her eyes that I think I had better leave the rest of the nightgown to your imagination, aided by the sketch I made you today, and get back to work!

But before I do get back to work let me remind you again to look for our weekly fashion letter in The Washington Post each Sunday.

What Today Means to You

"PISCES."

IF March 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:50 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The influences for this date will tend to increase your self-assurance, and to give you the courage to "take the bull by the horns." Progress will be made slowly onward toward your desired goal. Exceptional happiness for those who are still enjoying their teens.

The child born on this March 5 will have a very easy going nature, and it will not fret if it can not have its own way. It will be quiet, self-contained and proud. It will be very fond of out-of-doors activities.

A life of service is one which fate has decreed for you, and one which you yourself choose. You are destined to bring help and comfort in more than one way to your fellow-creatures. There is a restlessness and uneasiness in your nature which inspires the desire to render assistance to others. If you are doing some one else a good turn, if you are easing their load—you are happy. There are few people who so seldom think of self as you do, or who grumble less. It is true, however, that in your unselfishness, you often burden your own back with a load which belongs elsewhere. Human parasites are ever ready to attach themselves to one of your make-up to sap your physical, mental and nervous strength.

You have a strong, large-souled disposition—a blessing to you and to others. Trivial events sometimes quite upset you, but big difficulties draw out a power of resistance which must culminate in success. You are capable of handling large masses of people, and at some period of your life you should experience great publicity. Your success in life must come through personal merit, and not through hazard or chance. You will inspire deep love and tender devotion.

Successful people born March 5:
Gerard Troost, mineralogist.
Lewis Gaylord Clark, author and poet.
Frederick S. Cozzens, humorist.
Arthur Foote, composer.
Theodore T. Munger, clergyman and author.
Hans Balatka, musician.

This Capelet Frock Is Adapted from Jane Regny's Original

It's just the youngest, most adorable frock we've seen, reminiscent of Jane Regney's original, with a charm all its own. French in its youthful simplicity, and sophisticated color scheme of navy and chartreuse . . . delightfully practical for miss debutante through the spring. The soft green flowers are appliqued on net inset; the whole frock fits with a moulded effect that is most flattering. Size 16.

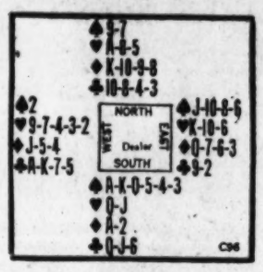
WORK ON BRIDGE



The above hand was played in a game of Auction Bridge. South bid one Spade, West two Clubs, North and East passed, and South bid two Spades, which obtained the contract.

Had the hand been played at Contract, the bidding might have been South three Spades, West pass, North four Spades; or South two Spades, West pass, North two No Trumps, East pass, South three Spades, West pass, North three No Trumps; or South four Spades after North's two No Trumps.

At No Trump, with the initial lead coming from East, North would have little difficulty in making game; but the hand was played at Auction Bridge with Spades the trump, and the following was the result:

West led two rounds of Clubs, East signaled. West led a third club which East ruffed. East then led the Ten of Spades, thinking it his safest play; but it made no difference whether he led a Spade or a Diamond. South exhausted the trumps and discarded his losing Heart on North's Ten of Clubs. Of course if East had led a Heart, South would not have needed a discard.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

East, with four trumps, should not have signaled. What East desired more than anything else was a Heart lead through North's Ace, as that lead would be almost sure to save game. With East playing the Deuce of Clubs on West's first lead, the Heart would be the logical lead for West to make to trick 2.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

DEAR Miss McDonald—Would your severe denouncement of all married men in general, in the treatment of their wives, in your answer to S. G. J., also be your answer to the following question, viz:

Why do so many women over 50 years of age remain single, after the death of their first husband?

I know a number of women. I recall twelve or more at the moment, who have been widows from 3 to 20 years. All of them happen to be financially independent. I have heard six of them state in public, that they neither would or have any desire to marry another man, but they give no specific reason.

Can it be that they have become men haters on account of their early experience with husbands of the type that you have pictured? Some of these widows, where they get the opportunity, are very fond of the company of men, and especially the younger ones, and do not deny it.

The former emperor of Germany stated at the time of his second wedding, that only those who were happily married the first time ever remarry.

Does this also prove your theory, that men are not sincere in their promises. "WIDOWER."

Frankly we had not thought about this situation, in fact would have said that the proverbial jokes about widows being dangerous and successful pursuers were still true. But on considering the matter we, too, can summon up a score of wealthy, healthful, youthful widows of 50 who seem to prefer to fill their lives with travel, bridge and club work, rather than embark upon any further adventure on the matrimonial seas.

And more interesting still is the tendency of these older women to seek the companionship of men years younger than themselves. Do they hope to recapture youthful romance through listening to youth romancing? What do they see in these men who dance attendance on elderly women of independent means? Such men are inferior types always, some of them utterly worthless.

Before relinquishing the stage to the widows we insist upon setting our correspondent right, in one particular. We have no theory that men are not sincere in their promises. On the contrary, we believe men are terribly in earnest when they are making promises. That is why we believe them when the promises are made, and forgive them when the promises are forgotten. We think men are more sincere than women.

Let hospitals guide you in choosing sanitary protection

You will appreciate the assurance that 85% of America's leading hospitals use the very same absorbent of which Kotex is made.

YOU'LL discover, once you use Kotex, any number of things about it which distinguish it from any ordinary sanitary pad. Kotex is hygienically safe. It protects health at a time when vitality is low. Over 85% of our leading hospitals have chosen the very same material of which Kotex is made, because of its remarkable efficiency and surgical purity. This is Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding . . . a remarkable substance which performs the same sanitary function as cotton, with 5 times the absorbency.

Kotex is shaped to fit. You can wear any kind of frock under the most difficult circumstances and feel entirely free of self-consciousness. You can feel immaculate and dainty, for Kotex deodorizes by a special process, which is most effective.

Kotex is disposable

Then, of course, there is the reason most women first began to use Kotex: it is so easily disposed of. Just think what that fact alone has meant to women all over the world.

Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3—Deodorizes. . . safely, thoroughly, by a special process.

EVOLUTION OF LAW IS LAMBERT TOPIC

Two Branches of System Are Emphasized in Attorney's Radio Address.

LAUDS JURY PRIVILEGE

Taking as his topic the "Evolution of Law," Wilton J. Lambert, prominent Washington attorney, speaking over WRC, yesterday afternoon on common law and equity jurisprudence, said: "So valuable were the distinctions between these two forms of law that our forefathers in writing the Constitution recognized them, so that in all Federal jurisdictions the courts are clothed with the power to administer the common law as well as the law of equity.

"For illustration, we naturally think of the Sherman antitrust legislation, designed to destroy objectionable trusts which were charged with stifling competition, yet the writ of injunction became necessary to effectuate the purpose of the law.

"So also it has to be invoked to carry out the highly artificial laws recently enacted to enforce the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution through the medium of the enabling Volstead act when effort is made to enforce the padlocking provisions of that act."

Speaking of our prevailing jury system Mr. Lambert said, "It is in the application of the jury system to the criminal law that we find the most attractive features of human interest. This branch of the law is inseparable from the jury, as no man can be deprived of the right under a criminal indictment to be tried by a jury.

"It is here that the honor and liberty of man is dealt with, here that the accused has the priceless safeguard of the presumption of innocence until facts are elicited sufficient to convince each of these twelve jurymen—a jury of his peers—sitting in the jury box, of his guilt, beyond a reasonable doubt.

"Of this doubt, the Supreme Court of the United States has held that affirmative evidence of previous good character alone may be sufficient to justify a jury in entertaining such a doubt and in rendering a verdict of acquittal. It is then and not until then that the common law of England, which is our cherished American jurisprudence, permits the word 'felon' to be impressed upon the brow of the highest or humblest citizen of this our republic, the United States of America."

Washington, Tuesday, March 4—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia—Fair and warmer Wednesday; Thursday fair with mild temperature; gentle to moderate southerly winds, shifting to westerly Wednesday night.

For Maryland and Virginia—Fair and warmer Wednesday; Thursday fair with mild temperature; moderate southerly winds, shifting to westerly Wednesday night.

The disturbance that was central north of Newfoundland Monday night is now moving northwestward over the Hudson Straits region. Nottingham Island, 28.94 inches, with a trough extending southwestward to Oklahoma. Port Arthur, Ont., 29.36 inches. The disturbance from the Pacific Ocean is moving inland over the Pacific States and British Columbia, Roseburg, Oreg., 29.32 inches, and pressure is falling rapidly eastward over the plateau and northern Rocky Mountain regions. Relatively high pressure prevails over the Gulf of Mexico and the Gulf States, Key West, Fla., 30.10 inches, and over the lower Mackenzie Valley, Aklavik, 30.26 inches. The far western disturbance has caused rains in the Pacific States as far south as central California, while fair weather has prevailed elsewhere in the United States, except for snow flurries in the lower Lake region, the upper Ohio Valley, and the Appalachian region. The temperature has risen, except in Vermont, Minnesota, North Dakota, and the Pacific States, and the weather has become much warmer from Montana southeastward to Texas.

Fair weather will prevail almost generally in the Washington forecast district Wednesday and Thursday, followed by showers Thursday night or Friday in Tennessee, the Ohio Valley, and the lower Lake region. The temperature will rise quite generally Wednesday and in the South Atlantic States Thursday, and the weather will remain mild elsewhere east of the Mississippi River during Thursday.

Man Held in $500 Bond On Civil Service Charge

The District grand jury yesterday returned an indictment charging Okey J. Deskins, alias Okey J. Douglas, with making a false oath on a civil service application. The man, who is colored, was arrested Monday and following arraignment before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage, was ordered held under $500 bond.

Deskins is alleged to have made application for a civil service post some time ago in which he is said to have made several false statements, relative to his collegiate education, Army service and past criminal record.

HOOVER ASKS FUNDS FOR BOOKS, POLICE

14 LIEUTENANTS URGED

Additional appropriations to pay for free textbooks for high school pupils and for the salaries of fourteen additional police lieutenants were recommended to Congress yesterday by President Hoover through the Budget Bureau.

The total of supplemental estimates recommended was $684,300. Most of these will go into the District appropriation bill before it is reported out to the House.

Among the items are these:

For free textbooks, $240,000; for salaries of additional lieutenants, $37,800; for the office of the corporation counsel, $6,500; for a school building at Connecticut avenue and Upton street, $140,000; for an addition to the Stuart Junior High School, $240,000; for personal services at Gallinger Hospital, $20,000.

Legislation for the free textbooks was enacted at this session of Congress. Pupils in the elementary grades already receive free textbooks.

If the 14 additional lieutenants are authorized, one will be assigned to each precinct. Thus there will be three shifts of lieutenants, and all will work 8 hours a day. Now they work from 12 to 14 hours a day.

Harrisburg Pastor Called by Church

Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen Asked to Take Pulpit Vacated by Dr. Diffenderfer.

The congregation of the Luther Place Memorial Church at a meeting has issued a call to the Rev. Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, of Harrisburg, Pa., to assume the pastorate of the local church. Dr. Rasmussen is president of the East Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church of America. At present he is pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah at Harrisburg.

If Dr. Rasmussen accepts, he will fill the pulpit vacated by the Rev. Dr. George M. Diffenderfer who resigned last September to accept the pastorate of a church at Carlisle, Pa. Since Dr. Diffenderfer's resignation the pulpit has been filled by guest preachers.

It is not expected that an answer to the call will be received until after Easter. Meanwhile, guest preachers will conduct the services.

12 Big Automobiles—16 Radios—Unlimited Cash Commissions
Extra Prizes—Extra Votes—for Extra Effort
$350 in GOLD
And 90,000 EXTRA VOTES During the Period Ending at 9 P. M. March 12th

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY for new candidates to enter and experience the fun and thrills of contesting for these magnificent prizes! For the period starting February 20 and ending March 12th, special rewards of $350 in cash have been offered and no subscriptions received prior to this period will count toward winning 90,000 extra votes or the six extra cash rewards. All candidates, new and old, compete on an equal footing. $100 will go to the candidate in the city division who turns in the greatest amount of new subscription payments during this period; $100 will go to the candidate turning in the greatest amount from the out-of-town division, and $50 and $25 will go, respectively, to each of the candidates in city and out-of-town divisions who turn in the second and third greatest amounts from their territory. Fill out the nomination blank below and share in this great "opportunity."

How You Can Win a Prize

All rewards are based upon votes awarded for securing subscriptions to The Washington Post. The number of votes allowed on each subscription depends upon the length of time for which the subscription runs and also upon the method used in delivering papers. A complete table of "vote values of subscriptions" will be furnished together with other necessary material and information when your nomination is received. The man or woman who secures the greatest vote total will be awarded the big Cadillac Sedan and so on down the list in direct relation to the value of the prize and the contestant's standing.

To assure equitable distribution of prizes and an equal opportunity to all, the territory is divided into two divisions and eight districts. Everyone from every district has an equal chance to win the six biggest automobile prizes, but the Grand division prize, Graham Sedan, MUST be awarded to a candidate from the city division. The Pontiac Sedan MUST be awarded to a candidate from the out-of-town division. A Chevrolet and a Ford Sedan must also be presented to the second and third ranking candidate in each division and after all automobiles have been awarded the next highest candidates in each of the five city districts will be awarded a $168 Atwater Kent Radio; the highest in each of the three out-of-town districts will be awarded a $167.50 Majestic radio, and the second highest candidates in each of the eight city and out-of-town districts, will receive a $116.50 Majestic radio.

RITES MARK START OF LENTEN SEASON

Capital Churches Observe Ash Wednesday With Special Services.

BROADCAST IS PLANNED

Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, is being observed today in virtually all churches in the city as the beginning of a period of self-abnegation and prayer which continues through Holy Week to Saturday.

Ash Wednesday derives its name from the ceremonial use of ashes as a symbol of penitence in services for the day. Originally the fasting period of Lent was of 40 hours' duration, representing the number of hours between the death and resurrection of Christ.

Additional days were added in varying numbers, until now the Protestant Episcopal, Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic churches observe the forty-day period. This period of fasting is a survival of the forty-day fasts of Moses, Elias and of Christ.

In 1191, the universal observances of Lent was sanctioned by Pope Celestin III. In the Catholic Church the custom is to take ashes, made by burning the palms of the previous Palm Sunday, and place them on the forehead of the people. The priest makes the sign of the cross with the ashes on the forehead at the same time repeating an admonition in Latin which literally translated is: "Remember, man, that thou art dust and into dust thou shalt return."

Protestant Services Set.

In the first few centuries the fasting was voluntary on the part of the faithful. Gradually the observance was made imperative on the members of the church, with special dispensations for the aged and infirm.

In the Protestant Episcopal churches there is a special service for the day and penitential prayers are appointed.

At Washington Cathedral Bishop James E. Freeman, will deliver a Lenten message, which will be broadcast over a coast-to-coast network. Bishop Freeman will preach the sermon at 11:30 today from the Bethlehem Chapel. The cathedral services include Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m.; litany, 10 a. m.; recitation of the penitential office and sermon by Bishop Freeman beginning at 11 a. m. Evening prayers will be held at 4 o'clock.

Distribution of Ashes.

In all Catholic churches of the city masses will be said this morning and ashes will be distributed. They will be distributed at evening services also.

The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, will inaugurate a series of sermons to be held each Sunday afternoon during Lent. The Rev. John J. Cartwright, professor of history at the Sulpician Seminary, will deliver the sermons. The subjects will be historical in character. During Lent a noonday mass will be held each day at 12:15.

Masses will be celebrated today in St. Patrick's Church at 7 a. m. and 8 a. m. A special service will be held at 12:10 p. m. and each day through Lent.

Services Throughout Season.

At the Shrine of the Sacred Heart masses will be said at 6:30 and 8 a. m. Evening services and distribution of ashes will be at 7:30 o'clock.

At the Immaculate Conception Church ashes will be distributed after the masses, and at 3, 5:30, 7 and 7:30 p. m. Special services will be held throughout the fasting period.

Dr. Z. B. Phillips, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, will preach at services at 11 o'clock today. Dr. James Morris, associate minister, will give a sermon at 4:45 o'clock. Lenten noonday services will be held each day at the church.

Keystone Fraternities Pledge Two of Capital

Donald Blish and Robert C. Wales, of Washington, are among the group of students whose election to prominent fraternities has just been announced at the close of the "rushing season" at the University of Pennsylvania.

Blish, who is the son of Mrs. John Blish, 1803 Calvert street northwest, was one of sixteen chosen for membership in Theta Xi Fraternity. He is a freshman in the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in the university. Wales, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wales, of 3609 Norton place northwest, was elected for membership in Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity, and is a pre-law freshman.

Ohio State U. History Is Given at Banquet

A brief history of the State University of Ohio was given by Dr. Walter A. Jessup, president of the University, before the alumni association in Washington at its annual dinner at the Arlington Hotel Monday night.

Dr. Jessup spoke highly of the local organization and pointed to its high representation. More than 50 of the alumni were present last night. Dr. Jessup was introduced by Dr. W. L. McLean, president emeritus of the university. Karl S. Hoffman is president of the local alumni association and Miss Lucille Reiner is secretary.

Hopkins Beech Trees Being Transplanted

Col. U. S. Grant 3d, officer in charge of public buildings and grounds, announced yesterday that beech trees, the gift of Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, are being transplanted from the Hopkins residence at Massachusetts avenue and Dupont circle to a plot south of the Lincoln Memorial.

The trees, which are being placed along the proposed longation of the street that will eventually lead to the John Erickson Memorial, just north of B street southwest, were originally planted around the Hopkins residence upon the occasion of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins.

Trio Walks Out With Radio.

Shirley D. Chidakel, proprietor of a radio shop on H street northeast near Tenth street, informed police yesterday that three young men came to his shop Monday night to purchase a radio. They selected a $95 radio and gave him a $20 deposit. While he was in the rear of the store, Chidakel said, the trio picked up the radio and walked out.

De Lacy Services To Be Held Today

Attorney Will Be Buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

William Henry DeLacy, 67 years old, prominent attorney and former judge of the Juvenile Court, will be buried today in Mount Olivet Cemetery. The funeral will be held from his late home, 4 West Kirke street, Chevy Chase, to the Blessed Sacrament Church, Chevy Chase, where a requiem mass will be celebrated at 11 o'clock. He died Monday of a heart attack while asleep at his home.

Out of respect for the former judge the Juvenile Court will be closed today, while members of the court staff attend the funeral. Members of Washington Council, Knights of Columbus, and Washington General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, held prayer service at the home last night.

Judge DeLacy was widely known in the city. For several years he maintained a law practice here. In 1906 he was appointed first judge of the Juvenile Court which was created here under the Roosevelt administration. In addition to his prominence in legal affairs, he was also actively engaged in charitable work and was prominent in the Catholic laity.

MRS. AMOS A. CULP DIES.

Alabama Woman, Well Known in Capital, Ill Brief Time.

Mrs. Amos Allen Culp, of Birmingham, Ala., a frequent visitor here and related to several Washington families, died at her home last week after a brief illness. It was thought she was recovering from the effects of blood poisoning when she suffered a relapse before out-of-town relatives could reach Birmingham.

A sister, Mrs. Nelson M. Shepard, of 51 West Lenox street, Chevy Chase, Md., went to Birmingham for the funeral, which was held late yesterday. Mrs. Culp was formerly Miss Mary Lykes, daughter of the pioneer settler of Birmingham, and was prominent there socially. Her husband is a nephew of the late J. M. Culp, vice president of the Southern Railway and a resident of Washington for many years.

Besides her sister here, she is survived by two daughters, her mother, Mrs. L. L. Lykes, also of Birmingham, and a brother in Hollywood, Calif.

SIGMUND KANN BURIED.

Many Washington Business Men Attend Baltimore Funeral.

Sigmund Kann, president of the S. Kann & Sons Co., and prominent merchant of this city, was buried yesterday in the Baltimore Hebrew Cemetery. Representatives of Washington business organizations and civic bodies, with whom Mr. Kann was identified, attended the funeral rites.

The services were held at 2 o'clock in his home, 1321 Eutaw place, Baltimore, where he died Sunday. Dr. William Rosenau, of the Eutaw Place Temple, officiated. Among those who attended the funeral were executives and employes of the department store and a committee of officers of the Washington Advertising Club.

Mr. Kann was one of the founders of the department store which bears his name. He had been engaged in business here for 37 years. The store was the second department store established in the District.

Man Slightly Injured When Thrown Off Horse

While riding a horse near Twenty-fourth and M streets northwest, yesterday morning, John Peyton, 27 years old, of 203 B street northeast, fell from his mount when the horse shied at a passing automobile.

Peyton was removed to Emergency Hospital in a passing automobile, where he was given first aid treatment for severe lacerations about the face and a scalp wound. He was later taken home.

Auditorium Sale Meets Opposition

District Commissioners Say That Building Is Not Suited to Armory.

Efforts of the owners of the Washington Auditorium to sell the building to the District as a National Guard Armory were flatly disapproved by the District Commissioners yesterday, who declared that to make the building suitable would require extensive and expensive alterations and the building still would not be suitable.

This opinion of the Commissioners was expressed in a letter to Representative Elliott, chairman of the House committee on public buildings and grounds, before which is pending a bill providing for taking over of the Auditorium by the District for an armory.

At the same time the Commissioners appointed a special board to consider the National Guard Armory question. The board is headed by Maj. D. A. Davison, Assistant Engineer Commissioner; Col. John W. Oehmann, building inspector, and A. L. Harris, municipal architect.

Special Officer Blackjacks Man.

After treatment at Freedmen's Hospital for a scalp laceration suffered when, police said, he refused to submit to arrest early yesterday at the Lincoln Colonnade, Twelfth and U streets northwest, George T. Harvey, colored, 25, of Fourteenth and Swann streets northwest, was lodged in a cell at the Eighth Precinct on a charge of intoxication. W. F. Olney, special officer, who arrested Harvey, reported that he was forced to use a blackjack on his prisoner.

DANCE HALL HEARING ENDS AMID WRANGLE

Applicant Declares He Does Not Want Permit as Officials Argue.

ATTORNEYS ALSO LEAVE

Thomas E. Gardiner, colored, former owner of the Old Dutch Mill on Seventh street between P and Q streets several years ago, rose in disgust under the barrage of police objections at a hearing yesterday and declared that he "did not want a license" to open a new dance hall.

The hearing was held in the board room in the District Building with Wade H. Coombs, superintendent of licenses, presiding as chairman, and was called when Mr. Coombs refused to issue a license for a public dance hall to Gardiner at 2011 Georgia avenue northwest.

Gardiner is now conducting the Silver Slipper Club, Inc., at that address, it was testified, but he wants to open a dance hall above the club. This action was opposed by police, although Capt. Robert E. Doyle, of the Eighth Precinct, gave Gardiner a clean bill of health and knew of no reason why the dance hall license should be refused.

Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, police lieutenant in charge of the Woman's Bureau, was the principal opponent of Gardiner. The hearing ended in a row when T. Morris Wampler and John Turco, attorneys for Gardiner, left the hearing declaring that they did not want to participate in such a proceeding. Turco said that the case will be taken to court. Walter Fowler represented the District.

It was Gardiner himself who precipitated the final row when he grabbed his coat and hat during the course of Mrs. Van Winkle's testimony, declaring "I do not want a license," and left.

Havana School Honors Washington Educator

In recognition of services in promoting friendlier inter-American relations, the University of Havana has conferred an honorary degree of doctor of laws upon Dr. James Brown Scott, of Washington.

Dr. Scott returned home yesterday from Cuba, where he attended the first Internatonal Congress of Rectors, Deans and Educators, having been chairman of the official United States delegation as well as the representatives of Georgetown University at the conference. Dr. Scott is secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and professor of international law at the Georgetown Foreign Service School.

Two More Held In Man's Beating

Negro Pair and Suspect, Arrested Earlier, Deny Attacking Cabman.

Two Hyattsville Negroes were taken in custody by Prince Georges County authorities yesterday for investigation in connection with the slugging and serious injury of Harry Martin Melton, 44-year-old cab driver, early Sunday near Hyattsville.

The two men, giving their names as Charles Fletcher and William Brown, were held in the Bladensburg jail with Jack Taliaferro, of 4 Maryland avenue, Hyattsville, who was arrested late Monday night also for investigation in connection with the case by Prince Georges County police. The three have denied any knowledge of the crime.

Melton last night continued to lie in a critical condition at Emergency Hospital, with severe injuries of the head. While scant hope is held by attendants for his recovery, hospital authorities expressed belief that he would live through the night.

Board of Trade Plans For Bicentennial Fete

The part that the Board of Trade will take in the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington, to be held in 1932, will be outlined by Col. U. S. Grant 3d, and Representative Sol Bloom, codirectors of the celebration, at a meeting next Wednesday, March 12, of the committee on community affairs of the Board of Trade.

Members of the Senate and House commissions for the George Washington celebration will be invited to the meeting, and they are expected to tell the Board of Trade committee members the part they can take in planning for the celebration. The meeting place and other details of the meeting are to be announced within the next few days.

Late Court Defendant Freed in Car Theft Case

Dorothy M. Davis, 24 years old, who recently was sent to jail for 48 hours for appearing late in Police Court for trial on a charge of "tapping" a gas main, was freed yesterday in the same tribunal on a charge of stealing an automobile. She was arrested Monday night with two companions, Hugo Springer and Frank H. Christopher.

Both men were ordered held for the action of the grand jury on charges of joy riding. Springer also demanded trial by tury on a charge of larceny of automobile license tags. Charges in connection with the alleged theft of the automobile were dropped against Miss Davis by Assistant United States Attorney Charles B. Murray, on the grounds that there was no evidence to show that the woman knew she was in a stolen machine.

NUMBERS RAID NETS TRIO; FOURTH FLEES

$2,000 BONDS FURNISHED

Three alleged leaders of the "numbers" game racket in this city were arrested and $2,000 worth of equipment was seized by Central Office detectives in a raid on an apartment on Seventeenth street northwest, near S street, at noon yesterday. Leaping through a plate glass window, a fourth man made a sensational escape over roofs of adjoining buildings.

The men, James B. Carroll, 45, of Eleventh street near S street; Roland L. Hendricks, 28, of Irving street northwest, near D street, and Palmer Sowers, of New Hampshire avenue near L street, were charged with setting up a gaming table and later released on $2,000 bond.

The raid was made by Detective Sergts. Hubert Brodie and Frank Varney and Headquarters Driver H. H. Carper, following a three-week investigation. Brodie and Carper lay on the floor near one of the apartment doors for more than an hour yesterday before the raid was made, watching the occupants through a crack under the door.

According to the police, Sowers came to the door, admitted them when they knocked, and when they entered and were recognized the fourth man leaped from a window, breaking the glass, and made his escape over the roofs of adjoining buildings.

The police confiscated two adding machines and three suit cases of slips which, they say, amounted to more than $10,000.

Man Found Dead at Home.

Found unconscious on the kitchen floor of his home, Seventeenth street southeast near D street, Peter Greenleaf, colored, 70, died before medical aid from Casualty Hospital could reach him. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt issued a certificate of death from natural causes.

MUELLER'S
MACARONI . . SPAGHETTI

LENT is a perplexing period for women who must prepare family meals. Here are six weeks during which meal planning becomes increasingly difficult.

What more happy solution to the problem than Mueller's Macaroni and Spaghetti? Light and fluffy, yet healthful and sustaining, these tasty foods can be prepared in hundreds of appetizing ways. They cook thoroughly in nine minutes. Follow directions on the package and avoid the common mistake of overcooking—although one or two minutes more may be allowed if especial tenderness is desired.

Have Mueller's Macaroni and Spaghetti often during Lent. Made of a selected blend of farina, these easily digested foods are most nourishing. Your whole family will appreciate the lightness, fluffiness and distinctive flavor of Mueller's Macaroni and Spaghetti.

Remember to say "Mueller's" to your grocer today. He has it or can get it for you.

There are hundreds of ways in which Mueller's macaroni products can be prepared, all delicious. Send for our book of recipes in which many special dishes are illustrated in color. No cost or obligation. Just write to

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

DANGER IN HOSPITAL FILMS.

THE danger of storing X-ray negatives in hospitals, clinics and physicians' offices was the subject of an article in the Modern Hospital for November, 1928. This article was written by Dr. R. D. Hobbs. The methods devised were reproduced in the Journal of the American Medical Association, May 25, 1929. Those who need the information are advised to consult either of these journals.

Some part of the advice is as follows: Slow-burning or so-called noninflammable films are made by treating cotton with acetic anhydride and acetic acid. The advantage of these films is that they burn slowly and with difficulty and they do not produce poisonous gases. These slow-burning films are a little more expensive and they tend to roll and are not so easily filed. As an offset, they require no special provisions for fireproof storage.

If ordinary films are used they should be stored in places which meet fourteen requirements. Among these are:

No films should be stored within two feet of steam pipes, radiators, chimneys or other sources of heat.

Smoking should be prohibited in rooms where films are stored, in developing rooms and in similar work rooms. "No Smoking" signs should be posted in prominent places.

Film illuminators should be so designed that the glass is not hot to the touch.

Film negatives should be filed as soon as possible in heavy manila envelopes.

In rooms where films are filed or handled there should be no flames or any other than standard electrical fixtures. The use of portable lights or extension cords should be prohibited. All open lamp bulbs should be protected from breakage by suitable guards.

Stocks of films should be kept at a minimum.

A metal can with a self-closing hinged top should be provided for waste negatives and scrap.

Most of the remaining provisions refer to the structure and placing of vaults built to hold films. One provision of these building requirements is for adequate chimneys to the outside air.

DIET AND EXERCISE CURE.

L. E. R. writes: I am 19 years old. Ever since I can remember I was always badly constipated, but since my appendix was removed a year ago I am worse. My doctor advised me to continue taking physics until this condition disappeared, and I have followed his instructions without results. Sometimes even a physic doesn't help. I eat a great deal of raw and stewed fruits. Sometimes my bowels don't move for a week at a stretch.

Is there anything you can suggest to help me get rid of this condition, besides physics?

REPLY.

Most people can overcome constipation by diet and exercise. Some need the direction of a physician. Some require sanitarian care. Stop using pills and purgatives in other forms. Stick to an anticonstipation diet. This should be rich in various kinds of sour milk, bran foods, molasses, vegetables and fruits. Drink an abundance of water. Use bending exercises.

In addition, you may need to use flaxseed, psyllium seed or agar and mineral oil. Some drink a large glass of normal salt solution before breakfast.

BRITISH STILL TAKE FIGHTS SERIOUSLY

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 4.—The British press, which never has been successfully accused of harboring a sense of humor, is very indignant over the injustice done Faintin' Phil Scott, John Bull's boy, in the battle of the itching palms at Miami and one of the papers advises British boxers to keep away from the United States.

Of course, the only reason why British prizefighters come to the United States to fight is that the American customer spends dollars with reckless extravagance where the British customer spends shillings with cautious deliberation. It is useless to warn them clear of a land which has paid Fainting Phillip approximately $100,000 for less than 18 minutes of swooning in three abortive encounters. There is a smug arrogance about the British temperament, now here more apparent than in the editorials or leaders in the press, which assumes that true British sportsmanship is a special type of sportsmanship and true British pluck a very superior kind of pluck, and forgets that true British thrift is a very special kind of parsimony.

British Still Take Fights Seriously.

Although any continental bell hop will testify that as between handling six trunks for an English gentleman or six trunks for a French millionaire, he would much rather fetch one pitcher of cracked ice for an American schoolma'am doing Europe in three weeks on her savings for the current year.

It must be a simple-minded people which will take serious patriotic attitude toward a heavyweight prizefight in the United States in view of all the revelations that have been printed regarding the prize fight industry here since Gene Tunney acknowledged his signature on a mysterious agreement with Max (Boo Boo) Hoff, executed shortly before he took the ring against Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia. Just prior to their second fight in Chicago in the twilight of evening, a member of the Illinois Prize Fight Commission called on Dempsey at his training quarters, accompanied by an influential racketeer of the period, since deceased per small arms fire and this item of significant interest was printed, too!

Americans Not So Particular.

These and various other enlightening circumstances should have impressed the English press with the fact that prize fighting in this country, particularly in the upper ranks of the heavyweight class, is not sporting drama, but broad, mischievous farce, to be viewed with the same tolerant amusement with which all well-balanced persons regard their keynote speeches of the temporary chairmen at our national nominating conventions.

Americans, although they pay $25 for prize fight tickets, do not require, nor necessarily prefer, idealized sporting contests. Being partial, I believe, to the unexpected turns of strategy devised by the manipulators serving in the corners or on the prize fight commissions.

If the British press is outraged by the idea that Fainting Philip was denied his technical rights, as he certainly was in Miami, their sense of true British sportsmanship should remind them that Philip never earned the match in the first place, but was appointed for it, despite his depressing record, as a political favor from the New York Prize Fight Commission to his manager, James J. Johnston.

The taste of the American customer is such that those who paid their $25 to see the battle of the itching palms undoubtedly were more excited and better entertained by the hilarious foolishness in the third round than they would have been by a fifteen-round boxing match between a puncher without the skill to break through a defensive boxer too timid to let fly a punch lest he irritate his opponent.

Impossible to Ruin Phil's Reputation.

It seemed to me that the customers were well pleased with the show and not much interested in the identity or nationality of the victor, and as they were the only ones with anything at stake, the British press has no cause for complaint. Philip is better off by $30,000 minus the customary 30 per cent for his manager, and his reputation can not be said to have suffered, because his was a

Horton Smith Hired By New York Club

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—Horton Smith, brilliant 21-year-old golfer from Joplin, Mo., has been engaged as professional for the new Cragston Yacht and Country Club, it was announced today by the club president, F. Calvin Demarest.

The club now is under construction on the old J. Pierpont Morgan estate at Cragston-on-Hudson, a few miles below West Point. Smith is expected to begin his duties this spring.

Nats' Hurlers Learning to Hit Ball

Johnson Orders Box Staff to Take Batting Practice.

Ruel Shows Earliest Throwing Form in Recent Years.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss, March 4.—Batting practice for pitchers, such as the Nationals are staging, is an innovation in big league training, but Manager Walter Johnson sees in the plan a chance to do his team some good at no extra cost, for the flingers simply do their practice tossing against each other. This scheme will be followed until the regulars arrive March 9, after which the moundmen will not get as many opportunities to handle a bat.

Last season, it will be remembered, the Nationals "blew" many opportunities during games because, as a general proposition, none of the pitchers could lay down a sacrifice, and Johnson is having each and every one practice the gentle art of baseball suicide. He is also making the flingers take a good cut at the ball in the hope that some will show signs of getting a bingle now and then.

Recognizes Value of Hitting Pitchers.

The value of having a pitcher who can help himself out at the tee occasionally is inestimable in that even it often obviates the necessity of yanking him for a pinch hitter when he is pitching good ball. Frequently, an effective flinger is derricked for a utility batter only to have the relief hurler prove a complete flop and turn what previously had been a close ball game into a rout. Johnson, of course, does not have any hopes of making demon hitters out of all of his boxmen, but he does believe that a little practice will help.

That Catcher Harold "Muddy" Ruel has received considerable benefit from his off-season work on a rowing machine was quite apparent at this morning's session. During the past few springs, the little catcher has reported at camp with his throwing arm almost useless and it has not been until the beginning of the regular season that he has been able even to lob the ball to second base. It's different this year, Ruel demonstrated today, when he uncorked no less than five pegs fairly hard and accurately from behind the plate to the middle sack.

More Speed Noticed In Deliveries.

Although Manager Johnson and Trainer Mike Martin are still busy in seeing that the flingers do not injure their arms by putting too much on the ball, a gradual speeding up is noticeable and practically every member of the staff is now showing a freer form of delivery. Herb Pyle was particularly ambitious today and had to be called down several times for trying to sneak over some which literally whistled.

Carlos Moore, whom "Uncle Nick" Altrock had dubbed "Chief," because he reminds the comedian of an Indian, also is warming up to his work in fine style, while Don Savidge declares his arm feels as strong as it ever did.

There are no sore arms in camp, however, and the powers that be have threatened dire punishment to the first flinger pulling up with one, declaring that this will be a tip off that he has failed to follow instructions.

Bennie Tate Shows Batting Eye.

Catcher Bennie Tate, out for his first drill this morning, showed his usual pep and demonstrated that his batting eye is still with him. Sam Rice and Joe Judge also put out some nice ones. This was only their second day out.

Ossie Bluege is playing little baseball, his instructions being to gain full strength gradually in his knee, which was operated on last fall, before bothering with baseball work. He is on Martin's preferred list and is getting special attention in view of the fact that his comeback is almost of vital importance to the Washington team.

Emile Barnes, the Alabama redhead, reported to Manager Johnson this evening and will start work getting into condition. The fly chaser explained his delay in reporting due to the fact that he was in Birmingham sneaking in a little preliminary work with Clyde Milan's Barons. He reports himself fit and looks the part. Should Goose Goslin fail to come to an agreement as to salary with the Washington Club, Red likely will land the regular left-field berth.

Babe Ruth, Gay and Chipper But Unsigned, Officially Opens Training With Home Run

Bambino Gambols on Diamond Despite Salary Tangle.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—A chill, biting wind swept across the park, but perspiration dropped from the ruddy face of Babe Ruth. Grunting and "hollering," posing for cameramen or exchanging wise cracks with bystanders, the big fellow, capless, in the heavy white gym shirt, cavorted around first base like a rookie just up from a class "B" league.

In short, the great man who has yet to go through the momentous process of signing a 1930 contract, was the life of the Yankee party, going through a snappy drill under the watchful eyes of Manager Bob Shawkey and First Lieut. Arthur Fletcher.

The camp and hotel lobby gossip is that a compromise will be reached by the end of this week on the salary issue by which Ruth will sign a one-year contract for $85,000. This is the figure the Babe demanded for a new three-year term of office. The club's best offer, which Ruth unhesitatingly rejected, was $75,000 for each of the next two years.

Ruppert to Arrive Thursday.

The belief, however, is that Ruth is inclined to gamble on the future if he can haye his own figure met for at least this year. Col. Jacob Ruppert, the Yankee owner, may be willing to concede this proposition when he arrives here Thursday night to settle the situation in a personal conference with the big hitter. Then again, he may not, but there seems not the slightest reason to doubt that Ruth will sign. All the ballyhoo that this contract business had had is too valuable to be tossed overboard.

Ruth and the Yankees are bigger drawing cards than ever, to judge from the crowds of natives and tourists that have flocked out to see them drill during the past two days.

Automobiles with license plates from Maine to California, Ontario to Texas, pack the approaches to the park. The stands are filled with men and boys, as well as women and babes in arms.

All seem anxious to inspect the rather stout person who considers he is worth $10,000 more a year than the President of the United States. They can be heard discussing this as the Babe dives for one at first or bangs the ball out toward "alligator pond" in right center field.

Ruth Smacks One, Officially.

The spring training season is officially on when Ruth parks one in that spot and he did it this afternoon.

Ruth was full of chatter today. To a rookie from the corn country, at bat, he barked, "Come on, Broadway, what have you got?"

As Lyn Lary juggled one at short, not beginning to throw the ball, the Bbe shouted, "Hey, are you going to eat?"

Then he obligingly leaped high for an imaginary ball to gratify an amateur photographer. A foul ball bounced off his ear and the Babe delighted the crowd with his clowning. Asked abruptly about his golf, Ruth retorted: "Not so bad. Say, I was playing Sunday with a pro, Joe What's His Name." The Babe has a weakness for last names. "Hey," he roared, "has Whaddyou Cal 'Em gone yet?" It seemed he had, for there was no answer.

Hitting the Baseball Trail

PASO ROBLES, Calif., March 4 (A.P.).—The boys in the Pittsburgh Pirate training camp here are still talking today about the one Al Bool socked over the fence yesterday. It takes a mighty wallop to lift one over the wall here and Al's drive was by far the longest of the training season. Ervin Brame hit one over the fence several days ago.

Cards' Young Hurlers Rest Weary Arms.

Bradenton, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—Two workouts, without any batting practice, constituted the Cardinals' activities here today. With only six young pitchers in camp and their arms weary from their batting practice work yesterday, Manager Street decided it would be safer to let the players engage in pepper games and other forms of exercise.

Pitcher Carmen Hill reported today, leaving only seven men on the list of missing. Jesse Fowler, drafted from Reading, and Frankie Frisch are the only players not yet signed.

Ferrell Accepts Indians' Terms.

New Orleans, La., March 4 (A.P.).—Wesley Ferrell, one of the aces of the Cleveland Indian pitching staff, ended his controversy with General Manager Billy Evans over the matter of salary today with a telegram accepting the club offer for the season.

Ferrell was the last of the holdouts. Hudlin, another twirling ace holdout, joined the club here today. Ferrell was offered a substantial increase after his sensational showing last season during the Indian's climb to third place, but refused and countered with what officials of the club termed an "exorbitant demand." The offer of Evans, however, makes Ferrell the highest paid second year man in the history of the game.

Pitching Board Formed By Bucky Harris.

Tampa, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—Manager Bucky Harris has taken steps to improve the pitching quality of the Detroit Tigers, only one of whose moundmen finished the 1929 season with a winning record, without offending the pitcher temperament.

A board of pitching control was organized in the Tigers' training camp here, the members being Roger Bresnahan, Jean Dubuc and Aloysius Egan. Each of these coaches has a good record as a pitcher. Bresnahan having served in both giving and receiving ends of the battery.

Giant Rookie Fans Five in Row.

San Antonio, Tex., March 4 (A.P.). Jim Tennant, of Gettysburg, Pa., tallest, widest and wildest rookie on the New York Giants' pitching staff, showed John McGraw what he could do when he was right today.

Possessed of a mean curve ball that bewilders the boys when Tennant has it under control, the big Pennsylvanian struck out five men in a row in a practice game today, and his victims included such notables as Travis Jackson and Mel Ott.

Robins Find Vance For 3 Homers.

Clearwater, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins took most of the wind out of Dazzy Vance's sails today by nicking his delivery for three home runs in the course of a practice game. Johnny Frederick sent two balls over the right field fence in as many trips to the plate and Jake Flowers followed with a third homer.

But despite the three homers, Vance's team, the irregulars, beat the so-called regulars, 12-9, in the first nine-inning practice game the Robin squad has played. Vance bore down a bit for the first of his three innings job. Elliott and Roy followed, with Morrison, Dudley and Moore pitching for the regulars.

Lefty O'Doul Signs; Klein Out of Fold.

Winterhaven, Fla., March 4 (A.P.). Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, king pin of National League hitters last season, wired Burt Shotten Monday he had signed his contract and is leaving for the Philadelphia National League training camp here immediately.

Chuck Klein, the young homerun hitter, is now the only regular of the team who is said to have withheld his signature to a 1930 contract. Pinkie Whitney, third baseman, who had been referred to as a holdout, has signed his contract.

Kress and Manush Still Holdouts.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—Ten players were missing from the Browns' training camp here today, but Manager Bill Killefer was expecting the early arrival of most of them. Killefer, however, was not hopeful that Ralph Kress and Heine Manush would arrive soon, since neither has indicated any willingness to go to work for what the Browns offered them.

The work of Pitcher Dick Coffman continued to impress Manager Killefer.

Probe of Minnesota Athletics Under Way

Minneapolis, March 4 (A.P.).—Marking the preliminary stage of the investigation of athletics at the University of Minnesota, three members of the committee of four invited to make the survey arrived here today to become acquainted with the facts in the sports situation at the school.

The three members are Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Western Conference; Dr. H. M. Gage, president of Coe College and president of the North Central Conference, and C. W. Savage, director of athletics at Oberlin College. The fourth member, Grantland Rice, New York sports writer, was detained by other engagements.

President Lotus D. Coffman, of Minnesota, conferred with the committee members today and submitted preliminary data for the study. The length of time the committee will study the situation before submitting recommendations was not determined. The report will be made only after the committee feels it has learned sufficient facts to make final recommendations.

Glenna Collett's 74 Wins Medal in Florida

St. Augustine, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—Miss Glenna Collett, the national woman's golf champion, won the medal today in the qualifying round of the annual Florida East Coast women's tournament with a 37, 37—74.

Miss Van Wie shot a 40, 38—78, while Miss Orcutt garnered the same. Miss Hicks carded a 38, 40—78.

Rather stiff winds prevailed through the qualifying play.

Alabama Wins Over Duke In Finals

Blue Devils Defeated, 31-24, in Conference Tournament.

Alabama Undefeated in 10 Games With Circuit Foes.

Special to The Washington Post.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 4.—Alabama won the Southern Conference basket ball championship here tonight by defeating the Duke University Blue Devils, 31 to 24, in the final contest of the annual tournament which called sixteen outstanding teams into action here last week.

Tonight's defeat marked the second successive year that Duke has battled its way to the final game, only to be eliminated. Last year the North Carolina State Team removed Duke from the championship path in the final game.

The contest also marked the fifteenth consecutive victory for Alabama against Southern Conference foes, having won ten games prior to the start of the tournament.

National Field Trials To Be Opened Today

Grand Junction, Tenn., March 4 (A.P.).—Full chested and proud, Bob White whistled from the clover fields today, and the folks in these parts talked dog language. Tomorrow the national field trials will be opened out at the old Hancock place.

Rich sportsmen from the cities, who buy dogs for the pride of ownership, pay large prices for their possessions and spend small fortunes to watch them work a few hours a year gathered in groups, smoked fat cigars and talked dogs.

Mary Blue will work in the trials, and she must defend the national championship she won here last year. Mary Blue is a pointer with brown eyes, brown ears, a brown spot on her tail and lots of courage. W. C. Teagle, of New York, owns her. Her first competition will be with Rod M's Dna, a setter, owned by E. R. Beetham, of Cleveland, Ohio.

All 3 Capital Teams Play in Tourney Today

With Western and Tech both victorious in yesterday's games of the Penn Tournament, and Central scheduled to return to Philadelphia this morning, today's tournament play will be the first that has been marked by the appearance of all three of the Washington teams entered. Central, idle since its opening victory on Saturday, will be playing in the third round along with its two local rivals, having passed the second round with a bye.

Tech will be the first of the Capital City teams to play, meeting the Philadelphia Overbrook High Five at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Central will take the floor three hours later to meet the Hagerstown Quintet at 7 o'clock, while Western will wait until 9 o'clock before meeting the winner of the Philadelphia Central-Salesianum game.

An odd angle of the play of the Western Team is the work of Everett Buscher, not a regular during the season, but taking a leading hand in its tournament triumphs. Throughout each game, Buscher has been one of the mainsprings of the Western offense and has displaced Jimmy Thompson, his brilliant leader, as a tournament scoring threat. Buscher has an average of five field goals per game for the three games thus far.

Likewise, on the Tech team, a newcomer made his presence felt by coming through with the game-saving toss, Edgar Johnson, in this case, being the player involved. Ineligible throughout the season, Johnson came through in fine shape yesterday and seems about to be ready to take on where he left off when relegated to the bench early in the season.

Should all three District teams come through with victories today, it is not improbable that two of them may meet tomorrow in the quarter finals.

Woltz Five Tramples Pratt Whirlwinds, 46-25

The Pratt Whirlwind winning streak went awry last night when the Woltz Photographers ran up a 46 to 25 score against the 145-pound class title contenders at Silver Spring. Buscher and Forney scored freely, the latter doing especially classy work in the second half. Jakie Lewis was held scoreless from the floor. Chase led the Whirlwind attack.

The Woltzmen engage the Y. M. C. A. Five at the Central Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock.

Ben Franklin Tossers End Year With Victory

Benjamin Franklin Courtmen closed their season last night on the Y. M. C. A. Floor with a sensational win over the Southeastern University Five, holding their foes without a field goal in the second half to win, 40 to 20. The Accountants had a record of 15 wins in 22 starts throughout the season.

After a slow first half in which they trailed the Southeastern five, 14-11, he winners came back with a rush and after the first few minutes the result was never in doubt. Sherman and Singman led the attack which overwhelmed the Southeastern team.

Favorites Score Again In Florida Title Tennis

Palm Beach, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—Favorites again ruled the courts today and paved the way for some fast quarter finals in the twentieth annual Florida men's tennis championship on the Palm Beach Tennis Club's courts.

Seeded players, including Norris Williams 2d., eleventh ranking player; J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J.; Emmett Pare, Dayton, Ohio; Marcel Rainville, Montreal; Craig Biddle, Peacedale, R. I., and Karl H. Hodge, St. Louis, won their matches handily, with the exception of Hodge. He received a good fight from J. D. E. Jones, Providence, R. I.

However, Jones went into the game with a sore arm and was forced to default after losing the first set, 7—5, and winning the second, 5—3.

Western Eliminates Naugatuck, Champions, 26-25.

Missed Foul Is Aid; Tech Triumphs Over Fracksville, 40-37.

Special to The Washington Post.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 4.—Western and McKinley Tech High Schools, of Washington, both reached the quarter-final round in the tenth annual Pennsylvania interscholastic basket ball tournament here today after heart-throbbing encounters.

Western took the spotlight of the day's play when it eliminated Naugatuck High, 1928 and 1929 champions, in a sensational battle in which the lead seesawed back and forth seven times in the second half, the final score being 26 to 25.

Tech captured its third-round game, its debut in the tournament, from Frackville (Pa.) High, 40 to 37. Frackville is the champion of Schuylkill County.

Bob Freeman, lanky center man, was the offensive star in the one-point triumph for Western. He scored four field goals, all in the second half, his last two sending the victors into the lead, 26 to 22, with a little more than a minute to play.

Guard Nervous on Vital Foul Try.

The Connecticut quintet rallied and tallied three points to come within one point of the deadlock and then failed in its effort to tie the count with a foul try after the final whistle blew. John Balinsky, a guard on Naugatuck, was given the opportunity to send the contest into extra periods, but he was nervous and missed the try from the 15-foot mark. It meant victory for Western.

Everett Buscher registered four field goals in the first half to help Western pile up a 12-to-9 lead. The ultimate victory held the edge until Poscavage, Naugatuck center, basketed two 2-pointers in a row and sent his team in front, 17 to 16. Four field goals by Freeman and one by Babbitt finished the Western's scoring.

It was a field goal by Edgar Johnson, only recently eligible for play with the Washington Tech Team, that assured that team its triumph. Johnson came through by sending the ball through the cords when his team was holding but a scanty 1-point lead, with seconds to play. Johnson also counted two other field goals and a like number of free tosses throughout the game.

Russell Scores 15 Points for Tech.

However, it was left to Everett Russell, one of the National Capital's leading schoolboy basketers, to walk off with the honors of the day for his team. Six times Russell sent the ball spinning through the net for double-deckers, which, together witth three foul shots, enabled him to lead his team in scoring with 15 points.

McKnliey Tech held a 21-15 advantage at the half-way mark, but saw its advantage considerably narrowed in the final twenty minutes of play.

ULUNIU CAPTURES MARDI GRAS HANDICAP HANDILY

Donnay Last As Record Is Tied

Uluniu Wins Easily at Mile and Eighth in 1:51 1-5.

Battleship, at 8 to 1, Takes Derby Trial at Miami.

FAIR GROUNDS, New Orleans, March 4 (A.P.).—Finishing with speed to spare, Uluniu carried the silks of Mrs. R. Pollard to victory today in the $5,000 Mardi Gras Handicap as the winter racing season came to a close at the Fair Grounds.

Thirteen of the ranking older thoroughbreds in training here accepted the issue over the mile and an eighth, but when it came to the running Uluniu was in a class all by himself. J. Parmalee reserved him off the early pace, but at the top of the stretch gave the word and the 4-year-old son of Rodgers moved up with a burst of speed that sent him past the judges' stand at a length and a half in front of George Collins' famous Old Slip. S. W. LaBrot's Dinah Did Upset was third, beaten by a head for the place. Parmalee finished with one foot out of the stirrup iron.

Wagering on the large field was always scattered, Uluniu being the fourth choice and paying $13.20 for a $2 straight ticket. The Rancocas Stable's Donnay was the favorite at $3.75 on the dollar, but was never a factor, finishing last in the field of thirteen. Uluniu stepped the route in 1:51 1-5 to equal the track record.

Battleship Scores In Fast Time.

Miami Race Track, Fla., March 4 (A.P.).—Walter J. Salmon's Battleship, 8 to 1, had no difficulty in annexing the Trial Derby, and his time was 1:38 4-5, over a track that was far from being fast. It was a good effort, and stamps him as a dangerous contender for the Florida Derby, which is to be run on the closing day, Saturday, March 8. Playfellow's Dream was second and Titus third. St. Prisca, favorite, was fourth.

Battleship never left the result in doubt after the lifting of the barrier. Schaefer, who had the mount, rushed the son of Man o' War to the front and let him rate along. The big chestnut colt was under stout restraint to the stretch, where he drew away to win by four lengths. Playfellow's Dream beat Titus a length for the place.

Corinthian A. C. Nines Plan for 11th Season

Three baseball teams will represent the Corinthian A. C., which is about to enter its eleventh year in amateur diamond history, this year, Walter Newman, manager for the past six years, announced last night. Insect, midget and junior class teams will seek Capital City League honors. The midgets won the league title last year, while the insect team finished fourth in both the Capital City and French leagues.

All Corinthian players will meet Friday night at Immaculate Conception Hall, Eighth and N streets northwest, at 8 o'clock. All candidates are asked to report, especially insect team aspirants.

Whirlwind Five Wins Title Over Celtics

By defeating the Celtics last night, 34 to 31, the Walters Whirlwinds won the Boys' Club Basket Ball League unlimited championship. The score was tied at 30-all with three minutes to go when Raeder's basket sent the Whirlwinds into the lead and Self's basket clinched the verdict. A. Panella played a great game for the losers, who won the runner-up honors in the league.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RIGHT NOW, $28.40, $10.00, $4.80; MISS CANOPY, $43.20, $28.70; CHEHALIS, $5.00.

RIGHT NOW, away well, moved into a short lead in the first quarter and, after disposing of PHIL REUTER, held on gamely to outfinish MISS CANOPY. The latter finished in resolute fashion after losing ground turning into the stretch. CHEHALIS raced forwardly all the way and had no mishaps.

SECOND RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:47. Off at 3:48. Winner, T. Coffey's b. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—REJUVENATION, $6.70, $3.90, $2.90; TALL GRASS, $3.80, $2.70; MULATTO, $3.30.

REJUVENATION, moving into the lead approaching the half-mile pole, continued well thereafter and, under energetic handling, just lasted. TALL GRASS, probably much the best, raced reservedly off the early pace until reaching the half-mile pole, where he encountered sharp interference while moving up from WALTER R. and then came again after recovering and would have won in a few more strides. MULATTO went forwardly all the way and had no mishaps.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start poor. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:22½. Off at 3:23. Winner, Rancocas Stable's ch. c. (3), by Purchase—Pinta. Two-dollar mutuels paid—COLUMBUS, $7.80, $4.70, $3.80; ULTIMATE VOTE, $6.00, $4.30; GREGORY, $8.20.

COLUMBUS, displaying good speed from the break, disposed of GREGORY after going a quarter and, continuing gamely in the final drive, outfinished ULTIMATE VOTE. The latter raced forwardly on the outside throughout and challenged stoutly through the stretch, but was not quite good enough. GREGORY displayed speed away from the gate and continued well after being headed to save third money. MORTANA had no mishaps. PORTSUR was away slowly.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,000; allowances. For 3-year-olds. Start poor. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:52. Off at 4:00. Winner, R. R. Bradley's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BROTHER RANK, $5.80, $3.20, out; REVEILLE BOY, $4.50, out; KINCSEN, out.

BROTHER RANK, fractious at the post, was off well, moved into the lead at once and, setting a good pace, held on well in the final drive to outfinish REVEILLE BOY. The latter, fractious at the post, broke slowly from the extreme outside of the machine, then raced under close-up restraint to the stretch, where he challenged resolutely, but could not get up. KINCSEN, off slowly, was rated along under close-up restraint to the stretch, where she failed to respond when called upon. CORAL BEACH had no mishaps.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $5,000 added. The Mardi Gras Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:32. Off at 4:33. Winner, Mrs. R. Pollard's b. g. (4), by Rodgers—Asagais Christine. Trained by R. Pollard. Value to winner, $5,570; second, $1,000; third, $500; fourth, $250. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ULUNIU, $13.20, $7.40, $6.10; OLD SLIP, $8.20, $4.10; DINAH DID UPSET, $9.00.

ULUNIU, reserved off the early pace, moved up stoutly on the outside in the stretch and, overhauling the leaders, was drawing clear at the end. Parmelee, his rider, finished with one foot out of the stirrup iron. OLD SLIP, slow to find his stride, raced far back until reaching the final quarter, then came with a rush through the stretch to outfinish DINAH DID UPSET for the place. DINAH DID UPSET, a forward factor all the way, held on gamely on the final drive. UNCOMMON GOLD weakened after taking a brief lead in the stretch. STARS AND BARS had no mishaps. GALAHAD closed a gap after encountering sharp interference. PAUL BUNYAN tired. BEAMING OVER met with interference in the stretch. DONNAY raced far out of it all the way.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CUDDLE, $18.40, $8.80, $3.90; RUANE, $5.30, $3.30; KADIAK, $2.60.

CUDDLE, jumping off the early pace, moved up readily when called upon and, assuming command in the stretch, held on well under punishment to outfinish RUANE. The latter, under restraint early, moved up stoutly in the stretch, but was outfinished. KADIAK raced forwardly to the stretch, where he appeared to weaken when put to a drive. LITTLE GYP tired after setting the early pace. RED CLIFFE was given a poor ride.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:37. Off at 5:37. Winner, Mrs. C. Phillips' ch. c. (4), by Friar Rock—Seaside. Trained by C. Phillips. Value to winner, $750; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24, 0:48 1-5, 1:13, 1:39 2-5, 1:52 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SEABRIGHT, $10.40, $5.80, $3.80; BOROUGH MONGER, $4.50, $3.50; NANCY SETH, $3.40.

SEABRIGHT, moving into the lead at once, displayed the most speed in pacemaking and, continuing well in the final stages, held race safe. BOROUGH MONGER challenged stoutly through final stages, but was not good enough. NANCY SETH, allowed to drop far out of it early, closed an immense gap in the final stages. FRANK HAWLEY had no mishaps.

HOUSE GROUP FAVORS D. C. AMATEUR BOXING BILL

Legal Boxing Supported By Shelby

Police Aid Indorses Measure Before Sub-Committee.

House District Committee Also Expected to Favor Bill.

THE renewed movement to give the District amateur boxing as conducted in other cities received impetus yesterday when the Hartley bill was reported favorably to the House District committee by the judiciary subcommittee following a two-hour hearing at which there was no spoken word of opposition.

Having gained the subcommittee's approval, it is expected that the bill will be treated kindly by the full committee, although those closely identified with the situation refused to make any positive predictions. The letter of the District Commissioners who opposed the bill was read, but evoked no comment.

Strong recommendation that the bill be passed was made at the hearing by its sponsor, Representative Fred A. Hartley, of New Jersey; Representative Robert H. Clancy, of Michigan; Inspector William S. Shelby, assistant superintendent of police, and Edward Rosenblum, chairman of the boxing committee of the District of Columbia Association of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Would Keep Out Undesirables.

Inspector Shelby said, in effect, that enactment of the bill would tend to keep away from Washington the undesirable underworld element which sometimes is attracted to places where professional prize fighting is conducted.

The Hartley bill would legalize amateur boxing with the charging of nominal admission fees and award of prizes not to exceed in value $35. It provides for the appointment of a boxing commission of three members to serve without salary, to be named by the Board of District Commissioners and limits bouts to four rounds of two minutes' duration each. One member of the commission would be appointed from the Police Department under the terms of an amendment adopted by the subcommittee.

It is possible that the bill will be acted on by the House District committee at its meeting today.

French A. C. Five Holds League Lead

The French A. C. Five retained the leadership of the Independent Pro Basket Ball League last night by defeating the United Typewriter Grays in a heated, hard fought contest on the armory floor at Silver Spring. The final score was 26 to 24. It was the French team's fourth victory in as many starts in the league.

Wilson High Five Wins Virginia District Crown

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 4.—Defeating the Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind here tonight, 6 to 20 21, in the finals of the Regional Tournament, held in Memorial Gymnasium, at the University of Woodrow Wilson High School eam, of WayneTsboro, earned the right to enter the finals for the State Class B championship to be held next Monday at the university under the auspices of the State High School Literary and Athletic League. By agreement, tonight's victory carried with it the championship of district four.

Inners in the three other regional tourneys held in the State are Vinton, Hampton and Buchanan.

The outcome of tonight's game was a big upset, the Waynesboro quintet having lost two games during the league season to V. S. D. B. by close margins. The battle proved to most exciting high school contest staged here in years. Six times the score was knotted. Midway the fourth quarter Russell, of aynesboro, shot a spectacular goal to give his team a one-point lead, and L. Lough followed with two double-deckers to cinch the regional championship.

Charlottesville, Va., March 4.—The quints from the Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind of Staunton and from Woodrow Wilson High School, Waynesboro, emerged victorious in this afternoon's preliminaries to pick a regional basket ball tourney winner. The former defeated Lane High, Charlottesville, 20 to 11, and the latter won from Bridgewater High, 20 to 9. In the first contest the Staunton School held Charlottesville to one field goal each in the first three quarters.

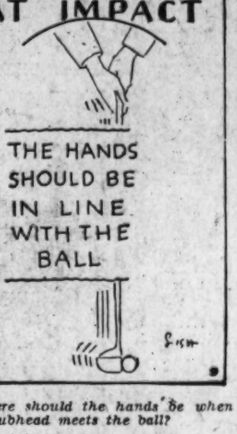
GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

AT IMPACT



THE HANDS SHOULD BE IN LINE WITH THE BALL

Answered by BOB CRUICKSHANK,
Winner of Los Angeles, San Antonio, Hot Spring, North-and-South Open Championships, 1927; Maryland Open, 1928.

The hands should be in a line with or just a shade in front of the ball at the moment of impact. If you address the ball with the hands on a line with it, that is the position they should have when the ball is hit. Letting the hands get too far ahead of the ball during the stroke frequently causes a slice. Again a dubbed shot is sometimes caused by the hands being too far behind the ball, causing the player to pull the club. However, while these are good things to know, the best method is to forget about the position of the hands while playing a shot, as this tends to take the player's mind off of more important points.

17 SCHOOLBOY FIVES PLAY AT W. & L.

8 Prep Teams, 9 From High Schools Begin Tourney Thursday.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 4.—Pairings for the South Atlantic Interscholastic Basket Ball tournament to be held at Washington and Lee University here this week were made this afternoon. Seventeen selected basket ball teams from four States will compete for honors in preparatory and high school divisions of the tournament, which will begin Thursday afternoon and end Saturday night.

The tournament this year is smaller than usual because officials decided to eliminate all teams which do not have a successful season behind them. For this reason, a number of high schools usually represented will not compete this year.

Massanutten Military Academy, Woodstock, Va., and Greenbrier Military Academy, Lewisburg, W. Va., lead the two brackets in the preparatory school division, in which eight teams are entered, and John Marshall High, Richmond, and Durham (N. C.) High are leaders in the high school division, made up of nine teams.

Finals to Be Held Saturday Night.

Nine games will be played in the first round of the tournament Thursday. Four games will be played Friday and three Saturday. Championships in the two divisions will be determined Saturday afternoon, and the grand championship will be fought out Saturday night.

The prep school division's pairings are: Massanutten vs. St. Mary's; Staunton Military Academy vs. Benedictine; Fork Union Military vs. Danville Military, and Greenbrier vs. McGuire's, Richmond.

The high school division calls for a preliminary game between Brownsburg and Fisherville, the winner to play John Marshall. Other pairings are: Durham vs. Cowpens; Lynchburg vs. Lexington; Charleston vs. Staunton. All teams entered have enviable records. Charleston and Durham are battling for State championships in South and North Carolina, respectively, when entries were filed; Massanutten, Greenbrier, S. M. A. and McGuire's have maintained excellent records, while Fork Union and Benedictine are considered strong favorites by many.

Gold Cup Steeplechase At Warrenton May 3

Richmond, Va., March 4 (A.P.).—The throbbing of pounding hoofbeats in Virginia's greatest racing event, the Gold Cup Steeplechase, will be heard at Warrenton this year on May 3, two weeks before the Kentucky Derby at Louisville.

Famous in the past and known to lovers of riding throughout the country, the steeplechase is expected this year to attract visitors from many sections of the United States. It is run over an almost ideal country course.

LAST CHANCE TO WEIGH IN PLAYERS

Friday Is Final Day for A. A. U. Basketers to Qualify.

A FINAL opportunity will be afforded Friday night for overweight players to become eligible for play in the District A. A. U. basket ball tournament, to be held under the auspices of The Washington Post, starting next week.

The completion of the regular weighing process last night at the Washington Boys' Club found a number of ambitious courtmen still overweight, facing the prospect of being barred from competition due to inability to make the weight limit of their respective classes.

The basket ball committee decided last night to offer another opportunity for these overweight players to become eligible. All players who failed to get under the maximum figure for their respective classes will be weighed Friday night after 7:30 o'clock at the Boys' Club.

Teams Face Loss Of Players.

Several teams face probable loss of valuable players. Unless these players can qualify Friday night, the complex of the several championship races may be considerably altered.

Officials announced last night that the selection of a playing floor for tournament games will be definitely made today. Officials will probably be named today, also.

The Shipley Midgets of College Park will compete in the 115-pound class instead of the 100-pound class as previously announced, it was learned in checking the entry list. This change, leaves eight contenders in the century-weight division and boosts the entry list of the 115-pound class to nine teams.

BOAT CLUB COASTS TO WIN.

Potomac Boat Club coasted to victory on a 21-2 advantage gained at the end of the first half last night, and easily defeated the Pontiac Five, 28-12, at the Eastern High Gymnasium.

STOCK PRICES RISE; SALES SAG SLIGHTLY

Industrials and Utilities Lead in the Day's Irregular Advance.

BUILDING CONTRACTS UP

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—The bull faction was able to keep the speculative situation in hand in today's stock market, and succeeded in lifting more than a score of utilities, industrials and pool favorites to new highs for the year. The market was inclined to slip during the morning, and the upturn was not easily accomplished. The advance was not uniform, considerable irregularity persisting throughout the day.

The day's trading reflected continued unsettlement in the commodity markets, and the varied character of business reports. Improvement in the cotton and grain markets during the afternoon prompted short covering and aided the bull cause on the stock market. Trading continued moderately active, as judged by early 1930 standards. Transfers aggregated 3,455,676 shares, nearly 200,000 less than yesterday.

Further indications of moderate retarding of steel operations appeared. United States Steel was said to have maintained its operations between 85 and 86 per cent of capacity for the third successive week, but independents reported further slackening. The average operations for the entire industry is now around 79 per cent of capacity, a reduction of 2 per cent in two weeks, and contrasting with 93 per cent a year ago.

Montgomery Ward Sales Off.

Montgomery Ward's report of February sales was distinctly disappointing, showing a reduction of about 11 1-3 per cent from a year ago, the first decline from a corresponding month in a preceding year in two years. During this period, furthermore, the company has more than doubled its retail stores, which now total about 550.

Among the more favorable exhibits was the F. W. Dodge weekly report of total building contracts let in the States east of the Rockies, which appeared to give tangible evidence of the long promised revival of construction work. Contracts let in the week ended February 28 totaled $133,899,500, a gain of 102 per cent over the previous week, 34 per cent over the like week of a year ago.

Payment of the regular dividend by Kennecott Copper tended to still apprehensions over the prospect of maintaining the level of copper prices. Producers point out that while consumers are holding off buying in the belief that large refiners' stocks hold promise of concessions, consumers' stocks have fallen to abnormally low levels, so that the total surplus supplies of the metal are substantially lower than appears at first glance.

Money continued to ease, despite expectations that the month-end settlements would cause an opposite tendency this week. Call money held at 4 per cent, and time money and bankers acceptance rates were shaded. The weekly consolidated statement of Federal Reserve member banks gives a clew to the plentiful supply of funds, showing a reduction last week in loans of $91,000,000, of which $64,000,000 was in commercial loans. This is interpreted in Wall street as reflecting the slow rate of operations in many lines of industry.

Cotton Losses Reduced.

Wheat futures reacted 2 cents or more, reflecting uncertainty as to the course indicated by the Farm Board's changed buying policy, large offerings of Canadian and Argentine wheat at Liverpool and favorable reports regarding the new domestic crop. Most of the losses were recovered before the close, however, in buying attributed to Farm Board sources and short covering prompted by a rally at Winnipeg. Cotton was depressed for a time, the May contract dipping momentarily below 15 cents a pound, but losses were reduced to from 5 to 60 cents a bale. The selling was attributed to a further decline in silver, with its depressing effect upon Bombay.

Utilities were a strong feature of the share market. Bullishness has been stirred up in this group by rumors of ambitious natural gas marketing plans in the Central and Eastern States. Columbia Gas and Consolidated Gas each rose about 2 points to new 1930 highs, and North American 8. Farm equipments were also strong, with Case, normally a wide mover, shooting up 23 points to a new 1930 peak at 265. Westinghouse Electric was a strong spot in the industrials, selling up more than 7 points to a new top at 192. Several of the chemicals were in demand, Union Carbide rising a couple of points to a new peak. Radio sold up nearly 2 points to another 1930 peak above 50. Standard of New Jersey rose more than 2 points to 62¼, then slipped back a point. U. S. Steel closed up 1½ points. Otis Elevator was heavy, dropping 16 points.

Leading foreign exchange rates were generally firmer, sterling cables rallying ⅛ cent to $4.86. The Spanish peseta continued to drop, touching 11.61 cents, off about 1-3 cent.

EASY MONEY HELPS U.S. BONDS' ADVANCE

UTILITY GROUP DECLINES

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—Money was easy today, but the bond market made only a half-hearted response to this reflection of favorable credit conditions. However, United States Government securities showed moderate strength and all issues moved higher, led by the Treasury 3⅛s which rose ten thirty-seconds on substantial buying. The Fourth Liberties were also active, selling just under their 1930 high.

Rates on time money eased to 4½ to 4¾ per cent for all maturities. Call funds were unchanged at 4 per cent. The fact that some business is being done in twelve-month loans at 5 per cent was taken as an indication that a period of comparatively low interest charges is expected, and this resulted in accumulation of numbers of high grade bonds. Nevertheless the inquiry was shallow and closing prices were rather mixed.

New offerings of the day totaled nearly $70,000,000, the largest volume in some time, and the failure of the market to make a better showing was attributed to competition from this source. The American & Foreign Power Co.'s $50,000,000 of 100-year debenture 5s was reported to have been well taken and an over-subscription was announced. Listed utilities eased.

Erie 5s Reach New Low.

Burlington 4½s, Atchison general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s, Delaware & Hudson 4s, New York Central debenture 4s, Pennsylvania general 4½s, Northern Pacific 4½s and Southern Pacific 4s were firm, but easing tendencies prevailed in Union Pacific first 4s, St. Louis & San Francisco prior lien 4s, Virginian 5s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s and a few other high-grade rails. Erie 5s sold down to 94, a new low for the year, on liquidation occasioned by the prospective new issue. International Great Northern adjustment 6s lost 3 points. Central of New Jersey 5s made a new 1930 high of 111 for a net gain of 1 point.

American Telephone 5s of 1965 and International Telephone 5s received support, but numerous utilities, including Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Pacific Gas & Electric 5s and Western Union gold 5s, sold off from ¼ to ½. Laclede 5½s dipped 1⅞. Montana Power 5s advanced ½.

Loew's 6s Touch New Peak.

Armour Real Estate 4½s, a weak spot on Monday, recovered part of the lost ground. Other firm industrials were American Smelting 5s, Republic Iron & Steel 5½s, Western Electric 5s, and United Drug of Delaware 5s. The last named was particularly active and made a net gain of ½. In the specialty list, Pathe 7s without warrants sagged a point and Loew's 6s moved up to another new high, at 98.

Convertibles traded irregularly. American Telephone 4½s in a strong finish converted a small decline into a net advance of a point. Parmelee Transportation 4s, recently buoyant, dropped about 1½.

Trading in foreign bonds slackened, but the group was generally higher. Berlin City Electric 6½s and the Colombia Mortgage Bank issues touched new peaks for the year, and French 7s duplicated their previous high of 116. Belgians eased.

GAS FIRMS' MERGER IS AGAIN RUMORED

Failure of One Company to Elect Officers Seen as Move to Join.

RAPID TRANSIT REPORTS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Rumors of a merger of Washington and Georgetown Gas Light companies were again revived yesterday by a second postponement of the annual election of the former corporation until April 8. Company officials were silent regarding reasons for the postponement.

Since the last meeting of the company's board of directors, announcement was made of an attempt to consolidate the companies, which are already under the same management. When control of the company was obtained by out-of-town interests a little more than a year ago, there were reports prevalent regarding combination of the two companies and their possible expansion, but since then the same management has remained in charge.

While no considerable expansion program has been effected the latest financial statement of the Washington Gas Light Co. is one of the best. Stock of the company, which is at present somewhat inactive, is quoted on the Washington Stock Exchange at 106 bid and 130 asked.

New Investment Firm.

Announcement is made today of the formation of the firm of Lydon, Diem & Co. to transact a general investment banking business in high-grade listed and unlisted securities. Officers of the new firm are Frank C. Diem, president, formerly assistant vice president of the Liberty National Bank of Buffalo; Joseph M. Lydon, well known in Boston investment circles for a number of years as vice president, and Alfred G. Nelson, of Boston, assistant treasurer and cashier.

The firm has opened offices in the Washington Building, in this city; in the Liberty Bank Building, Buffalo, and at 80 Congress street, Boston.

E. Jos Aronoff, for twelve years secretary and chief clerk of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, will manage the Washington office.

Acacia April Meeting Planned.

Plans now are being formulated by the Acacia Mutual Life Association for the April meeting here of the field advisory committee. This group is composed of three branch managers appointed on the basis of efficiency. They meet with two officers of the association for the discussion of numerous matters of importance to the growth and development of Acacia.

The field advisory committee, which had its first meeting in January, is said to be unique in life insurance circles. The April meeting will bring to Washington Bernard R. Miller, of San Diego; Charles K. Warren, of Seattle, and Arthur E. Welsh, of St. Louis. The principal headings for discussion will be "Conservation," "Production" and "Personnel."

The statement of operations of the Washington Rapid Transit Co., filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission, showed under the item of balance transferred to profit and loss a deficit of $3,019.73 for January, 1930, as against a deficit of $2,396.96 for January, 1929.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 4 (A.P.).—Montgomery Ward & Co. sales for the month of February were $13,405,885, a decrease of $249,385, or 1.34 per cent from the corresponding month of 1929. Sales for the first two months of 1930 were $36,736,993, compared with $36,784,106 in the same period of 1929. This was a decrease for the two months of $47,108, or .13 per cent. Montgomery Ward has 550 retail stores in operation, while a year ago the chain comprised about 200 stores.

Construction contracts awarded in 37 States east of the Rocky Mountains during the week ending February 28 amounted to $133,899,500, the F. W. Dodge Corporation reports. This amount was by far the largest weekly contract total since the first of the year and compares with the preceding week's total of $63,562,300, an increase of 102 per cent, and with the total for the corresponding week of last year of $99,943,700, a gain of 34 per cent. Contracts let since the first of the year, however, total but $641,028,200, which is at a daily rate of about 17 per cent below the rate activity prevailing during the same period of 1929.

Business of the American Can Co. held up very well during the first two months of the year to the record of last year, H. W. Phelps, president, said at the annual meeting today. Prospects for the year are very good, he said, adding that the reports on crops indicate that the acreage planted this year will be a little in excess of that of 1929.

Operations in the steel industry fell off slightly during the past week, according to Dow, Jones & Co., with the industry as a whole now averaging around 79 per cent of rated capacity, compared with 80 per cent a week ago, and a shade above 81 per cent two weeks ago. A year ago this time operations increased about 4 per cent to around 93 per cent. Plants of the U. S. Steel Corporation continue operating at between 85 and 86 per cent for the third consecutive week, while the independent mills are running just above 73 per cent, as contrasted with 75 per cent in the previous week and 77 per cent two weeks ago.

Wall street heard today that there will be no public offering of the American shares in the recently formed bank for international settlements, and that these shares will be held and, in part, privately distributed by J. P. Morgan & Co., the First National Bank of New York and the First National Bank of Chicago.

John H. Markham, jr., president of the Petroleum Corporation of America, was elected a director of the Prairie Pipe Line Co., at the annual meeting today. The Petroleum Corporation has a large interest in the Prairie Pipe Line Co.

TEACHERS IN FAIRFAX TO ATTEND MEETING

County Board Will Allow Schools to Close for District H. Event.

LENTEN SERVICES SET

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
F. O. Box 245, Vienna, Va.
Phone Vienna 64.

The Fairfax County School Board met yesterday in the courthouse at Fairfax, with John T. DeBell acting chairman, John T. Haislip, Herbert Williams, Samuel H. Styles, Dr. F. N. Brooks, F. S. McCandlish, Joseph Murphy and Vernon Lynch. Benjamin F. McGuire, of the Herndon school board, acted as representative of the Herndon school board.

The board authorized the closing of the schools April 11 in order to allow the teachers an opportunity to attend the meeting of the district H School Teachers Association, which is to be held in Falls Church April 11 and 12. The teachers are to report their attendance to this meeting in connection with their monthly reports.

In checking over the proposed school budget for 1930-31 it was discovered that there would only be approximately $18,000 left in the treasury to finance the schools from June 30, 1931, until the taxes were made available the following December, so the board passed a resolution to rescind the action of the board at a previous meeting, asking the board of supervisors for a 90-cent county levy of schools and a five-cent levy for a centrally located vocational high school and to ask the supervisors to lay a straight 95-cent general county school levy which would take care of the running expenses.

Consolidation Project Seen.

The board voted to make the consolidation of the high schools in Dranesville district a special order of business at the April meeting of the board at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. This question has been before the board on several other occasions and is a question of consolidating the Floris Vocational High School and the Forestville High School with the one at Herndon and providing transportation for the pupils from these communities to Herndon.

The school board will meet on Friday, March 14, in a special meeting, to investigate the conditions in regard to the schools in the Mount Vernon district. They will meet in Fairfax at 9 o'clock in the morning and from there they will tour the district, visiting the various schools in the order named: Springfield, Franconia, Cameron Run, Belle Haven, Snowden, Woodlawn, Potters Hill, Fort Humphreys, Lebanon, ending the tour at Groveton. Citizens from Mount Vernon district have appeared before the board from time to time asking for new and better schools, as they claim that the ones in use at present are inadequate.

A letter was read from Harris Hart, State superintendent of education, asking that the quintennial school census be completed this month, so the board recommended the appointment of the following persons as census enumerators: Harry C. Birch, for the town of Falls Church; T. A. Williams, Falls Church district; H. E. Hutchison, for the town of Herndon and Dranesville district; Ray Thompson, Centerville district; J. T. Haislip, Mount Vernon district and Fort Humphreys, and Mrs. Sherman Mutersbaugh, for Providence district.

Providence Levy Reduced.

At the request of Herbert Williams, trustee for Providence district, the board voted to ask the county supervisors to reduce the special school levy in Providence district from 20 cents to 10 cents on the $100 valuation.

A letter was received from O. L. Emerick, superintendent of schools of Loudoun County, in regard to the pupils from that county attending the schools in Fairfax County. He stated in his letter that the Loudoun County school board would pay tuition for the colored children that attended school in Fairfax County, but that they would not pay the tuition for the white children, as the county had adequate school facilities to care for them. The Fairfax board passed a resolution to notify the Loudoun officials that on the completion of the present school term they would exclude the white children from the Fairfax County schools that lived in Loudoun County if they refused to pay tuition to this county.

A request was received from the Oakton School and Community League stating that they had prepared a 4-H Clubroom in the Oakton School and asked that the board pay a portion of the cost. It was the opinion of the board that they were not in the position to undertake any expense for a 4-H Clubroom. The board also stated that in regard to repairs to school buildings it did not believe that it was the duty of the citizens of the community to pay for the work in connection with the upkeep of the school buildings.

Pupils' Transportation Considered.

The board authorized Superintendent of Schools Wilbert T. Woodson to make arrangements for the transporting of the pupils, who have been attending the school at Snowden and traveling on the electric railway, to the Groveton School on the bus line. If the parents of these children do not wish to have them attend the Groveton School the board would be only responsible for the same amount as it would cost to transport these children to Groveton from Mount Vernon.

A new electric water pump and appropriate concrete house for it was ordered installed at the Forestville School.

Notes for the temporary loan in Dranesville district amounting to $2,000 to the National Bank of Herndon and $4,000 to Sidney Wrenn was ordered paid out of the county fund. This will leave a balance of $2,000 that this district owes for temporary loans.

Bills amounting to $10,546.69 were authorized paid by the board and from the Dranesville special fund the literary bond No. 8 for Floris amounting to $1,000 with interest of $320 and out of the Providence special fund literary bond No. 4 for Chesterbrook amounting to $1,000 with interest of $480 was ordered retired.

Midweekly Lenten services at Zion Episcopal Church at Fairfax will be conducted by Dr. Paca Kennedy, professor of New Testament Greek at the Theological Seminary. Services today, Ash Wednesday, will be held this morning at 11 o'clock and during the following weeks at 7:30 o'clock in the evenings. The church of the Holy Comforter at Vienna will hold no midweek services.

The Oakton School and Community League will hold its meeting tonight in the auditorium of the school at Oakton.

The Fortnightly Club at Herndon will hold its March meeting today in the library. Mrs. J. T. Jones and Mrs. Maurice Stroud will have charge of the program, at which the subjects for study will be Uruguay and Paraguay.

The Solidity of the St. James Catholic Church at West Falls Church will meet today at the home of Mrs. Dan Brown. A robe made by the members will be sold for the benefit of the church.

MAN, FATALLY HURT, IDENTIFIED BY RADIO

INQUEST SET FOR TODAY

Radio broadcasts yesterday by the Pennsylvania State police in seeking identification of a man found fatally injured Friday night on the main highway between Alexandria and Washington elicited a response from a Mrs. Ellen Fry, of Harrisburg, Pa., that the man likely was her husband from whom she has been estranged ten years.

A description of the man was sent out at the request of Capt. W. W. Campbell and Detective Sergt. Edgar Sims, of Alexandria police, and J. Herbert Taylor, chief of the Identification Bureau of the Navy Department, who are gathering data for presentation at an inquest, which yesterday was postponed by Coroner T. Marshall Jones until 11 o'clock this morning at the police station in Alexandria. Postponement was announced pending receipt of the reply from Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Fry, according to Pennsylvania authorities, reported that the description of the man tallied with that of her husband. She said identification could be substantiated further by a scar over the man's left eye. Due to injuries received by the man over that eye, no scar was visible, although the trio working on the case said it may have been obliterated.

The unidentified man, about 45 years old, died as the result of severe blows which crushed in a portion of the skull and the chin, and caused the loss of four upper teeth and contusions under the left eye. The coroner and Dr. Samuel B. Moore, chief surgeon of the Alexandria Hospital, after a thorough examination, reported that no marks were found elsewhere on the body, a fact giving rise to a murder theory.

An examination yesterday by police showed discolorations on the right side and the arms, which, they pointed out, may have been received in an automobile accident on the highway. He had been found lying unconscious on the highway about 2½ miles north of Alexandria. A passing motorist took the man to the hospital, where he died about an hour later without regaining consciousness.

Three persons, whose names were found in his clothes, all listed at Berwick, Pa., yesterday were revealed as persons who had lent him money when he passed through that town last week.

Mr. Taylor said records of the Navy and War Departments and the Department of Justice bore no fingerprints of the dead man.

Danville Man Is Buried.

Danville, Va., March 4 (Special).—Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Robert Lee Compton, 30, who died yesterday at his home here. Deceased is survived by his widow and two children.

PARK LAW VALIDITY WILL BE REVIEWED

Condemnation Act Appeal Is to Be Considered by Virginia Court.

PROPERTY FOR U. S. AREA

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., March 4.—The constitutionality of the blanket condemnation law passed by the Virginia General Assembly three years ago to expedite the acquisition of the proposed Shenandoah National Park area will be reviewed by the Virginia State Supreme Court of Appeals, according to notice served today upon Chairman William E. Carson, of Riverton, chairman of the Virginia Conservation Commission.

The validity is carried to the highest State court upon an appeal from the opinion of Judge Phillip Williams, of the Warren County Circuit Court, who held the law constitutional. The appeal was made in a test case of the Virginia Conservation Commission vs. Thomas Jackson Rudachill, a landowner in Warren County, whose property is sought as a part of the park area. Other dissenting landowners, living in Warren and Page Counties, were allowed to intervene in the case before Judge Williams after the first pleadings had been made. The supreme court review of the case was asked by Attorney Hall, of Luray, representing Page County landowners.

Chairman Carson was today notified by the State Supreme Court that the appeal had been allowed by a member of the court and that the case will therefore be reviewed by that body. Mr. Carson will ask that the case be placed on the privileged calendar.

Judge Williams handed down his opinion holding constitutional the blanket condemnation law last October. Defendants were given six months in which to note an appeal. It is expected that it will be late fall before the State Supreme Court passes upon the law. In park circles today, it was stated the appeal means another delay in the park movement. The blanket condemnation law, passed by the extra session of Legislature in 1926, provides for group condemnation rather than individual condemnation of land needed to constitute the proposed national park. There are 4,000 tracts of property in the area and it was held that acting under the old condemnation law of the State any large number of individual condemnations would delay the park movement many years.

Sunday Motion Pictures Ignored by Grand Jury

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 4.—Although Judge Birk S. Strathers, called upon the grand jury yesterday in circuit court at Weston to indict the proprietors of Weston motion picture houses for operating on Sunday because it constituted a violation of the Sunday labor law, the grand jury today refused to return any such indictments.

Besides considering the theater question, the grand jury returned eight felony and one misdemeanor bills.

DINNER IS ENJOYED BY FIREMEN GROUP

BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The Cherrydale Volunteer Fire Department celebrated its fourteenth annual banquet with more than 300 persons attending. Robert E. Janson, president of the department, was toastmaster. The invocation was given by the Rev. Elmer Lucas, pastor of the Cherrydale Baptist Church. The address of welcome was given by the president.

Walter U. Varney, president of the Arlington-Fairfax Volunteer Firemen Association, the principal speaker, lauded the volunteer firemen of Arlington County who in the past two years have gone to the assistance of the District of Columbia when called upon by Chief George Watson.

C. C. Donaldson, former chief and president of the Cherrydale department, reviewing its history since its organiaztion in 1905, when it had a membership of seven men and equipment consisting of seven buckets, stated that today it has a membership of 130 men, two combination pumping engines and one chemical engine and a firemen's home valued at $25,000.

Other speakers were Representative Gordon Browning, of Tennessee; Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, personal representative of Chief George Watson, of the Washington Fire Department; Supervisors E. C. Turnburke and B. M. Fedrick, Former Commonwealth's Attorney Capt. Crandal Mackey, Commissioner of Revenue Harry K. Green and County Treasurer E. Wade Bull.

The banquet was furnished and served by women of the auxiliary, of which Mrs. Frank Shaw is president, and she was assisted by Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Crandal Mackey, Mrs. Samuel Topley, Mrs. Wilbert Donaldson, Mrs. Amos Donaldson, Mrs. R. E. Rowe, Mrs. William Topley, Mrs. A. Croson, Mrs. N. Parker, Mrs. Cleve Topley, Mrs. L. Newlon, Mrs. Richard Lee, Mrs. E. C. Turnburke, Mrs. Robert E. Jamson, Miss Sophie Mann, Mrs. M. E. Brown, Mrs. Leslie Nickerson, Mrs. C. E. Wismer, Mrs. Argle Mackey, Mrs. Luther Strobel, Mrs. Sarah Tacker, Mrs. Annie Davis, Mrs. J. W. Wiseman, Mrs. Anna Thomas and Mrs. Flora Rupert.

Music was furnished by Don Moore's Orchestra.

Features of the entertainment were dances by Ethel Adrain, vocal selections by Marion and Dorothy Moreland and Dolly Mack, and a number of piano selections by Miss Erma Calvert.

Allen J. Saville, of Richmond, zoning engineer, has submitted a comprehensive plan for future planning of Arlington County which goes hand in hand with zoning.

Engineer Saville, in his report, covers playgrounds, schools, and location of county buildings such as fire and police stations, as well as roads, parks and bridge approach.

He stresses the need of widened highways to take care of increased motor vehicle traffic expected with the completion of the new Memorial Bridge.

It is pointed out in the report that the county is sadly in need of a cross-country road or a more direct line of travel between the business center of Clarendon and the City of Alexandria.

The county has in the Glebe road one cross-county road which recently has been taken over by the State and widened from the Lee highway to Columbia pike. Additional rights of way, the report says, should be obtained in order that this road might be widened and continued in the direction of Alexandria to a point where it will meet the Washington and Richmond highway this side of Hume avenue.

It is recommended that the opening of straight-to-the-bridge route be the first major project. The opening of this route in connection with the Lee boulevard from the Memorial Bridge to the northwest corner of Fort Myer will give the county the greatest benefit from the bridge opening. Surveys to establish the lines of Lee highway, Wilson boulevard, Columbia pike and Glebe road in the order named should be made at once to prevent further encroachment on the required width, the report adds.

The county is lacking in any small park areas or squares or circles, such as exist in the District of Columbia. Land owners should be induced, when subdividing, to set aside some such areas for park purposes, the engineer suggests.

Fire stations in the county take care of the built-up sections with the exception of Rosslyn. In Rosslyn the large business and industrial section is practically unprotected and a fire station in that section, the report states, is an immediate need.

In conclusion Engineer Saville states that from the study it appears that there is not at this time any need for creation of subpolice stations in the county. With the present rapid transportation facilities for patrolmen this need can be deferred indefinitely.

A county-wide mass meeting for prayer will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Clarendon Baptist Church. This prayer service, according to the Rev. Perry L. Mitchell, pastor of the Clarendon Baptist Church and chairman in charge of the survey to be conducted in Arlington County, from March 9 to March 21, is strictly for prayer and service. All pastors and workers in the county are urged to attend this prayer service tomorrow night.

Dr. Mitchell will be assisted by six district chairmen as follows:

District No. 1, Rosslyn and Park Lane, the Rev. Ira M. Dinkle; district No. 2, Clarendon, the Rev. George H. Fielding; district No. 3, Cherrydale, the Rev. J. A. Trader; district No. 4, Ballston, the Rev. William H. Hodges; district No. 5, Arlington, the Rev. E. H. Puryear, and district No. 6, Virginia Highlands, the Rev. J. W. Townsend.

THREE DENY GUILT IN TEXTILE KILLING

Men Present When Woman Was Shot Say They Know Nothing of It.

MOB ACTION IS SCOUTED

Charlotte, N. C., March 4 (A.P.).—Three of the five defendants in the Ella May Wiggins second degree murder trial took the witness stand today to testify they knew absolutely nothing about the shooting of the woman last fall on a Gaston County highway.

The three—Fred Morrow, Troy Jones and Lowery Davis—said they were on the scene, but saw no disorder whatever except on the part of members of a group of striking textile workers who were riding in a truck with Mrs. Wiggins. They denied there was any mob present.

The State contended in the presentation of its case that the strikers, members of a reputedly communistic labor organization, were pursued by a motorized mob of armed men. It held the woman was killed in a clash between the strikers and the alleged mob.

Morrow, Jones, Davis, Horace Wheelus and C. H. Lunsford, Gastonia textile workers, are on trial for second degree murder of the woman. All of the defendants, together with their wives, were sworn in as witnesses, and it was presumed Wheelus and Lunsford would testify sometime tomorrow.

Barren Ridge Man, 79, Will Be Buried Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., March 4.—Funeral services for Pryor H. Harris, 79 years old, who died at his home near Barren Ridge Sunday night, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock from the Barren Ridge Church of the Brethren, with the Rev. N. W. Coffman and the Rev. W. Brooke Carter in charge.

Mr. Harris, a native of Albemarle County, had been a resident of Augusta for 55 years. He is survived by four sons, S. T., of Marklesburg, Pa.; George R., of Altoona, Pa.; John P., of Youngstown, Ohio, and Bell M. Harris, at home; one sister, Mrs. Harry F. Wright, of Charlottesville. He was a son of Robert M. and Johannah Woodson Harris. His wife died five years ago.

Volunteer Group Elects Officers

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., March 4.—Succeeding Raynard Arehart, of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, George Bird Talbot, of Hampden-Sidney College, was elected president of the Virginia Student Volunteer Organization before delegates to the three-day annual convention here at Mary Baldwin College brought it to a close.

Other new officers, elected by the 130 delegates attending the conference were Miss Agnes Junkin, of Mayr Baldwin College, vice president; Miss Ruth Worth, of the University of Virginia, secretary; Randolph Shields, of Washington and Lee University, treasurer; Miss Alice Harrison, of State Teachers College, Farmville, editor of the News Letter; and Mr. Talbot was named the national council member from this State.

Oscar Sedam, of New York City, a representative of the national board of the Student Volunteer Movement, brought the conference here to a close, summarizing the events, discussions, &c., during the three-day meeting.

Time and place of next year's conference were not determined.

CONTRACT TO RAZE BUILDINGS APPROVED

AID FOR ROADS IS ASKED

Following the final approval of the award of the contract for the removal of the buildings on the site west of the present courthouse to H. L. England, of Rockville, yesterday by the county commissioners, it was announced that work of clearing the block, which is to be the site of Montgomery County's new courthouse, will begin today.

The first building to be razed will be the Presbyterian Church. Clearing is expected to be hastened in order that actual construction work can be expedited.

The Montgomery County Commissioners will hold a joint meeting with the courthouse construction committee Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock to complete the arrangement of the floor plans for the courthouse, allocation of floor space to the different departments and other details which have not been definitely decided upon heretofore. This is expected to open the way for the immediate procedure with detailed plans by the architect in charge, Delos H. Smith.

The construction committee includes Capt. Chester Wells, chairman; Preston B. Ray, clerk of the Circuit Court; Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, H. F. Taff, George P. Sacks, George E. Hamilton, H. W. Talbott, J. Roger Spates, mayor of Rockville; County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, and Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners.

The county commissioners yesterday instructed Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, to request the Maryland State Roads Commission to apply the 1930 allocation of post and lateral road funds for Montgomery County to the completion of the Olney-Laytonsville road and secondly to the Brookeville-Sunshine-Patuxent River road.

It is expected that the funds available for Montgomery County will total approximately $140,000, although the amount available varies each year. County Commissioner Lacy Shaw estimated that the Olney-Laytonsville project will require about $80,000. The balance would then be used on the Brookville road, which is to provide a connection with Howard County.

County officials of Howard and Montgomery recently conferred on the location of the bridge over the Patuxent, which will connect the county roads in each of the two counties.

The commissioners approved and delivered an agreement to the Potomac Electric Power Co. providing for installation of street lights on the Sixteenth street extension from the District line to the East-West highway and northeast on the Colesville road for a distance of about 200 feet. The commissioners are to purchase poles, standards and equipment for the lights and the power company will erect the poles or standards and install underground cables to supply electricity for 400-candlepower bulbs.

A parking ordinance for the Bethesda area was approved and will become effective April 1. The ordinance prohibits parking within 250 feet of the intersection of Wisconsin avenue, Wtakins avenue, Old Georgetown road and Edgmoor lane, and within 100 feet of the intersection of Leland street and Wisconsin avenue. Violation of the law will result in a fine of not more than $25 or a jail sentence in default of fine.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, of Takoma Park, appeared before the commissioners to ask that they cooperate with the District of Columbia officials in providing a hook-up between the District and county trash and garbage collection system.

$15,000,000 Marine Museum Planned

Richmond, Va., March 4 (A.P.).—The News-Leader said today that plans for the creation at Newport News, Va., of a vast marine museum to entail the expenditure of from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000 and cover an area of approximately 1,000 acres are being worked out by Archer Huntington and Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.

The museum would contain models of every type of vessel from the earliest days of the ancient galley to the modern vessels. It was learned on good authority, the paper continued, that approximately $4,000,000 would be spent in the development of the first phases of the project.

MONTGOMERY TO GO AHEAD WITH PARKS

County Decides Not to Wait for Congress' Passage of Cramton Bill.

THREE TO BE APPOINTED

Montgomery County will not wait for the more or less uncertain aid of the Cramton bill, but will proceed at once with the preliminary steps to secure the properties necessary for the development of the park areas projected for Montgomery County.

This was decided at a meeting of county members of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and county officials last night in the Silver Spring County Building. The officials decided that they will recommend that three men be appointed immediately to start the work of securing the properties needed.

Although the passage of the Cramton bill which will provide funds for park development in Maryland and Virginia adjacent to the National Capital is conceded to be a certainty, county officials feel that to wait for the passage of the bill before beginning action will unnecessarily delay the projects. The work which has been done at the time the bill becomes effective will be credited to the county's share of the cost.

Approval Is Expected.

The recommendation will be presented to the Park and Planning Commission at its regular meeting tomorrow night for approval. Inasmuch as the Prince Georges County members of the commission are not committed to any action in that county, it is considered that the approval will be forthcoming.

Robert G. Hilton, of Rockville, who also is chairman of the Democratic State central committee for Montgomery County, and James H. Cissel, of Silver Spring, county members of the commission, were present at the meeting. The other member, George P. Hoover, is in Florida, but it is understood that he is heartily in accord with the move.

Maj. E. Brooke Lee, county Democratic leader; Lacy Shaw, vice president of the board of county commissioners; J. Bond Smith, general counsel for the planning commission, and Irving C. Root, chief engineer of the commission, who prepared plans for the parks, also were present.

The names of Robert E. Hagner, of Bethesda, and H. Edson Rogers and Charles V. Latimer, of Takoma Park, will be presented for approval as members of the commission which will endeavor to secure the land for the parks. Mr. Hagner will be in charge of the purchase of the lands for the extension of Rocky Creek into the county, an area of approximately 600 acres, and the other two will care for the Sligo Park.

Donations Are Anticipated.

Mr. Hagner is a real estate dealer in Bethesda and has served as a county assessor. Mr. Rogers also has served as an assessor for three terms. He is a member of the town council of Takoma Park. Mr. Latimer also is believed well qualified for the position. The agents are to receive a per diem pay of $10.

The trio will endeavor to secure donations of the land necessary for the projects. The location of the parks will inevitably increase the value of nearby properties, it is pointed out, and it is believed that many of the property owners will be glad to donate their share of the land.

The action of the officials at yesterday's meetings is not final until it is approved by the entire commission, but there appears little uncertainty that this will be given. Another meeting will be held Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock to map out preliminary plans and to round out the proposed resolution for presentation to the commission.

6-Month-Old Boy Dies; Was Attacked by Hog

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 4.—After lingering for nearly a month in a state of semiconsciousness, Richard, 6-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Knight, of Geer, Greene County, died at University Hospital today from wounds inflicted by a hog's teeth.

The child's mother left the baby in a cradle in her small mountain home to go on an errand. During her absence a pig pushed open a door of the house and strayed into the room where the baby was lying alone. The animal attacked the baby's arm, which was dangling beside the cradle.

Dog Saves Life of Master, Then Dies as House Burns

Damascus Man Is Awakened by Faithful Animal as Flames Leap Up Stairs, But Forgets to Take Him Out of Window.

Only a dog—but what a dog! As long as Harry Miles, of Damascus, lives, he will remember Jupe with tender thoughts and tear-filled eyes. For Jupe yesterday made the supreme sacrifice that his master might live.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Miles was awakened by the dog jumping on his bed. He sleepily pushed the dog away and tried to go back to sleep. Jupe wouldn't stand for it, though. Again and again he plunged at his master in his struggles to awaken him. Finally Miles awoke to see that the entire lower floor of the house was on fire and that flames were licking up the stairway.

Leaping from his bed, he climbed out of the window and dropped to the ground. In his haste, Miles forgot to take the dog along, and Jupe met a Viking's death amid the flames.

Volunteer firemen from Mount Airy and Rockville were unable to save the house, which was practically destroyed. The loss is about $5,000—and the life of one dog.

FIRE IN ALEXANDRIA RAZES TWO HOUSES

Authorities Believe Series of Blazes Were Caused by Firebug.

BOAT CLUB WILL MEET

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, destroyed two frame houses on the South side of the 800 block of Queen street, early yesterday morning.

The fire was discovered by Police Sergt. Lawrence Padgett, who was passing in a police car, and a local alarm turned in. When Sergt. Padgett first saw the fire, there was a small blaze in the rear of the houses, which he attributed to a trash fire. By the time fire companies reached the scene, however, the fire had spread to the rear of both houses. Two engine companies went into action, using four streams of water.

Fire Chief James M. Duncan, Jr., was unable yesterday to estimate the loss. There was no insurance.

Two other fires believed to have been of incendiary origin have occurred recently, the first being a blaze which destroyed the old commissary building at the shipyard, with a loss of $40,000, and the other, ten days ago, being in a vacant shed at Duke and Union streets, which was extinguished before gaining headway. The police are exerting every effort to apprehend the persons responsible for the fires, but have made little progress so far. According to Sergt. Padgett, there appeared to be no one in the vicinity of the fire when he discovered it yesterday morning.

The annual election of officers of the Old Dominion Boat Club will be held at the clubhouse at 8 o'clock tonight, and a report, naming committees to arrange for the organization's golden jubilee year will be read. Present plans call for regattas, dances and other entertainments.

Action is expected to be launched at this meeting looking to the completion of the bulkhead work which was started last fall, but which was interrupted on account of adverse weather conditions. The city will be asked to complete filling of its portion of the frontage so that the whole space may be planted in grass and the necessary concrete walks constructed in front of the club's property.

The work of scrapping the Mount Vernon division of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Electric Railway, between Mount Vernon and Alexandria, which ceased operations March 1, is now well under way and progressing rapidly, practically all the track and wire between Mount Vernon and Little Hunting Creek having been removed. A large force of men is at work and the work is expected to be completed before the end of the current month. Only the rails, wires and poles are being removed, the ties being left in the roadbed. The rails and wire have been sold to a Washington junk dealer and the poles have been purchased by H. B. Forbes, of Alexandria, who will saw them into cordwood and sell them.

The Alexandria committee of the Robert E. Lee Memorial, Inc., will hold a final business meeting at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Robert M. Reese, 517 Cameron street, when the campaign to raise funds to aid in the restoration of Stratford, the birthplace of Robert E. Lee, will be formally closed. The exact amount secured locally for the fund will be announced at this meeting.

The Rev. Pierce S. Ellis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon yesterday of the Alexandria Rotary Club, his subject being, "Play the Game." The session was presided over by Dr. S. Nelson Gray, president of the club.

Two committees were appointed by the president, one for attendance, composed of F. C. Goodnow, chairman; Blair McLeod and Everett Swan, and the other being the "On to Richmond" committee, for the session of Rotary Clubs, May 8 and 9, with John T. Worthington as chairman, Judge William S. Snow and John W. Tulloch.

L. G. Harris, local manager of the Kresge store, the newest member of the club, was welcomed by Francis H. Fannon. Club singing was led by Joe Everly, with Mrs. Anna Meeks at the piano.

Prof. David Lumsden, noted horticulturist of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, lectured yesterday evening at the George Mason Hotel under the auspices of the Alexandria Garden Club, his subject being "The Romance of a Rose." Miss Mary
